WOMAN HELD UP, ROBBED OF $1000 IN FRONT OF HER STORE

Mrs. Theresa de Blase, 72, Returning From Bank With Money to Cash Payroll Checks When Two Men Step From Coupe and Tear Bag From Her Hands.

SHOT FIRED AT HER DAUGHTER

Younger Woman, Hearing Mother's Screams, Had Started After Machine—License Tag Covered by Piece of Pasteboard.

Mrs. Theresa de Blase, 72 years old, proprietor of a grocery store at 5577 Manchester avenue, was held up and robbed of $1000 by two men shortly after noon today, on the sidewalk in front of her store.

As the men were escaping in a Ford coupe, one of them fired a shot at Mrs. de Blase's daughter, Mrs. Theresa Smith, who was pursuing them on foot.

Mrs. de Blase had drawn the money from the First National Bank for use in cashing checks of employes of the National Lead Co., her customers. She had been accustomed to do this every Tuesday for a year and a half, and she had never asked for police protection. The money she carried today was not insured.

She carried the money in a black handbag as she got off a street car at a point near the store. She had almost reached the store door, when a Ford coupe stopped at the curb and two men got out. They pointed revolvers at her and one seized the handbag.

Mrs. de Blase held to the bag, and the man pulled her across the sidewalk. Then the handle of the bag broke, and the resolute woman was left holding the strap, while the men fled with the bag and its contents.

Mrs. de Blase's screams, as she struggled to keep the bag, were heard by her daughter, Mrs. Smith, who ran out of the store and started after the machine, which was running west. Before the shot was fired at her, she saw that the license tag, or the place where it should be, was covered by a piece of pasteboard. Such a piece of pasteboard, and a bankbook, taken from the handbag, were found in the street at Manchester and Billon avenues, five blocks from the scene of the robbery.

Mrs. Smith telephoned to her sister, Irene de Blase, who was on duty as telephone operator at the Mounted District Police Station. Mrs. Smith said she would recognize the man who fired at her, and that he was young, weighed not more than 150 pounds, and wore dark clothes.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON DEBT FUNDING IS DELAYED

Statement on Negotiations With Great Britain Held Up at Least One Day.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Harding decided today to postpone until tomorrow, at least, his message to Congress asking for modification of the debt funding law to permit final approval of the funding settlement recently negotiated with Great Britain.

It was said at the White House that no definite time had been fixed for transmission of the President's recommendations, which generally had been expected to go forward today. It was indicated, however, that the message would be sent to the Capitol as soon as further conferences with leaders in the Senate and House had established what form of amendment of the law would be least likely to meet with serious opposition.

Those who conferred with Mr. Harding on the subject during the day predicted that he would be ready to act tomorrow and that he would send a statement to the Capitol by messenger, instead of appearing personally to deliver it at a joint session.

Congressmen to Welcome Troops.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. — The American troops, returning on the transport St. Mihiel, will be welcomed at Savannah, Ga., tomorrow by an official congressional committee comprising Senators Harris and Robinson and Representatives Johnson, Lineberger, Connolly, Bulwinkle and Scott. The committee departed [illegible] today.

HOUSES WORTH $2,000,000,000 ARE ARRANGED FOR IN U. S.

Plans for Other Buildings to Cost $3,000,000,000—Rise in Material Prices Predicted.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 6.—Steps have been taken for the construction of $2,000,000,000 worth of dwellings in the United States, it was disclosed here yesterday at the fifth annual convention of the Common Brick Manufacturers' Association of America. The plans are already in the hands of architects, as are also plans for other buildings which will cost $3,000,000,000.

The figures were furnished by Ralph P. Stoddard, secretary and manager.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The cost of building material will soar still higher this spring, although the general level of prices is higher now than a year ago, M. T. Bannigan, president of the National Builders' Supply Association, declared in an address before the annual convention of the organization, yesterday.

MIDDLEBURY (VT.) SCHOOLS CLOSED FOR WANT OF FUEL

No Coal for Yonkers Jail, so Prisoners Are Freed—Influenza Increasing in New York.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Feb. 6.—The high schools and grade schools of this town were closed today because of the lack of fuel.

YONKERS, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Twelve prisoners were released from the Yonkers city jail yesterday by City Judge Boote, when he learned there was no coal available to keep the jail warm.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Dearth of coal is responsible for an increasing number of influenza and pneumonia cases in this city, Health Commissioner Copeland announces. Forty-seven deaths from the two diseases and 426 new cases were reported yesterday.

MRS. STILLMAN GETS $15,000 ADDITIONAL COUNSEL FEES

Request for More Alimony Denied and She'll Have to Get Along on $90,000 a Year.

By the Associated Press

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser today handed down a decision in which he denied the application of Mrs. Anne U. Stillman for increased alimony, but allowing $15,000 additional counsel fees for defense of the divorce action brought by James A. Stillman. Mrs. Stillman asked for $120,000 a year alimony.

She is now receiving $90,000. She also asked for $20,000 counsel fees.

FORMER GOVERNOR ARRESTED

Bilbo of Mississippi Failed to Appear as Witness at Trial.

By the Associated Press.

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Feb. 6.—Theodore G. Bilbo, former Governor of Mississippi, was arrested here today on a Federal warrant charging contempt of court.

The action grew out of Bilbo's failure to appear as a witness at the trial of the damage suit of Miss Florence Birkhead against Gov. Lee M. Russell at Oxford several months ago.

Goose Plunges City in Darkness.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Ky., Feb. 6.—Searchers yesterday found and removed from a high-tension electric wire a goose which had escaped from a produce yard Sunday night and, alighting on the wire, caused a short circuit that plunged the city in darkness. The goose was well cooked.

SAYS STANDARD OIL DOMINATES MARKET AND FIXES PRICES

Representative of Western Refiners Tells Senate Committee How Competitors Are Beaten Down.

HIGH FREIGHT RATES SAID TO BE FACTOR

Large Measure of Control Exercised by Standard Group Over Pipe Line Transportation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—High freight rates on oil, combined with a large measure of control exercised by the Standard group of oil companies over pipe-line transportation, are steadily beating down the independent refiner, James F. Lawrence of Kansas City, Mo., representing the Western Petroleum Refiners' Associtaion, declared today at the Senate oil inquiry.

"The Standard purchasing agencies dominate the market and fix the prices for crude," Lawrence told the investigating committee. "In turn the different Standard companies fix the price of gasoline all over the United States. Their transportation of crude by pipe lines through the larger centers makes them independent of the railroads and they have refining plants in all of the great consuming areas served by the pipe lines."

Rates Stifled Competition.

Lawrence testified the freight rate increase of 1920 as applied to oil had the effect of making it impossible for refiners in the mid-continent field to compete with the Stanlard companies able to take advantage of pipe line transportation.

Illustrating his point, the witness said the freight rate on fuel oil from Oklahoma field to Cleveland amounted to 152 per cent of the value of the product, on kerosene from Oklahoma to Cleveland 109 per cent of the value, and on crude oil the freight rate was 171 per cent of the commodity's value from Oklahoma to Indianapolis, Columbus, O., and Pittsburg.

"Have these facts been presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission?" asked Chairman La Follette.

"The commission was advised in 1920 before the rate increase went into effect what would be the result, but so far as I know hearing was not had on the matter until last Dec. 27," the witness replied.

The commission, he added, referred to oil rates in its decision of last year reducing freight rates generally and suggested that the existing rates might have the result of curtailing oil shipments from the Western fields to the East.

"It is incredible that such a condition should exist so long," remarked Chairman La Follette. "The commission, it seems, has not done much more than to slap the railroads on the wrist."

"I would say that the commission has only threatened to spank the carriers," the witness rejoined.

Complaints From Refiners.

Complaint that pipe line companies allied with the Standard group had refused to supply their refineries with crude oil was made by three independent refiners, J. H. Miller, president of the Miller Petroleum Co. of Kansas City, Mo.; Stephen Swartz, manager of the Indiana Oil Refining Co. of Columbus, Ind., and Barry V. Stoll, vice president of the Stoll Oil Refining Co. of Louisville. Pipe lines under law are common carriers.

Miller testified that his company had been unable to get oil from the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., a Standard purchasing company, but that since coming to Washington to testify at the inquiry has been advised that the Prairie company would sell to him oil and other independents at the same rate as the Standard companies. Telegraphic correspondence, he added, brought from the Prairie officers the statement they could not immediately supply the oil but would agree to present the proposition to the company's board of directors.

Accused of Giving Rebates.

Charges that the Standard Oil Co. of New York granted rebates to gasoline dealers in portions of New York City where competition is great, were made at the investigation yesterday by H. K. Heiss, an automobile equipment dealer of New York. Heiss said these rebates ranged from 1 cent to 1½ cents a gallon and were arranged through secret agreements.

H. H. Willock, secretary-treasurer of the Waverly Oil Works Co. of Pittsburg, said without specific mention of names that something akin to the rebate system was practiced by Standard companies in the Pittsburg district.

Inquiry by the committee counsel as to the price of crude oil brought from Willock the declaration that

INDIAN ENDS LIFE WHEN GIRL PLAYS WITH LOVE

Cherokee Was in Earnest, but New York 'Indian Moon' Says She Was 'Just Kidding.'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. — Gabriel Hatting, 35 years old, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, known in Oklahoma, where he formerly lived, as Chief White Horse, killed himself yesterday afternoon with a revolver in view of scores of shoppers in a department store.

More than a dozen letters in a feminine hand, signed "Your Indian Moon," were found in an inside pocket of his coat. They were replete with endearing expressions. He was referred to variously as "My Papa," "Dearest Rain in the Face," "Sitting Bull," and "Heap Big Chief Mine." Some of them bore the following return address, according to the police: "Miss Pearl Moore, 1222 Southern boulevard."

Mrs. Norma Pearl Moore Smith, living at that address in the Bronx, is employed as cashier in the candy department of the store. She has been separated from her husband a year and goes by the name of Pearl Moore.

"Only Kidding."

The police said she admitted writing the "Indian Moon" letters, but declared she was "only kidding" Chief White Horse, adding: "I have been trying to break off with him for two weeks, and he has been threatening to commit suicide."

Hatting entered the store at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Thomas Gilchrist, a sailor who lives at the Seamen's Institute, where Hatting lived until four days ago.

Two hundred women and children were in the candy department and the adjoining restaurant when Hatting halted beside Miss Moore's desk. He leaned over to her and said good-by. Then he drew a revolver and twirled it about his thumb. He fired one shot into the floor of the desk before turning the revolver upon himself and sending two bullets into his heart. He was dead when a hospital ambulance arrived.

Body Unclaimed.

The body was unclaimed today in the city morgue. Clippings from New Mexico papers found in his pockets showed that he had served with the Canadian and American forces in France and that he had been gassed and twice wounded.

When Hatting returned from overseas he obtained employment at various occupations here and finally became night watchman in a large department store.

A number of notes to "My Indian Moon" were found in his lodging house. One said: "Man was made to take care of woman. Woman was made to drink bum booze and raise the devil."

There also was found a medal struck off for officers and men of the steamships Baltic, Florida and Republic, after the sinking of the Republic and the rescue of 1500 survivors in 1909. The chief had been employed in the wireless room of the Florida.

THYSSEN, FLYING DUTCH FLAG, RUNS HIS TRADE FLEET DOWN THE RHINE

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 6.

AUGUST THYSSEN'S own fleet of tugs, barges and lighters, flying the Dutch flag of their subsidiary company in Holland, continues to float down the Rhine, carrying manufactured articles to Rotterdam for export to foreign countries, especially South America.

The Thyssen plants are now working on large contracts for rails destined for Argentina, which will keep them busy for several months. They also have extensive orders from England for building materials, steel and iron.

They have large stocks of raw materials and pig iron and can work full time for six months before their present supply is exhausted.

(The Rhine borders the Ruhr basin, now occupied by the French, on the west, and Duisburg and other points where French troops are stationed are on the Rhine or near it.)

TWO PERSONS KILLED WHEN ST. PAUL POLICE CAR SKIDS

Machine Crashes Into Millinery Shop and Knocks Down Studding, Causing Collapse.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 6.—A policeman and a police chauffeur were killed and four other persons were injured, two critically, when a speeding police car skidded on the icy street and crashed into a millinery shop in the residence section last night. The front of the building collapsed when the police car struck it.

Edwin Earl Hackett, 30 years old, patrolman, and William Wilson, 40, negro chauffeur, are dead. Theodore Hassig and William Kostohrys, patrolmen, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Throckmorton were injured. The Throckmortons were precipitated from their bed amid a mass of wreckage when the careening police car smashed the studding from under the front end of the building and brought a shower of bricks and iron beams upon the heads of the patrolmen. Throckmorton and his wife were bruised.

FREE BREAD IN CHICAGO

Chain Stores, in Price War, to Give Loaf With Certain Purchases.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Bread will be free tomorrow at the 88 establishments of one organization as the result of a bread war among chain stores in Chicago.

The announcement was made today by Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., that a loaf of bread would be given free tomorrow with certain purchases. Free bread comes as the climax of the bread war in which the price for a 16-ounce loaf has steadily declined under price cutting of the chain-store companies until bread was sold at 2 cents yesterday.

FRENCH REPORTED IN HESSE; CUNO VISITS THE RUHR

Chancellor's Trip to Invaded Region Tightens the Strike and Industrial Deadlock There.

TRAINS TO BE RUN WITHOUT GERMAN AID

Gen. Weygand and Minister Le Trocquer Will Try to Improve Situation—Living Cost Up 300 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 6. — Chancellor Cuno returned to Berlin today from a two-day tour of the occupied Ruhr area, convinced, he said, that the determination of the population to resist the French coercive measures was just as firm today as when the first of the occupying forces entered Essen on Jan. 11.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A report that the French have advanced 25 miles beyond the frontier, occupying Goddelau, in Hesse, reached London today in an Essen dispatch to the Times. The correspondent adds that the Germans momentarily expect the occupation of Mannheim.

The dispatch says the deepest point of the new advance beyond the frontier is 25 miles, and that it seems extremely probable a big military movement which a week ago was expected to follow the presentation of an ultimatum to Berlin will now be made without that formality.

By the Associated Press.

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 6.—The return to the Ruhr of Gen. Weygand and Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer to co-ordinate transportation without the employment of German labor, finds the railway service demoralized and resistance generally strengthened presumably as a result of a visit to the Ruhr by Chancellor Cuno.

Railway workers and public officials, particularly, appear to have been stimulated to further sacrifices in behalf of the Reich by the Chancellor's call yesterday upon the occupied area.

Resistance by German functionaries and railroad men had appeared to be faltering but now has been greatly stiffened. The situation is hopelessly deadlocked and as far from solution as at any time since the French occupation. Some of the railroad men who had resumed work left their jobs again yesterday and railroad service is so badly crippled as to be practically nonexistent.

Little Coal Being Produced.

The mines continue to produce only small quantities of coal. That which is not needed by the Ruhr industries is being dumped in the fields surrounding the mines.

A demonstration at Dorsten yesterday occasioned by the expulsion of the burgomaster was broken up by the Schutzpolitzei, who handled the mob roughly. Several persons were wounded.

The cost of living is soaring. Today it is 300 per cent higher than a month ago. Milk is scarce and the supply of fats is disappearing. It is announced in German sources that there is a four weeks' supply of flour on hand and a 10-day supply of potatoes.

Cuno Finds Support for His Policy in the Ruhr.

(Copyright, 1923.)

ESSEN, Feb. 6.—Chancellor Cuno, on a flying trip to Essen, Bochum and Dortmund, has just conferred with representatives of most of the Rheinish-Westphalian industrialists, such as Stinnes and Thyssen, various workmen's councils, provincial authorities and State employes and officials.

Hugo Stinnes, who had been reported as negotiating with French magnates, turned up in Essen yesterday with his son, supposedly from Wiesbaden. He refused to reveal his purpose in coming to the Ruhr, but had talks with several industrial managers.

The meetings with Cuno were called to bring about a direct exchange of opinion between the Ruhr people, who bear the burden of occupation, and the responsible Berlin leaders.

Workmen's representatives were especially eager to learn whether negotiations were going on to find a way out of the present dilemma. The Chancellor informed them the only attempts so far had come from Italy, but could not be considered because they were based on the assumption French troops would stay in the Ruhr for five years.

Representatives of all three Ruhr towns expressed unanimous determination to back Cuno's policy, but labor leaders warned him of the dif-

TURKS TO SIGN ALL PEACE TERMS, FRENCH REPORT TO BRITAIN

PEACE ENDEAVORS AT ALLIES' CAPITALS

Ismet Sees Ambassador Child Off to Rome — Other American Representatives Postpone Departure Pending Developments.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—France has notified Great Britain that the Ottoman delegation at Lausanne has agreed to sign all the peace terms.

The Turks' decision to accept all the terms which they had rejected Sunday was communicated to the French Foreign Office and immediately forwarded to Downing street. The French Government urges upon Great Britain that the affair be settled immediately in the interests of all the allies in general and of France and herself in particular. The French Ambassador visited the British Foreign Office this afternoon for the Government's answer.

Reuter's, Ltd., quoting a French source, says it is confirmed in well-informed quarters that the Turks made Marquis Curzon proposals for a separate peace between Turkey and Great Britain. No official details are available.

By the Associated Press.

LAUSANNE, Feb. 6.—It was confirmed from reliable official circles late today that important pourparlers are now hurriedly proceeding between Paris and London in a final effort to arrange a peace treaty settlement. In view of this, Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol probably will not leave Lausanne tonight, as he intended, and Ambassador Grew will not return to Berne, but will remain in Lausanne to watch developments.

Riza Nur Bey of the Turkish delegation said today that Turkey and the Powers had reached an accord on the judicial capitulations, but that there were still important financial matters on which an agreement had not been effected. The Turks announced that they would depart for Angora at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. They said that offers had been made to eliminate from the treaty the economic clauses to which they have objected, leaving such questions to further negotiations.

Riza Nur said Turkey believed the objectionable clauses could be eliminated or revised.

The indications are that the Turks, by further procrastination, seek more concessions from the allies and that the ultimate fate of the Lausanne treaty rests not here but in the hands of the Governments in London, Paris and Rome.

It is understood here that Ismet Pasha may be asked by the allies to delay his departure if the negotiations now going on among the chancelleries in Paris, London and Rome result in an agreement to resume negotiations.

Child Goes to Rome.

Ismet Pasha early today telephoned the American delegation, asking what time Richard Washburn Child was departing. It was thought the Turkish Foreign Minister desired to leave the path for definite action open until the last moment. Ambassador Child and Marquis de Garroni of Italy departed for Rome shortly after noon. Ismet saw them off at the station, but submitted no definite plan for settlement.

The members of the Italian delegation said that with the economic chapters of the treaty reserved for future negotiations there seemed no reason why the Turks could not sign, but, as both the English and French delegations had departed, the Turks were hesitating to take formal action.

The Italians expressed the hope that an amended treaty could be signed at Lausanne or elsewhere later, when, through regular diplomatic channels, a definite understanding should have been reached.

The Japanese delegation will depart tonight under the impression that nothing more can be accomplished at Lausanne at this moment.

The Russian delegation sent an official note to the conference today saying they understood it had been officially suspended and therefore no decision had been taken concerning

PROFITS FROM PANAMA CANAL MAY BUILD ANOTHER WATERWAY

Cabinet Discusses Question of Deciding Between Two Proposed Routes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

HOPE that profits from the Panama Canal ultimately may enable the American Government to build another waterway across the Isthmus of Panama was expressed at the White House today after the subject had been touched on at the Cabinet meeting.

Officials said that nothing definite had been done, but it was disclosed that consideration had been given to the question of deciding between two proposed routes. One of them is the Nicaraguan route, the rights to which already are owned by the United States.

FRENCH OFFER TO PARENTS OF SLAIN GERMAN CHILD REJECTED

Hundred Thousand Marks Gift ($2.10) Regarded as "Unheard-Of Affront."

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—The 100,000 marks offered by the French commander at Duesseldorf to the parents of the little German girl accidentally killed by a bullet from the rifle of a French corporal Sunday has been refused by Dr. Gruetzner, provincial president.

Advices received here say that, speaking in the name of the German Government, Dr. Gruetzner informed the French authorities that the offer was regarded as an "unheard-of affront." (The sum mentioned, at the present rate of exchange, is the equivalent of $2.10.)

Dr. Gruetzner has advised the parents of the girl to proceed against the French authorities in the German courts.

The shooting occurred at the railway station in Duisburg while a group of little girls were watching the detail of soldiers stationed there. It is understood the French corporal whose gun was discharged when he fell will be courtmartialed.

LONE ROBBER TAKES $5000 FROM A NORTH MISSOURI BANK

Holds Up Cashier of North Salem Institution and Escapes With Cash and Bonds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BUCKLIN, Mo., Feb. 6.—A man held up the cashier of the North Salem Bank at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, took $2500 in cash and $2500 in Government bonds and escaped. North Salem is in northeastern Linn County.

The bonds are negotiable.

The robber knocked the cashier down with a revolver and he was unconscious for an hour.

VIENNA FASCISTI SET FIRE TO HALL AND ATTACK AUDIENCE

Anti-Semitic Mob Wounds Many Persons Listening to Prof. Hirschfield of Berlin.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Feb. 6.—Disapproving of a lecture by Prof. Hirschfield, a Berlin pathologist, 200 alleged anti-Semitic Fascisti set fire yesterday to the crowded Konzerthaussaal, in which the lecture was being delivered.

As the panic-stricken audience emerged, the Fascisti are alleged to have made an attack, beating, stabbing and trampling many persons.

MORSE TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Shipbuilder's Case Will Come Up in Washington Feb. 19.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Trial of Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder, his three sons and eight others, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government in connection with war-time shipping contracts, which was to have begun today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, was postponed to Monday, Feb. 19.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Benjamin and Harry Morse, defendants in Washington, with their father, Charles W. Morse, their brother, Ervin, and eight others in a fraud case, were arrested by a Department of Justice agent at the Pennsylvania terminal this morning on an indictment pending here charging use of the mails to defraud in the sale of stock.

WOULD CURB POWER OF SUPREME COURT TO NULLIFY LAWS

PROPOSES RIGHT TO RECALL JUDGES

Senator Borah Introduces Bill to Require Vote by Seven Judges to Declare an Act Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Congress has been likened to a messenger boy standing in the ante-room of the Supreme Court waiting for approval or disapproval of its acts, Representative Frear, Republican, of Wisconsin, said yesterday in a statement accompanying a record of closely divided Supreme Court decisions on constitutional questions, which be placed in the Congressional Record.

Frear proposed a constitutional amendment giving Congress the power to determine how many members of the Supreme Court shall join in decisions declaring laws unconstitutional, to provide for the recall of Judges without impeachment or to review and set aside decisions by a two-thirds vote of both houses.

"The decision of the Supreme Court," said Frear, "declaring the income tax law unconstitutional, by five Judges to four, followed by the emasculating of the income tax sixteenth constitutional amendment holding stock dividends nontaxable by the same vote, call for relief and some method of enacting laws that are not, in the judgment of the Court 'supposed laws.'"

300 Acts Set Aside.

Within 30 days, Frear said, the Department of Labor has called attention to the fact that 300 statutes, bills and ordinances have been set aside by the courts in the present "epidemic of Judge-made law."

Only three decisions were rendered by the Court during the first 70 years of its history, Frear said, which set aside or modified acts of Congress, but at the present time, he asserted, "it is a regular 'constitutional' taken by the Court to declare State and Federal laws unconstitutional."

Assails Selection of Judges.

"The method of selecting Judges," said Frear, "frequently from men who have been defeated for re-election for office by their constituents; of men who are life-time Federal Judges and often of men who never sat on any bench, but have constantly been in an atmosphere of corporation litigation, is no more marked than a failure in recent years to graduate any member of the 48 state courts to a place in our highest court."

At least seven of the nine Supreme Court Justices would be required to concur in decisions declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional if a bill introduced by Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, should be enacted. The only cases excepted would be those in which the Government or members of its diplomatic and consular corps were parties.

U. S. RAIL BOARD POSTPONES ACTION ON WAGES AND RULES

No Decision Until After Oct. 1, 1923—Train, Yard and Engine Men Affected.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Preservation of existing wage rates and working rules for train, yard and engine service employes on all the railways of the country for another year was assured last night by two decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

In the first decision the board postponed further action in the cases of 17 railways and nine subsidiary lines which sought reductions of wages and revision of working rules, until "some date subsequent to Oct. 1, 1923."

A second decision also postponed for the same period action on cases submitted to a large number of the roads by the firemen's organization in which a rule was requested to compel the railways to employ two firemen on the larger engines.

Other cases filed by the employes on a large number of roads asking pay for men while away from home because of the nature of their runs, but not on duty, also were postponed until after next October.

it has been "fixed arbitrarily for generations."

"If this committee can work out any way to put crude oil on an open market of supply and demand it will have solved the gasoline price problem, and it is unsolvable any other way," the witness continued. "The controlling interests in the oil business have three opportunities for making money. They can do it in producing, in transporting oil and in refining and distributing its products."

the Turkish straits. The Russians in their communication asked Great Britain, France and Italy, as the inviting Powers, to notify the Russians of the place and time at which the negotiations would be resumed.

Ismet and Child Confer.

Ambassador Child had a long conference with Ismet Pasha yesterday, but so far as these conversations were concerned, the head of the Turkish delegation adopted no decisive attitude. The American Ambassador informed Ismet that he was ready to submit to the Powers any statement the Turks wished to sign.

Conference Is Only Interrupted, French Official View.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 6.—"It is not a rupture; the conference is interrupted," said M. Bompard, chief French delegate to the Lausanne Near East conference, on his arrival in Paris last night from Lausanne. "I cannot say when the pourparuers will be resumed."

The situation, according to French advices, is as follows: Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, is ready to accept the treaty as formulated by the allies, including the clause safeguarding the juristical rights of foreigners, on condition that the economic part of the compact is left for further discussion. Ismet proposes to resume the negotiations on his return from Angora a month hence.

M. Poincaire, the French Premier, on the other hand, wants the treaty signed and got out of the way immediately, and is using every endeavor to induce Ismet to accept his viewpoint. Active exchanges also are going on with London and Rome.

Meanwhile the secretariat of the conference remains at Lausanne and the conference has not, and will not be declared officially ended. Until that is done there will be no hostilities, for Ismet Pasha repeatedly has stated that he considers the Mudania armistice will continue in force as long as the conference is not terminated.

The reopening of the conference was said in official circles to depend upon the British Government's reply to Premier Poincare's note of yesterday. In this note the French Premier made it known to Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, that the Turks were disposed to accept the allied proposal for a settlement of the capitulations question. It is understood at the Foreign Office that the Turks are quite ready to resume the conference where it broke off Sunday evening and this is the suggestion Premier Poincare has made to London and Rome.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—The Angora Assembly held a secret session last night upon receipt of the news of the Lausanne conference rupture. The result of the deliberations was not made public.

While the situation is conceded by Turkish newspapers to be grave, the hope is generally expressed that a peaceful solution will be reached, but a dispatch to the Tevhid from Angora says: "The last word is left to our bayonets."

FRENCH FORCE REPORTED IN HESSE; CUNO VISITS RUHR

ficulties of the masses in the Ruhr, who face partial starvation because of the mark's depreciation. The Chancellor promised he would induce the employers to keep wages up to the cost of living and the Government would see that sufficient food got to the Ruhr.

French Action Unifying Germany, Says Berlin Paper.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Chancellor Cuno was traversing the occupied Ruhr area when news of the French occupation of Offenburg and Appenweir, in Baden, reached him, and no official action with respect to this French advance is expected before his return to Berlin today.

The official note apprising the German Government of the impending occupation was delivered to the Foreign Office in the Wilhelmstrasse 12 hours after the French cavalry entered the Badenese cities.

While a section of the press discusses the new French movement in phlegmatic tones, several conservative organs have been aroused to a fit of fury. The Kreuz Zeitung demands imemdiate breaking off of relations with the French and expulsion of all French and Belgian members of the Allied Control Mission as well as the civilian nationals of both countries now in Germany.

That the French aggressions are rapidly accomplishing complete national unification in Germany is contended by the Lokal Anzieger, which says that neither Bismarck nor Von Hindenburg succeeded in achieving what the French now are bringing the Germans to achieve.

French Socialists Urge League to Settle Reparation Question.

LILLE, France, Feb. 6.—The congress of the French Socialist party, in which British, German, Belgian and Italian Socialist leaders also are participating here, has addressed an open letter to the League of Nations declaring it the league's duty to action, and urging the Government and people of the United States to support the Socialists' effort in this direction.

French Take Charge of All Communications in Baden Towns.

(Copyright, 1923.)

BERLIN, Feb. 6. — The French have consolidated their hold on the Kehl bridgehead, and the newly-occupied Baden towns, Offenburg and Appenweier, are practically under a state of siege. Troop movements west from Mannheim indicate the French intention to cut the main line from Germany to Switzerland and Italy at that city, which would give them complete control of communications in Western Germany. They would not even have to occupy Frankfurt to maintain their hold on both sides of the Rhine.

The occupying troops are more strict in Offenburg and Appenweier than they are in the Ruhr. Gen. Michel, the French commander of the new movement, announced at Offenburg that the action was an "extension of Kehl bridgehead."

The inhabitants declare they will not work for the French and will block all traffic except the Holland-Swiss express, but these tactics will be more difficult in Baden than in the Ruhr, as the small towns along the railroad can easily be put under military rule.

The French have stopped all telephone and telegraph messages, even governmental messages, except those bearing a French stamp. They have dismantled the wireless station. Use of carrier pigeons is not allowed. Consequently there can be no communication with unoccupied Germany except by French consent. The military has instituted a 9 o'clock curfew and demanded that the German population surrender all arms to the occupying authorities.

Five hundred officers, 1700 infantrymen and 1000 cavalrymen are in Offenburg, which has become the headquarters of the Kehl bridgehead. From Offenburg the French control the Black Forest.

PRINCESS YOLANDA TO WED ITALIAN COUNT

Daughter of Victor Emmanuel to Follow Dictates of Heart and Marry Outside of Royalty.

By BEATRICE BASKERVILLE.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright 1923, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

ROME, Feb. 6.—If Princess Mary could follow the dictates of her heart in marrying Viscount Lascelles, why shouldn't Princess Yolanda, oldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, follow suit, marrying the man of her choice, despite the fact he is not of royal family?

This is the argument the Princess has been using in recent months, and when her parents continued to hesitate, strengthened it by pointing to the engagement of the Duke of York. The King was won over.

Thus it came about that the pretty Yolanda's engagement to Count Calvi di Bergolo was announced formally last evening at a dance at the royal palace. The event marked the happy outcome of a romance of two years. When it was reported she might marry the Belgian Crown Prince, she said she would marry only Bergolo.

Belongs to Piedmont Family.

Count di Bergolo belongs to an ancient Piedmont family, which supported the cause of Savoy against all odds when Italy was cut up into small states and fought against Austrian occupation. He has never been interested in politics, but leads the life of a cavalry officer and country gentleman. He served as a cavalry captain in the war and was wounded.

A common interest in horses first drew the couple together. Count di Bergolo, member of the popular regiment, "Piedmontese Reale," races his horses at Rome and in gentlemen's events. Princess Yolanda is an enthusiastic horsewoman and never misses the Rome meeting.

Last summer, when famous Italian army riders competed in the international horse show at the Olympia, London, Princess Yolanda was a spectator and Count di Bergolo took part, winning several prizes.

Although it is too early for public opinion to be reflected, the marriage is certain to be popular. The Queen Mother, who always has a soft heart for lovers, was entirely with Count di Bergolo in his wooing.

Owns Several Fine Castles.

Count di Bergolo owns several fine castles and many acres of land. He is 30 and Princess Yolanda will be 23 next June. Count di Bergolo's sister, Countess Matila, married Prince Aage of Denmark eight years ago.

The Princess' engagement is enthusiastically commented upon. The entire press, nationalist and Fascisti, is proud she has "chosen an Italian soldier, wounded and decorated in the war, rather than a foreign crown." To Catholics it is "a bond of love which will have the approval and good wishes of all Italians."

Premier Mussolini was the first to motor to the royal home on the outskirts of the city to offer congratulations in the name of the Government.

BILL WOULD PROHIBIT RETURN OF PROPERTY TO BERGDOLL

House Committee Formally Approves Measure for Return of Some Other Property Seized.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Return of the property of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, seized by the Government after his escape to Germany, would be prohibited under a provision of an alien property return bill approved today by the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

The committee voted formal approval of an administration measure proposing return of small amounts of alien property seized during the war.

HOW TO BEAT THE FLU AT 100

"Get Away From Yourself, Go Visiting," Says Illinois Centenarian.

By the Associated Press.

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 6.—An Aurora centenarian, Henry Challand, ascribed his recovery from an attack of influenza, which he had been told would be fatal, to "visiting." Challand, a retired farmer, who celebrated his 100th birthday Saturday, boasts that he has a better formula for health than "This man Coue's, although that is good."

"The told me it was my last sickness," he said, "but I didn't feel that way about it. In no time I was all right because I got away from myself. That's the best remedy for sickness I know of—getting away from yourself. It's better than this man Coue's. Worry is a fertile soil for bad health crops."

THYSSEN PLANTS ARE WORKING FULL TIME

Factories Built Around Own Mines and 66,000 Men Work on Three 8-Hour Shifts.

By the Associated Press.

HAMBORN, Germany, Feb. 6.—Sixty-six thousand workmen employed in the various Thyssen plants at Hamborn, Muelheim, Duisburg and Dinslaken are working full time—three eight-hour shifts a day—and have not been affected either by the railroad strike or lack of fuel.

Locomotives are busy shunting cars in the immense railroad yards of the plants. They are built around seven pitheads and are thus provided each day with sufficient coal to supply the entire works with motive power.

"The French occupation has not interfered with us," is the opinion expressed at the Thyssen plants. "As a matter of fact, it has helped us. We are having a lot of trouble with the communist element among our workers, but the French occupation and the arrest of Fritz Thyssen lined them up solidly behind us."

Railroad Men Faithful.

Many industries in the Ruhr are in a similar situation, mining their own coal within a few hundred yards of the works. The railroad men have remained faithful to their jobs and the plants are well stocked with raw material.

"The French may be able to occupy the Ruhr, militarily, but they will never get anything worth while out of it," said one of the Thyssen directors.

"Our workmen are satisfied. We raised their salaries 90 per cent on Feb. 1, and they now draw 1250 marks an hour, or 10,000 marks for an eight-hour day.

"We are doing everything we can to provide food as cheaply as possible. There are now 80 carloads of foodstuffs from the interior of Germany at the Oberhausen yards. The shipment has been delayed on account of the strike, but we are bringing it here in lorries to distribute among the workmen at cost.

"Our workers have received pledges of food from Holland and America which will be forthcoming should a famine occur."

Raw Material Plentiful.

The management of the Thyssen interests asserts that the French statement to the effect that the huge profits made during the war were deposited in foreign countries is erroneous. All available funds, it is said, were used to buy raw material, with a view to the emergency of the probable occupation.

As the correspondent motored through Duisburg, Ruhrort, Hamborn, Oberhausen and Muelheim, he noted that most of the steel plants and mines were working, but that the railroad yards were all idle except for a few trains manned by the French. Navigation is at a complete standstill.

THRESHERMEN WANT RIGHTS TO USE ROADS CONSIDERED

Movement on to Deny Them Use of New Highways, President of Brotherhood Says.

Threshermen of Missouri want consideration in the use of hard roads in any legislation that may be enacted, said Wiley Q. Marshall of Moberly, Mo., president of the Missouri Brotherhood of Threshermen, at the fourth annual convention of the brotherhood which opened today at the Hotel Marquette for a three days' meeting. The brotherhood will enter vigorous protest against any legislation that may result harmful to the farming industry, he added.

Wiley said there were about 11,500 threshermen in Missouri and that the industry represented an investment of $58,000,000, and while their machinery was taxed at 20 per cent of its value, Wiley said, there was a movement on to deny threshermen the use of the proposed hard roads with their heavy machinery, which he said was not as destructive to roads as are heavy automobile trucks.

Another matter to be discussed is a proposal to establish a mutual fire insurance company for threshermen to lower the rates, which Wiley said are now excessive.

JOHN K. MAXWELL DIVORCED

Wife Granted $20,000 Alimony and Custody of Two Children.

Mrs. Flory E. Maxwell of 6965 Delmar boulevard, University City, was granted a divorce at Clayton today from John K. Maxwell, with custody of two minor children and $20,000 gross alimony.

Maxwell did not contest. He is a son of Joseph Maxwell, a stock dealer, who built the Maxwellton race track on the St. Charles road.

They were married Feb. 8, 1892, and separated last September. In her petition for divorce she alleged that he had not worked since January of 1921, frequently stayed out at night and associated with others.

DIES TRYING TO SAVE BABY

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Feb. 6.—Charlie Coe, oil field worker, after rescuing one child from the burning home of Soss Cullum at Burkburnett today, returned to the blazing house to take out another child and was burned to death with a 3-year-old Cullum baby.

The roof fell in as Coe entered the building the second time.

MOTIONS TO QUASH CONTEST RETURNS

Conspiracy to Deprive Jones and Tiffin of County Offices Alleged.

Identical motions were filed in the Circuit Court at Clayton today in behalf of Prosecuting Attorney Jones and County Clerk Tiffin of St. Louis County, seeking to have quashed the returns of former County Clerk Seibel on the contests of the election of the two officials. The Court has not acted on the motions.

The charge is made in the motions that Seibel, former Prosecuting Attorney Fred Mueller and former Deputy County Clerk Walter Miller conspired and confederated to deprive Jones and Tiffin of their respective offices, by unlawful methods.

Jones and Tiffin, Democrats, were elected by the Clean Election League activity last November, defeating Fred Mueller and Walter Miller, respectively. Seibel, Mueller and Miller have been known as machine Republicans. The recount, under Seibel's direction, showed majorities for Mueller and Miller.

Charges Made in Motions.

The motions charge that the returns of the recount and certificates were not prepared by Seibel or his deputies in their official capacities, but were prepared after the proper time and written in part or in whole at a place apart from the County Clerk's office, by persons unknown to the contestees, except for William J. Gavigan, "agent and pretended attorney" for Mueller. It is alleged that Gavigan is not an attorney, but was permitted to participate in the recount by Seibel over Jones' objection.

It is further charged that a complete record of the recount was not made and that a "partial and incomplete record" was the only one made by Seibel. It is alleged that from time to time after the record was prepared and the ballots sealed, Seibel and his deputies and Gavigan "wrongfully made or caused to be made, changes in the record and interlineations, without regard to the facts as shown by or on the ballots."

Changing of Ballots Alleged.

It is alleged that Walter Miller, as Seibel's deputy, had full access, day and night, to the vault where the ballots were kept, although he was a contestant. It is charged that ballots were changed after the election "by outsiders and other persons," and that a large number of ballots cast for Jones were changed to show votes for Mueller.

Hearing of the contest had been set for next Thursday. State Senator Frank H. Farris of Rolla entered his appearance today as attorney for Jones and Tiffin. This is expected to delay the cases, as it is customary to continue cases for lawyers who are members of the Legislature until 10 days after that body adjourns. Meanwhile Jones and Tiffin are holding office, having been sworn in Jan. 1.

MONTGOMERY SAYS HE WILL MAKE "CLEAN BREAST OF IT",

Will Put Six Widely Known Men in Prison, Declares Alleged "Blind Pool" Operator.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 6.—"I'll make a clean breast of my connection with this affair," Austin H. Montgomery Jr. said yesterday, according to detectives, after his arrest to answer to a New York indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud in the "blind pool" operations of the Community Finance Co.

A six months' search for Montgomery ended yesterday at Ventura. After his arraignment before a United States Commissioner, Montgomery asked to be sent back to New York immediately. An order was issued in United States District Judge Trippet's court for his return, and bonds fixed at $100,000.

With his wife and three children, Montgomery had been living here for a month. Officers watched the premises night and day, but Sunday the fugitive eluded them and started north in an automobile. Mrs. Montgomery accompanied him. Immediately after their arrival at Ventura the arrest was made. Montgomery stated that he had made a trip abroad and had been for a time in Mexico City.

"The men who are back of the deal are merely trying to make me the victim," Montgomery was quoted as saying. "When I get to New York I will make a statement to the Government officials that will put six men in the penitentiary, and some of them are known to every broker in Wall street."

LUDENDORFF REPORTED TO HAVE HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM LYNCHING

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Feb. 6.

GEN. LUDENDORFF is reported to have narrowly escaped lynching when his train was stormed by Socialists at Bruck, Kapenburg, at Wener Neustadt, while on his way to Vienna from Klangenfurt, Carinthia, where his arrival Saturday caused severe fighting between Socialist workmen and Pan-German irregulars.

The police removed Ludendorff from his train at Hetzendorf just outside Vienna and requested his immediate departure for Germany.

THREE M.-K.-T. STRIKERS HELD TO HAVE BEEN IN CONTEMPT

12 Others Adjudged Not Guilty by Special Master in Civil Proceedings by Railroad.

A report was made today to the United States District Court by Marion C. Early, special master in the civil contempt proceedings instituted by the receiver of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad against 15 striking machinists. The matter has been before Early since Sept. 7. Hearings were held here and in Hannibal, Mo. From the evidence adduced, he holds that three men have committed contempt and that the 12 others are not shown to have been in contempt.

The civil contempt proceeding differs from the criminal contempt proceeding previously brought against striking employes of other roads, in which a jury was required. In civil proceedings, a special master may be appointed.

Those adjudged by Early to have been in contempt are Ira Hardy, W. B. Pollard and J. B. Shaw, all of Hannibal. Those whom he acquits of contempt also live in Hannibal, and are H. C. Kinder, J. P. Haley, John Riordan, Roy Johns, J. E. Jurgens, Thomas Ward, E. H. Cattle, E. E. Hamilton, H. L. Ernst, P. M. Snyder, J. W. Beard and C. H. Simms.

There was testimony that Hardy said to D. G. Phillips, Superintendent of Safety, that if Phillips undertook to help in dispatching trains, "we are going to get you," and that traffic would be tied up. A witness testified that Pollard and Shaw, pointing to a tree on a high bluff, said to him: "Those limbs are high. You will be protected until the next train leaves—after that, we can't say." He departed on the next train.

8 PERSONS STILL MISSING AFTER FIRE AT WICHITA, KAN.

Three Bodies Recovered From Debris of Building Burned Yesterday, Seven Injured in Hospitals.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 6.—Eight bodies still are believed to be buried under tons of debris in the basement of the Getto Building, swept by fire early yesterday morning, police and fire headquarters announced today after a careful recheck of all available lists of occupants.

Three burned bodies were removed from the wreckage yesterday, making the probable number of deaths in the fire 11. Seven seriously injured persons are in hospitals.

Fire, starting in the engine room last night, ruined the west wing of the six-story Eaton Hotel. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Carrie Nation first wielded her hatchet at this hotel.

BIG FOUR TRAIN FROM ST. LOUIS WRECKED

Strikes Open Switch Near Terre Haute—Five Men Injured, One Fatally.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Ill., Feb. 6.—Big Four passenger train No. 46, an all-steel St. Louis-to-New York train, was wrecked at 3 o'clock this morning when it struck an open switch at St. Mary's, Ind., six miles west of Terre Haute, and five persons wer injured, one fatally. The train was 50 minutes late reaching Paris, and was traveling 55 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

The lock is said to have been hammered off the switch, and the engine, baggage and mail cars were hurled into the ditch. The tender was broken from the engine, which turned across the track, and Fireman E. B. McDonald and the engineer, Tom Benham, were thrown from the right of way.

The baggageman felt his car leaving the track and sprang upward and seized an iron bar in the ceiling, while baggage was hurled under him. He was unhurt. A mail clerk was taken from his car unhurt except for a few bruises.

The fireman and engineer were taken to a hospital in Terre Haute, where McDonald died this afternoon from scalds. He and the engineer resided in Indianapolis. The engineer suffered from scalds and A. L. Spidell, conductor, was hurt about the head. Two mail clerks were bruised severely.

Passengers in the berths of the Pullman were not aware there had been a wreck until informed. Other passengers were thrown about and bruised slightly. Among those reporting slight injuries weer H. A. Wall and J. W. Moore of St. Louis.

The track was opened for traffic this afternoon. The mail and baggage cars were lying clear of the tracks and were not wrecked. Investigation showed, railroad men said, that a deliberate attempt to wreck the train had been made. The switch was turned and the lock crushed and bent by blows from some heavy instrument. They declared heavy loss of life was prevented by the steel equipment.

The train left St. Louis at 1 o'clock last night.

MAN, 70, FATALLY HURT BY AUTO THAT FAILED TO STOP

Fragments of Headlight Glass Only Clew That Police Have in Search for Driver of Machine.

VICTIM WAS FORMER STEAMBOAT CAPTAIN

Louis L. Hine Crossing Easton Avenue at Bayard When Struck—Driver in Another Accident Sought.

Fragments of a corrugated white automobile headlight lens form the only clew assisting police in search for an automobile driver who last night feloniously fled from the scene of an accident which resulted in a fatality.

Police also are searching for another driver who feloniously fled from the scene of an accident in which a man was seriously injured. Leaving the scene of an automobile accident is punishable by sentence to the penitentiary.

Louis L. Hine, 70 years old, of 1346 Bayard avenue, a retired Mississippi River steamboat captain, was the victim of the fatal accident. He was on his way to visit a friend at 6:40 p. m., when knocked down by a large touring car while crossing Easton avenue at Bayard avenue. The touring car, traveling westward, did not slow up, and disappeared before the license number was obtained.

Injuries That Caused Death.

Hine suffered fracture of the skull, right arm, and right leg and internal injuries. He died at the city hospital at 9:35 p. m. without regaining consciousness.

Robert Hynek of 3005 Iowa avenue, chauffeur of a mail truck, saw the accident, and pursued the touring car several blocks, but was outdistanced. He said the car appeared to be a Cadillac. The driver wore a fedora hat and a tan gabardine coat and had full face, he said. Bits of broken glass, found at the scene, led police to believe one of the headlight lenses was broken when Hine was struck.

Police today are searching garages and parking places for an automobile with a broken headlight lens. One was found in the West End last night, but the owner satisfied officers that the glass had been broken a week ago. Police say the lens, of which they have fragments, is commonly used on the Cadillac and one other make of automobile in St. Louis.

Man Found With Broken Knee Says He Was Struck by Auto.

Thomas R. McHugh, 29, of 2904 Sheridan avenue, a painter, was found on the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Jefferson avenue and Locust street at 6:10 p. m. suffering from fracture of the right knee, cuts and bruises on the body and alcoholism, according to the police report.

He said he was walking across Locust street when struck by an automobile going eastward. The driver of the automobile did not stop and the police were unable to obtain a description of it. Charles G. Weinbrenner of 1047 Railway Exchange Building, former Chief Deputy Sheriff, took charge of a man who, Weinbrenner said, had been pointed out to him as the driver of the car which struck McHugh. The man was released after being questioned by policemen.

Other Auto Casualties.

Others injured in automobile accidents yesterday were: Frank Mueller Jr., 23, of 3328 Michigan avenue, a student, scalp wounds and cuts and bruises; knocked down at Cherokee street and Michigan avenue; George Pronopovich, 43, of Divan, Ill., a coal miner, cuts and bruises, knocked down at Thirteenth and O'Fallon streets; Richard Finn, 25, of 4367A Gibson avenue, a chauffeur, fracture of the right arm and ribs on the right side, thrown from a laundry truck in collision with an automobile driven by a 17-year-old girl, at Hamilton and Cates avenues; Mrs. Robert J. Schroeder of 3618A Alberta avenue and Miss Eleanore Hussey, 27, of 3729 Wyoming street, each suffered cuts and bruises, thrown from an automobile in collision with another at Potomac street and Grand boulevard.

FLOGGING INQUIRY REOPENED

Texas Judge Refers to Lodges in His Charge to Jury.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 6.—Judge C. W. Robinson, in his charge to the grand jury yesterday, said, "When mob members who whipped Mrs. R. A. Harrison and R. A. Armand of Goose Creek on Jan. 5 have been indicted or when further investigation has been barred by the statute of limitations, then and then only will this county stop the inquiry into the outrage."

The Judge included the Odd Fellows, Masons and Ku Klux Klan in his mention of organizations which should be investigated for proof of maintaining whipping mobs for corrective purposes. In referring to the Masons and the Odd Fellows, the Judge declared that while he did not believe either was in any way responsible for the Goose Creek crime, he stated that it was his belief that the grand jury could find at least one member in each body who could throw light on the floggings.

PLANS STAGE CAREER FOLLOWING DIVORCE

—Kajiwara Photo.

MRS. ISABEL CABANNE TUPPER.

DIVORCE OBTAINED BY MRS. ISABEL TUPPER

Former Miss Cabanne Plans to Enter Musical Comedy Production Next Summer.

Mrs. Isabel Cabanne Tupper of 4515 Pershing avenue, who quietly obtained a divorce from Capt. Sevier Rains Tupper of Jefferson Barracks at Clayton last Friday, is planning to go on the stage next summer. She said today she had had a "very attractive offer" to enter a musical comedy production, which she planned to accept in July. It is understood that she is to be associated with Fred Stone, a comedian of the old school. She is a brunette, of small figure.

Grounds for the divorce, which was granted by Circuit Judge Wurdeman, were alleged intolerable indignities, neglect and mental cruelty. Capt. Tupper did not appear to court, nor was he represented by counsel. The petition alleged that Capt. Tupper belittled and insulted his wife in the presence of guests; that he sent her and their two small daughters, Isabel Dutil, 4 years old, and Winifred Jane, 3, home from his station at Honolulu, in October, 1921, and did not arrive himself until last July; that after he did arrive he said to her several times, "You can get out whenever you want;" that he frequently remained away from home all night, and that their separation, Jan. 27, followed a scene at her home, when he spoke sarcastically to her in the presence of guests and declared he no longer cared for her.

Mrs. Tupper testified in support of these allegations and her sister and several friends were witnesses. Mrs. Tupper was granted custody of the children and $100 a month alimony.

As Miss Isabel Downing Cabanne, Mrs. Tupper was a belle of the season following her debut here in 1916. Her father, a member of one of the old French families of St. Louis, was Lucian Dutil Cabanne. He died several years ago and Mrs. Cabanne later married Frank R. Tate. Mrs. Tupper is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Tate.

Tupper, then a Lieutenant, and Miss Cabanne were married in November, 1917.

CHAUFFEUR WHO FLED AFTER ACCIDENT IS FINED $100

Manuel Sigall, Who Drove Truck Which Struck 7-Year-Old Girl, Pleads Guilty.

Manuel Sigall, 19 years old, a chauffeur, 1418 Franklin avenue, pleaded guilty of feloniously leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $100 and costs by Circuit Judge Grimm today. He asked a 60-day stay of execution to raise the money.

An automobile truck driven by Sigall and owned by the H. Liebson Packing Co., 3853 Garfield avenue, struck Dorothy Barry, 7, of 1442A Cleary street, on Aug. 28 last, on Cass avenue, between Twenty-second and Cleary streets. She suffered internal injuries.

WASHINGTON U. TEACHER TO WED

License Issued to Dr. Le Roy McMaster and Miss Ernestine L. Schafer.

A marriage license was issued today to Dr. Le Roy McMaster, head of the department of chemistry at Washington University, and Miss Ernestine L. Schafer of 3441 Halliday avenue. It was said at the Schafer home that the marriage would take place there tomorrow morning.

Miss Schafer is the daughter of Frederick Schafer, a retired real estate dealer, and was educated at Ursuline Convent in Arcadia, Mo. Prof. McMaster's first wife, Mrs. Annie E. McMaster, died from accidental asphyxiation Dec. 6, 1921, at the McMaster home, which then was at 946 Belt avenue. Recently Prof. McMaster has been residing at the Gatesworth Hotel.

Lincoln Pays U. S. $1,550,000.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 16.—The United States Government's claim of approximately $9,000,000 against the Lincoln Motor Co. was settled in full yesterday for $1,550,000 when the Detroit Trust Co., receiver for the concern, drew a check for this amount.

COST OF STRIKE TO MISSOURI PACIFIC PUT AT $2,000,000

Official Says Road Also Was Forced to Expend $3,000,000 for New Locomotives.

FIGURES GIVEN AT FEDERAL HEARING

Depositions Being Taken Here for Injunction Proceedings in Case Against Striking Shopmen.

The shopmen's strike of last summer cost the Missouri Pacific $2,000,000 in direct expense, an official of the road testified today in a hearing here, and made it necessary for the road to buy 15 new locomotives, costing $3,000,000.

The hearing, which is to continue three days, is being held in the Federal Building by Orville J. Taylor of Chicago, a special assistant to Attorney-General Daugherty. The depositions are to be used by the Attorney-General May 2 before United States Judge Wilkerson at Chicago in seeking a permanent injunction against the strikers when the final decree is handed down on the sweeping temporary restraining order issued by Judge Wilkerson last September.

Testimony of Wills.

Depositions of officials and employes of nine railroads are to be taken here. For the Missouri Pacific, E. C. Wills, assistant general manager, testified today that, from the beginning of the strike to Dec. 31, the road was put to a total expense which he estimated at $2,000,000, including $501,000 for special guards, $165,000 for employment of men, $125,000 for temporary buildings and $800,000 for care and maintenance of these employes. He also said the purchase of the 15 new locomotives was made necessary and that 150 locomotives had to be sent to outside repair shops for repairs.

At the beginning of the strike, he said, the road had 1131 locomotives, of which 936 were serviceable. After the purchase of the 15 new locomotives, he said, the road had, on Dec. 31, only 842 serviceable locomotives.

Tells of Freight Embargos.

He told of freight embargoes which were made necessary, and said it was found necessary to give perishable freight priority over other freight. The expense of maintaining its new employes, he said, was greatly increased by the refusal of local merchants to sell provisions for the new employes' use. He said the strike affected 92 shop and terminal points.

George W. Briece, superintendent of transportation of the Missouri Pacific, testified to traffic delays, 25 per cent more than before the strike, and to reduction of tonnage and increase of the number of bad-order freight cars from 7 to 10 per cent, and of locomotives on the shop list from 11 to 29 per cent. The peak of interference, he said, was about the end of August.

Wabash Official Testifies.

W. H. Ackhard of Moberly, division superintendent of the Wabash, testified that local sympathy at Moberly with the strikers was such that mail trains were interfered with, and he told of a bomb being set off in the shop yards. Some of the employes who took strikers' places testified to the bomb incident, and the attorney for the strikers brought out that the strikers had charged the railroad management with setting off the bomb itself.

The first shipper testifying was F. B. Eiseman, vice president of the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co. He told of delays and interferences with business and said the worst delays were in the latter part of the strike period. In reply to a question of the strikers' counsel, he said that the company's business for the year was a 10 per cent increase over 1921, and that the heavier part of the business was in the latter half of the year.

Hose Cutting Mentioned.

Cutting of air hose, used in brake connections, was mentioned in the testimony of three witnesses. George Hutchinson, special agent for the Wabash at Council Bluffs, Ia., said he saw one man, a striker, cut 39 hose, and that he had seen 300 hose that were cut. He arrested the man. Robert Morris, chief clerk of the Missouri Pacific Chouteau avenue shops here, told of a bomb explosion there Dec. 1. A. A. Miller, superintendent of a Southern division of the Missouri Pacific, told of depredations at Hoxie and Poplar Bluff.

Former Federal Judge Jacob M. Dickinson of Chicago, Secretary of War under President Taft, will arrive tomorrow to assist Taylor, while Frank L. Mulholland of Toledo will appear as counsel for the unions.

The railroads affected are the Missouri Pacific, the M.-K.-T., the Frisco, the Cotton Belt, the Burlington, the Chicago & Alton, the Rock Island and the Terminal Railroad Association.

No Modification of German Policy; Resistance Growing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Through its embassy here today the German Government denied formally that its policy of resistance to the French occupation of the Ruhr had been modified and declared that on the contrary "unanimous resistance on the part of Germany is steadily growing."

MORE THAN 12,000 PERSONS VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENTS IN UNITED STATES IN 1922

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.

MORE than 12,000 persons were victims of automobile accidents in the United States in 1922, according to statistics of the National Safety Council, made public today.

New York had 785 auto fatalities, which did not include the month of December, and Chicago had 736. Los Angeles ranked third with 321.

Other cities ranked as follows: Pittsburg, 188; Detroit, 146; St. Louis, 131; San Francisco, 129; Cleveland, 124; Baltimore, 122, and Boston, 105. In 78 other cities with more than 50,000 population, 1347 children lost their lives.

Springfield, O., and Holyoke, Mass., had the best records, each with two fatalities. Other cities had the following automobile death records: Dallas, Tex., 25; Kansas City, Mo., 58, and Wichita, Kan., 14.

TEXAS COLD WAVE KILLS CATTLE, BUT NIPS BOLL WEEVIL

Snowfall in Bell County Is Heaviest in 30 Years—Temple Street Cars Stopped.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 6.—The cold weather that swept the entire State for three days had lost considerable intensity today, although thermometers were still more or less near the freezing point.

In Jefferson County, near the gulf, between 10,000 and 14,000 head of cattle are estimated by a number of ranchers to have died from the cold. Here the most extended damage was caused by the spell, according to reports.

Reports from Amarillo and the Panhandle are to the effect that the snow and sleet are melting and the mercury gradually rising. Cotton growers agree that the boll weevil was caught unawares and well frostbitten.

The heaviest snowfall was reported in Bell County, where nine inches fell, the deepest fall in 30 years. All street car and interurban services were at a standstill in Temple and between Belton and Temple.

Vegetable growers today reported heavy losses in all parts of the lower Rio Grande Valley from last night's freeze, but the citrus fruit escaped with slight damage. Minimum temperatures ranged from 25 degrees above zero at Donna to 32 at Brownsville. The citrus orchards, many of which were in full bloom, were saved by the use of orchard heaters and burning brush, growers said.

Mantle of Snow Over Southeast and Atlantic Seaboard.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—The cold wave is continuing over practically the entire South today and the Weather Bureau has forecast lower temperatures for tonight in Florida, Alabama and Tennessee, and slowly rising mercury for the Middle Atlantic States tonight and Wednesday.

The heaviest snows in years fell in Eastern Tennessee and Northern Mississippi. Birmingham and Northern Alabama still are feeling the effects of sleet, snow and ice, which paralyzed traffic. Four fatalities have been reported in the Southeast states during the freeze. Virginia is under a mantle of snow and Western North Carolina has three to five inches of snow. South Carolina escaped the worst part of the cold weather, though low temperatures are reported.

TRAFFIC DELAYED BY SNOW, WHICH BRIGHTENS CITY

No Skating in Parks Tonight Because Ice Is Not Thick Enough.

Traffic was delayed and, incidentally, the grayness of a big city was brightened by snow which began falling about 3 a. m. and was expected by the Weather Bureau to continue through the afternoon. The snowfall at 7 a. m. was 1.1 inches.

Street cars, for the most part, crept along slowly, at the rush hour on some lines having to leave disgruntled groups of workers to stamp their feet and lament the cold. Automobiles with skid chains picked their way gingerly toward the downtown business section, meeting with traffic jams at busy intersections. A city force of 100 men and 25 teams endeavored to keep the streets and tracks clear in this section.

There will be no skating in the parks tonight, not on account of the snow, but because the ice, in the opinion of park officials, is not thick enough. This snow was the second of the season. The first, on Dec. 16, was only five-tenths of an inch.

EFFORT TO REOPEN MRS. DURKAN'S ESTATE

Relatives of Woman Who Died in 1905 File Motion, Naming Joseph Gerardi.

A motion to reopen the estate of Mrs. Bridget Durkan, who died in St. Louis in 1905, was filed in Probate Court today in behalf of a sister, five nieces and a nephew of Mrs. Durkan, who allege that her brother-in-law, Joseph Gerardi, who was administrator of her estate, represented his wife to be Mrs. Durkan's sole heir and failed to inventory 15 shares of stock in the Joseph Gerardi Hotel Co., alleged to be of great value now.

In the event of favorable action on the motion, which seeks to have Harry Blodgett, a lawyer, appointed administrator, the plaintiff's attorneys, Frumberg, Russell & Whaley and Randolph Laughlin, expect to file a suit for accounting in Blodgett's name to air the affairs of the hotel company.

Operates Westmoreland Hotel.

The hotel company operates the Westmoreland Hotel, Taylor and Maryland avenues, which is managed by Gerardi, who also conducts a confectionery at Maryland avenue and King's highway. Title to the latter property is said to be held by the Rookery Realty, Loan, Investment & Building Co.

Mrs. Durkan was a sister of Gerardi's wife, Annie. Those who allege that Gerardi concealed their heirship under the law to a four-fifths interest in the estate are: Mrs. Margaret Joyce of County Mayo, Ireland, Mrs. Durkan's sister; Mrs. Mary Bates of St. Louis; Mrs. Elizabeth Graham of Dubuque, Ia.; Mrs. May Durham and Mrs. Agnes Meehan of New York, and Mrs. Kate Ferguson of Mostyn, North Wales, her nieces, and John Gallagher of New York, her nephew.

Points Set Forth in Motion.

The motion sets forth that some of the alleged heirs filed a motion in Probate Court in 1906 for the removal of Gerardi as administrator on the ground that he failed to inventory certain items in the estate, but that he agreed to resign and the matter was not pressed. A trust company then wound up the estate, the present motion says, and the alleged heirs did not know then of the existence of the 15 shares of hotel stock. The inventory of the estate showed ownership of a lot at Hodiamont and Hamilton avenue and $1988.93 cash.

Counsel for the plaintiffs say that the hotel company was organized in 1895 with a capital of $2000. Mrs. Durkan holding 15 shares, Gerardi three and J. Charless Cabanne and William J. Smith one each. They say they obtained knowledge of Mrs. Durkan's shares only last December and estimate the value of their clients' alleged interest at $400,000. They say that the Rookery company owns the King's highway and Maryland property, which they estimate to be worth $325,000.

VISITORS WITH FISH STORY BLAMED FOR $123 ROBBERY

Men Sought Lodging for Tired Fish, "Gift From Mikado to President Harding."

Charles Cowels, clerk in the fish department of the Greater St. Louis Poultry Supply Co., 1100 Market street, was feeding the stock when two men entered the store last evening and asked him if he could furnish lodging for a group of Japanese fish.

"I am an attache of the Japanese navy," said the speaker, "and I am escorting the fish to Washington. They are a gift from the Mikado to President Harding, and they are tired out from traveling. I would like to put them up for the night."

Cowels inspected a tank in the rear part of the store and when he returned the men had departed. Then he reported he observed the cash drawer was open and that $123.85 was missing.

Paris Fashion Display An Exclusive Affair

Creators Fear Models Will Be Copied—Colors to Be the Rage, With Red and Yellow Dominating.

By FERDINAND TUOHY.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, Feb. 6.—Possibly because American women are buying fewer and fewer Paris models, the famous fashion houses have been deluging American correspondents with invitations to their spring displays.

Such evenings are a pleasant relief from the eternal Ruhr and Lausanne politics. You sit around in charming company at little tables sipping champagne, while pretty models undulate backwards and forwards in the last expression of adornment that the company has managed to squeeze from a rather overtapped source.

These soirees at which the exclusive congregate, bar all save those favored with personal passes, all difficult to get. So determined are the fashion creators to stop wholesale copying of their models, which threatens ruin, that if one desires to take another guest full particulars as to his identity must be forthcoming, and if it is her identity they are even more particular. The cards are checked by three or four rows of men and women attendants before one arrives in a brilliantly lighted and animated salon, crossing the gaze of hundreds out of study, dress and deportment. It is certain to be an ordeal. A woman who is not ultra smart at one of these soirees looks to be in rags, and her neighbors let her know it.

A Definitely Parisian Scene.

Here are assembled the French noblesse from the Faubourg St. Germain, foreign notables, nouveaux riche, buyers, actresses. Personal gossip and criticism dominate the evening as this strange pot pourri, never elsewhere brought together, faces itself.

It is a definitely Parisian scene, as husbands lean back and observe the mannequins through the blue haze of cigar smoke, and dowagers of ample proportions ask the name and number of a costume clinging to a sylph-like figure. No creator has yet the courage to parade a genuine fat mannequin, though half his clients may be fighting the battle of obesity.

The only ones who do not have champagne and supper are the most deserving—the jaded models who, after two hours of undulating in 40 gowns, look ready to collapse. For no longer do they nail from the other boulevards. Some are Russian Princesses and Hungarian Countesses, unused to fatigue. But you may not offer them a goblet of wine or ice cream, even during the last lap.

Colors Are to Be the Rage.

The mere male observer would put them down as unattractive, with their hair glued down and eyes and cheeks heavily blued and rouged. You are told they have to exaggerate their make-up for colors are to be the season's rage with black forgotten.

As the procession parades, each girl whirling round with set smile as her number and the name of the dress is called, the fashion creator himself passes from table to table to hear sweet words of praise and whisper the prices—$700 for a wedding gown which can be worn only once, $800 for an evening gown cut to the middle of the back bone.

A curious reversal has taken place in evening gowns. Time was when they were low in front and high behind. Now it is vice versa. Also, one noticed the striking number of shimmering, armor-like, Joan of Arc creations and her head tortoise-like. But I give the floor to an American girl neighbor, who pronounced:

Some of the models are quite attractive, but there is nothing you cannot get on, the other side. Red and yellow dominate and three-piece costumes are very much in favor."

SAYS $2,000,000 COULDN'T MAKE C., P. & ST. L. PROFITABLE

General Manager Testifies at Hearing of Road's Application to Abandon Lines.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 6.—Not even an investment of $2,000,000 could make the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railroad profitable, W. C. Hurst, the road's general manager, testified at the hearing of the road's application to abandon its lines, held by the Interstate Commerce Commission here today.

This assertion brought consternation upon the group that crowded the hearing room, to back up their representatives in an organized protest against abandonment.

Hurst made the statement in answer to questions of J. F. Gray, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, who had asked how much anyone could afford to pay for the present line as a going concern.

"Nothing," Hurst answered.

WOMAN APPEARS AS COUNSEL FOR FOUR LIQUOR DEFENDANTS

Miss Lena Frank Says Her Legal Services in Such Cases Have Been Much Sought Since She Retired as Prosecutor.

Miss Lena Frank, former Assistant Prosecuting Attorney for two years, during which she prosecuted many cases of violation of the State prohibition law, today appeared in the Court of Criminal Correction as counsel for four liquor defendants, who were granted continuances upon her motion.

Miss Frank said that her legal services have been much sought by defendants in liquor cases since she left office, the impression seeming to be current that since she was successful as a prosecutor she would do quite as well on the defensive.

TIRE DEALER SUES FOR DIVORCE

Charges Wife Has Gone to Hollywood, Cal., to Live.

Clarence W. Batdorf, vice president of a tire company at 5864 Delmar boulevard, today filed suit to divorce Grace Batdorf, who, according to his petition, resides at 2810 North Winona boulevard, Hollywood, Cal. He alleges general indignities.

In his petition Batdorf states that Dec. 6 last his wife left for Hollywood, her fifth trip to California. He states that he has not paid the expenses of any of her trips, because he was opposed to them. He recites in the petition that on Feb. 1 he received a telegram from his wife, which read: "I'm through. Going to stay out here. You are terrible." He also charges that she had a violent temper and made petty accusations against him.

REQUEST GOES TO HUGHES

Lodge Sends Robinson Demand Secretary Visit Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today decided to refer to Secretary Hughes a request made by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, author of a resolution for appointment of official American representatives on the Reparation Commission, that Hughes appear before the committee.

Chairman Lodge said he would sent Senator Robinson's request to Secretary Hughes without comment.

WITNESS DEAD; CASE DROPPED

Man Who Said He Could Identify James Hennessy Died.

Because of the death of its principal witness counsel for the State yesterday dropped the charge against James Hennessy of St. Louis, who was to be tried for alleged participation in the holdup of the Tri-City State Bank at Madison, Ill., July 10, last, in which $10,000 was taken.

John Minceff, a resident of Madison, who said he could identify Hennessy as one of four robbers, died some months ago. There are two other indictments pending against Hennessy and he is held in the Edwardsville jail.

POLICE NOT AGAINST ORDERLY HOME PARTIES

Not Policy to Invade Homes Unless Gamblers Are Harbored, Chief States.

Discussing the raid Jan. 31 by Lieut. R. L. Agee of the Deer Street station on the home of Leslie B. Middleton of 4662A Evans avenue, following which Middleton and his brother and another man were arrested and held several hours for inquiring who had complained against them, Chief of Police O'Brien today said it was not the policy of the Police Department to invade private homes unless a serious violation of the law is suspected.

"It is neither my policy nor that of the department to invade a private, orderly party of any kind in the home," said Chief O'Brien, "unless a complaint shows that professional gamblers are being harbored there, or that an investigation of the home would aid in the investigation of a serious violation of the law. Quiet gatherings of friends in homes will not be disturbed by the police."

Middleton filed a formal complaint of the raid with Inspector of Police Gerk, who is having Capt. Hannegan of the Deer Street Station make an investigation. Middleton has complained that he, his brother and friend were playing penuchle at 3 a. m. in his home when Lieut. Agee was admitted and searched the house without a search warrant.

Reports of Capt. Hannegan and Lieut. Agee were received yesterday by Gerk, but were not corroborated by witnesses and were sent back. Hannegan expressed the view in his report that Agee was justified in entering the house on a report that gambling was in progress there. No evidence of gambling was found.

JEFFERSON CITY WOMAN, WHO MARRIED CONVICT, WEDS HERE

Mrs. Mayme V. Wadley Was Told by Man Serving Term He Was "Spy" in Penitentiary.

Mrs. Mayme V. Wadley, 30 years old, of Jefferson City, who obtained a divorce Jan. 9 from Frank Jandro, a convict recently released from the State penitentiary, was married here yesterday to Walter J. Fehrend, 23, who gave his address as 5260 Delmar boulevard.

The former Mrs. Wadley married Jandro Jan. 12, 1922, while he was a convict chauffeur at the penitentiary. A week later she sued for divorce, alleging she did not know Jandro was a real convict. She said he told her that he was "sentenced to the pen" only as a spy to get information as to the distribution of drugs in the prison. She was refused a divorce by the trial court, but the Kansas City Court of Appeals granted a decree. Jandro was said to have had a wife and children in the East.

ST. LOUIS SCHOOL BOARD OPPOSES TEXT BOOK BILL

Former Judge McDonald Asks Senate Committee to Exclude City by Amendment.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 6.—Former Judge Jesse McDonald, representing the St. Louis Board of Education, appeared last night before the Senate Committee on Education in opposition to including the St. Louis schools within the jurisdiction of the Tout bill creating a State textbook commission. McDonald asked the committee to amend the measure to continue in the Board of Education the right to fix the course of study and determine textbooks to be used in the St. Louis schools.

He outlined the St. Louis system, under which the course of study and textbooks are constantly under investigation by competent educators familiar with the peculiar needs of St. Louis.

McDonald also spoke against a bill opening any high school in the State to any child residing in a school district in which there was no high school, this bill providing for the payment of tuition by the State to an amount not exceeding $4 a month. McDonald said the cost to the Board of Education for each pupil in the St. Louis high schools was $169 a year and that it was unfair to compel St. Louis to pay the cost of educating children from other sections of the State.

JUDGES FOR SHORTER TERMS IN DOMESTIC RELATIONS COURT

Circuit Judges Go on Record Against Traffic Court Bill, as It Stands in Legislature.

The Circuit Judges, in general term yesterday, authorized Judge Hall ot make known to members of the Legislature how they feel about the Court of Domestic Relations. A bill has been introduced by Representative John T. Manning of this city to abolish the court. He contends the court has not proved a success, but the Judges do not agree with him. However, they favor a change so that the Judges who preside, in the Court of Domestic Relations will not have to remain there two years.

The Judges went on record as opposed to the bill creating a Traffic Court as it is now before the Legislature. They do not object to a traffic court, but are opposed to having it linked with the Circuit Court. It is provided that one of the Circuit Judges shall preside in this court.

The effort of courthouse janitors to have their pay increased from $75 to $90 a month, which is what the city hall janitors receive, was favored by the general term.

France to Keep Miquelon Islands.

CHERBOURG, Feb. 6.—Albert Sarraut, Minister of Colonies, returning today from St. Pierre, Miquelon, said there was no question of France ceding the islands. "When the inhabitants of the colony heard me declare that France is not in the habit of selling her children, they were moved to tears," the Minister said.

MUCH EXCITMENT WHEN GIRL SKATER AND MAN GO THROUGH ICE

Police and Firemen Called to Sylvan Lake in Forest Park—Water Four Feet Deep.

Skating on Sylvan Lake in Forest Park was interrupted at 9:45 o'clock last night when Miss Signie Mattson, 18 years old, of 1100 Blendon place, and her escort, Harley Burgess, of 5243 Garfield avenue, went through the ice into four feet of water about 10 feet from the shore.

The incident created considerable excitement. Policemen and firemen were summoned, but before their arrival Miss Mattson and Burgess were rescued by other skaters and taken to the boathouse, where their clothing was dried. Later they were taken to their homes in a police automobile.

Alois Aumann, 17, of 3440 South Jefferson avenue, was cut on the left leg when he collided with another skater on the lake in Benton Park.

$1,089,645 EARNED BY LACLEDE GAS IN 1922

Increase in Net Income of $1,-293,590 Over 1921, When There Was a Deficit.

The Laclede Gas Co., in its report for 1922, made public today, shows an increase in net earnings of $1,-292,590.66 over 1921. In 1922 its net earnings for its stock were $1,-089,645.93. After payment of the 5 per cent dividend on preferred stock, amounting to $125,000, this left $964,645.93 net for the common stock. This comes to 9.015 per cent on the common stock. The dividend paid on the common was 5¼ per cent.

In 1921, as shown by the report issued a year ago, there was a net deficit of $203,944.73, which was increased by the payment of $125,000 on the preferred stock, to $328,-944.73. The deficit was 3.07 per cent on the common stock, and no dividend on the common was paid.

New Schedule of Rates.

A new schedule of gas rates became effective April 8, 1921. The deficit for that year was attributed to the lower rates in effect in the first quarter, to the price of coal then prevailing, and to the decreased sale of gas and the decreased demand for coke.

In the new report, covering 1922, an increase of $731,707.20 in gross income is shown, due to increased sale of gas, to the increased rates which took effect in April, 1921, and to an increase of about 10 per cent in electric rates which took effect Aug. 1 last. A decrease of $665,286.13 in operating expenses was attributed primarily to reduction of prices of coal and gas oil.

The report mentions the decision of the State Public Service Commission, Nov. 28 last, holding that the company's rates were not unreasonable, but making some reduction for industrial users of large quantities of gas.

The refinancing of the company's bonded indebtedness, through the issuance of $17,500,000 first mortgage collateral and refunding 30-year 5½ per cent gold bonds, in place of the previous $16,000,000 first mortgage collateral and refunding 7 per cent gold bonds, will save the company more than $140,000 a year, it is stated. The new bond issue was authorized by the Public Service Commission Jan. 11 of this year.

Harding Will Be Renominated and G. O. P. Will Stand on Its Record, Senator Watson Says

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The most authoritative word that has come from anybody on the subject of the President's attitude toward a second term was spoken on the floor of the Senate yesterday by Senator Watson of Indiana.

Answering jibes by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who had drawn a facetious verbal picture of the lack of harmony in the Republican party, Watson said that he had no doubt whatever that President Harding would be a candidate to succeed himself and that he would be renominated at the next Republican convention without opposition.

Harrison replied that he noticed the Senator from Indiana had broken off his prophecy at the nomination of Harding. Watson retorted that the rest was a matter of detail that would be arranged later.

Watson said that the Republican party, no matter what apparent rifts might now be detected by the jocose Senator from Mississippi, would present a united front in 1924. The party must stand, he said, on the record made by Congress and the executive branch, and, of course, it could not stand on that record if it should nominate somebody else than the President.

Refers to Presidential Booms.

Watson referred to a news article from Indianapolis, which Harrison had quoted, saying that presidential booms were being got ready in Indiana for both Watson and Beveridge. He was immensely flattered, he said, that the Senator from Mississippi should name him as a candidate for the exalted office of President, even in a jocular way, but the fact was that there would be no Republican opposition to President Harding.

Watson is generally recognized as one of the spokesmen of the administration. No one is politically closer to the President. His announcement of Harding's candidacy for another term is accepted, therefore, as almost as authoritative as if it had come directly from Harding himself. The statement is calculated to check, at least for a time, the persistently recurring rumor that the President has wearied of his office to the extent of deciding to step aside in 1924. For this report there never has been more than a purely speculative basis.

Harrison's shafts provoked laughter even on the Republican side. He took his text from a newspaper article relating that Senator Lodge had appointed two lieutenants to be his watchdogs in the Senate during the rest of the session—Lenroot of Wisconsin, representing the progressive wing of the party, and Wadsworth of New York, representing the conservatives.

"Why Not Senator Smoot?"

He was quite sure, he said, that Senator Lenroot was the unanimous choice of the progressive group, consisting of such men as Brookhart of Iowa, Couzens of Michigan, La Follette of Wisconsin and Norris of Nebraska. There would be no further need for these men to speak on legislation. Lenroot would represent them. Whenever Lodge wanted a progressive speech, he would wink at Lenroot. Lenroot would come forward and the rest of the progressives would keep silent.

Since both Lenroot and Wadsworth opposed the high wool tariff, Harrison continued, it was surprising that Senator Lodge didn't also name a wool Senator as one of his lieutenants. There was Smoot, he suggested. Why hadn't Lodge picked Smoot, who was "all wool and a yard wide"?

However, went on the Mississippian, he had chosen Wadsworth and Lenroot, and one would dance when slow conservative music was played and the other to the quick marches of progressivism.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas foresaw a mixup if Lodge should wink both eyes at the same time and both Wadsworth and Lenroot should step forward to do a turn.

Lodge replied to Harrison's badinage with a brief speech denying that he had appointed any lieutenants to assist him and throwing bouquets at a number of his colleagues whom Harrison had mentioned. Lodge intimated that if he cared to, he could be "quite as humorous in reference to the Democrats as Harrison had been in reference to the Republicans." However, he said, he didn't want to waste the time of the Senate.

Watson then had his say, and so ended a political field day in which a good time was had by all.

SAYS ADVERTISING HAS REACHED MORAL STAGE

Speaker at "Move-More-Merchandise" Session Stresses Value of Truth.

Economic forces set in motion by a rational and systematic "Move-More-Merchandise" campaign "will exert a more potent influence upon getting the world on its feet than centuries of talk," A. J. Wolfe, chief of the Division of Commercial Law, United States Department of Commerce, said here today.

He was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the first day session of the three-day "Move-More-Merchandise" Institute at Hotel Statler in conjunction with the annual Seventh District Conference of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. Officials estimated that 1000 merchants from Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma will be present during at least a part of the three days. The purpose of the conference is to educate retailers of the smaller towns in methods of inducing the public to buy more merchandise, thus increasing the business of St. Louis manufacturers and jobbers.

Wolfe talked on "Constructive Methods in Foreign Trade." He declared that advertising is the most vital factor in a "Move-More-Merchandise" campaign. In detailing development of advertising, Wolfe said it has now reached the "moral stage." This stage, he said, is one which requires that advertising, to be effective, must be believed. "I want to see the day when a lie in an advertisement will shock us as much as though it were uttered from a pulpit or a judge's bench or the executive mansion," Wolfe said.

He said that the motion picture film will prove of incalculable value in advertising in foreign countries. In his discussion of foreign merchandising Wolfe stressed the necessity of understanding the persons dealt with and of selling service as well as merchandise.

A mock wedding ceremony, symbolizing a new bond of unity between St. Louis and Kansas City, was performed at the close of the luncheon, Gov. Hyde officiating. Considerable mirth accompanied the ceremony, in which Dr. John L. Tierney of St. Louis acted as bridegroom, and Miss Marion Kinman of Kansas City as bride. Dr. Tierney took the role of Saint Louis in the Masque, produced in connection with the Pageant of 1914 in Forest Park.

Mayor Kiel appeared as best man and Mayor Cromwell of Kansas City "gave away" the bride. The present to the bride was a fleur de lis, inscribed with the words, "Neighborliness," "Aggressiveness" and "Unity," and the bride's present was a heart, representing "The Heart of the Continent," the Kansas City slogan. A Bond of Unity was then signed by the Mayors and Advertising Club heads of the two cities.

The sessions of the "Move-More-Merchandise" Institute opened at 9:30 a. m. with an address of welcome by W. B. Weisenburger, president of the St. Louis Advertising Club. Addresses were given during the morning general session by Martin L. Pierce, research and promotion manager of the Hoover Suction Sweeper Co. of North Canton, O., on "A Debt of Honor," and Edward T. Hall of St. Louis, on "Psychology of Merchandising—Common Sense."

A Sale of New Capes

That Provides a Distinct Saving of $7 to $11.50

At $38

BECAUSE ALL THAT REMAIN AFTER THE SALE WILL BE RE-MARKED TO $45 AND $49.50.

About ten days ago we announced the first sale of Capes at $38. Unfortunately, we were unable to anticipate the very big response we had, and by noon the greater part of the Capes were sold. We immediately got in touch by long distance phone with the manufacturer who had supplied us, and arranged with him to ship us even more than he had originally. We were forced to pay more, but we advertise this sale at the same price as the previous one, because many of our customers who came late were disappointed.

The Sale Will Be for Tomorrow Only!

There are several different styles from which to choose, made of Formosa, Velverette, Brytonia, Normandy and Lustrosa, every Cape lined with excellent quality Canton crepe, Striped Silk or Printed Silk. A few have caracul collars; others are self-trimmed.

Sizes for women and misses. Colors include moth gray, reindeer, Hawaiian blue, cinder and, of course, the popular black.

Other new Capes in a splendid variety of styles, moderately priced from $35 to $85.

RELATIVITY, FILMED, IS AS LUCID AS EVER

Motion Pictures Show Many Things in Trying to Explain Einstein Theory.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Many of the illustrations commonly used in attempting to explain the Einstein theory were presented strikingly in motion pictures recently by Hugo Riesenfeld. It was a private view largely for the benefit of scientists and educators. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and other well-known men were in the audience.

The film announced in the beginning that it was to be strictly popular and also that Dr. Albert Einstein had himself said that there were only 12 persons living who could really comprehend his speculation. It is not probable that any additions will be made to this jury of true comprehenders by the filming of the theory. A British professor attributed the popularity of the Einstein theory to its "pleasant incomprehensibility." The theory was not robbed yesterday of that attractive feature.

The film was easily an improvement over the scores of volumes which have been written to set forth the figures of speech and analogies which have been considered to assist materially in getting the idea of the theory itself. These figures and analogies are beautifully done in the films. It is shown, for instance, with perfect lucidity that a man walking backward in a boat going forward may be in a stationary position with reference to a point on the shore. It shows how an observer in one position might think that two lights were lit simultaneously while a third observer might think that one light was lit before the other.

The Falling Ball Demonstration.

It shows how a cannonball dropped from a tower falls straight to earth and yet describes a wide curve, because the earth is rotating at the rate of 1000 miles an hour and moving in its orbit at the rate of 1100 miles an hour. As a result the point at the foot of the tower has moved a great distance between the time when the ball was released and the time when it hit the ground.

The fact that people regularly forget the motion of the earth wtih respect to the sun, and the motion of the solar system with respect to the stars, and that they have a strictly local idea of episodes on the earth, is forcibly demonstrated by a variety of illustrations. Some of these were so well done that the learned audience applauded like an ordinary audience seeing the rescue of Jackie Coogan. There were thrills in this dramatization of mathematics.

On the other hand, a perfect understanding of the illustrations seems to be consistent with blank ignorance of what they illustrate. The analogies are all as clear as a bell. It is what they are all about that foils the humble student of relativity. It is plain that things look one way to a man on a moving train and another to a man in a field, but it is hard to see how this proves that space is bent.

Rays from stars are shown making an angle as they pass by the sun, and it is explained that they take that path, not because they are pulled out of position by gravity, but because the space is twisted and there is no other way for the rays to go.

A Few Missing Links.

This is a simple idea in itself, but there seem to be several links missing in the logical chain that connects it with the optical illusions and the tricks played upon observers by difference of viewpoint. The illustrations of the theory and the effects attributed to the theory are thus presented with crystal clarity. Everything is plain but the theory.

The eclipse test of the Einstein theory is shown neatly by drawings of the star field as it is normally seen and as it is apparently distorted by the space-bending effect when the rays from the stars pass close to the sun during an eclipse. Einstein was strongly supported by the photographs taken by the British eclipse expedition in 1919 showing an apparent dislodgement of the stars near the sun's rim from their true position. This is of great interest today, because the results of the second eclipse test are expected in a few weeks when Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, makes public the evidence of the photographs which his expedition to Australia took of the eclipse of last September.

The film also makes a brave attempt to explain to the popular mind the fourth dimension of space and how Einstein measures the universe by a spacetime yardstick. The success of the film in this respect probably exceeds that of the scores of volumes in which popular scientists with publishing house connections have attempted to dish the theory up for the public.

The film has received the personal attention of Dr. Albert Einstein and other scientists and has since been popularized by others. Contrary to Dr. Einstein's own claims, the film announces that the Einstein theory may have farreaching consequences on human existence, perhaps making future life as different from the present as the present is from the cave-man stage of existence. On his visit to this country Einstein and his followers were of the opinion that his discovery of relativity could have no practical application to physical conditions on the earth.

Explosion Not Due to Helium.

By the Associated Press.

TWO POLICEMEN HELD AS HIGHWAY ROBBERS

Accuser, Boy, 16, Says They Beat Him and Forced Him to Give Them $4.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Accused of holding him up in broad daylight by a 16-year-old boy, who picked them out of a lineup at headquarters, two patrolmen were held in $2500 bail each in a Police Court last night on charges of robbery.

Their accuser was George Boyd, a wireless operator from Glasgow, Scotland, sailing on the liner Italia. He had left the ship at the Cunard piers last Sunday morning with $4 in his pocket, to purchase for his mother a souvenir of his first voyage to America. At Eighth avenue and Twenty-first street, according to Boyd, the patrolman halted him, saying: "You're just the fellow we're looking for. There's just been a robbery and we think you're implicated. It'll cost you just $5 to keep out of jail."

Boyd said he told the officers he was "innocent and would go to the station and prove it," and that immediately one of the pair struck him. He ran, but was overtaken by the officers and forced to drop his $4 in a patrolman's helmet, he said.

Boyd sails today, but he will return to the United States on Feb. 27, the date set for the officers' hearings.

NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM HAS EXPEDITIONS ON 5 CONTINENTS

Henry Fairfield Osborn Re-Elected President at Annual Meeting of Trustees.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Henry Fairfield Osborn yesterday was re-elected president of the American Museum of Natural History at the annual meeting of trustees, Cleveland H. Dodge was named first vice-president; J. P. Morgan, second vice-president; George F. Baker Jr., treasurer, and Percy R. Pyne, secretary.

Scientific expeditions are being maintained by the Museum on four continents, including three in Asia, one in Australia, one in Polynesia, five in North America and the West Indies and two in South America, it was reported. An expedition now in central Mongolia had made discoveries of remains of pre-historic monsters which upset many of the scientific theories previously held concerning the early evolution of the continents of North America and Asia, it was said.

Construction of six remaining building sections of the museum at a cost of $9,000,000 will be undertaken during the coming decade, President Osborn announced.

TWIN SISTERS REMARRY TWIN HUSBANDS THEY DIVORCED

Second Double Wedding Takes Place in Cedar Rapids—Decree Received Same Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Feb. 6.—The eloping twins have eloped again and this time they hope to make their marriage stick. Nora May Thompson and her sister, Bernice, who were divorced from Dale and Glenn Bricker Jan. 18 slipped away from their homes in Belleplaine yesterday came to this city and were remarried to their former husbands.

These couples eloped to St. Joseph, Mo., May 1, 1922, where they were married at a double ceremony. Returning to Belleplaine they lived in the same house. Both wives charged their husband beat them and they sued for divorce the same day and obtained their decrees the same day, each girl testifying for the other.

"We have all made a mistake," said Dale Bricker. "We have decided to try matrimony again and we are determined to make it stick this time." The twin wives are 21 and their husbands 23. They say they will live separately this time and keep away from their parents.

WOMAN, 77, ENDS HER LIFE

Nothing in Bible Advising Against Suicide, She Wrote in Note.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 6.—After declaring in a note that she had read her Bible through carefully and found nothing advising against suicide, Mrs. Anna M. Faidley, 77 years old, ended her life early yesterday by gas asphyxiation.

In an envelope marked "statement," Mrs. Faidley explained her action. "It seems there is no place in the world for old persons," she wrote. "I long to go to my rest." Mrs. Faidley had lived in Topeka 25 years and was in comfortable circumstances. Her only blood relatives are two nieces in Indiana.

ELGIN TO REVIVE AUTO RACE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ELGIN, Ill.—Elgin's historic automobile road race is to be revived. A campaign has been started to raise $20,000 to finance the competition. The race was abandoned last year because of construction of concrete roads. Enough of this work has been completed to insure a speedy course and the permanency of the annual competition. Should it be found impossible to finance the project, it will be abandoned. The boosters, however, do not anticipate any difficulty in this direction.

Flowers Shipped 17,000 Miles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

6822 DEATHS FROM WHOOPING COUGH

Whooping cough is the most neglected of children's diseases and one of the most dangerous. There are 6822 deaths reported in a single year in the United States from this disease. There is no cure for whooping cough, it usually running its course, but relief can be given and its duration shortened. A few drops of Dr. Drake's Glessco will relieve the most violent paroxysms of coughing, and given regularly it will lessen the severity of the attacks and bring quicker recovery. Endorsed by physicians and sold by druggists on guarantee of complete satisfaction.

INDORSEMENT FOR SIX SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES VOTED

Informal Action Taken at Meeting of Representatives of Civic and Business Organizations.

Informal indorsement of six candidates for the Board of Education at the April election was voted by representatives of civic and business organizations at the Melbourne Hotel last night at a meeting called by the Nonpartisan School Board Campaign Committee, which is also fighting House bill No. 222 (the Hiemenz-Chase bill) providing for the return to the party convention system of nominating candidates for the board.

A resolution condemning the bill as an attempt to bring politics into the Board of Education also was passed.

The candidates indorsed were:

Mrs. Elias Michael, Republican, 4383 Westminster place, present board member, for an unexpired two-year term.

H. F. Fahrenkrog, Republican, 4550 Adelaide avenue, present board member, for an unexpired four-year term.

Dr. Walter H. Fuchs, Republican, 3203 Lafayette avenue, six-year term.

Alexander S. Langsdorf, Democrat, 1205 Amherst place, dean of the Engineering School at Washington University, six-year term.

Joseph A. Woracek, Democrat, 3851 Utah place, leather buyer, former president of the Central Trades and Labor Union, six-year term.

Robert H. Ballman, Democrat, 4016 Green Lea avenue, assistant cashier of the Bremen Bank, six-year term.

Indorsement Informal.

The indorsement was informal because the majority of the 100 or more persons present were not empowered to speak officially for their organizations. Signatures to the resolution showed about 25 organizations represented at the meeting. Petitions for the candidates for the six vacancies were circulated after the meeting.

A motion by Judge William Dee Becker of the St. Louis Court of Appeals that Chairman E. J. Russell appoint committees to inform the Democratic and Republican City Committees of the action taken at the meeting and to request co-operation from these bodies brought charges that the Nonpartisan Committee itself seemed to be introducing "politics" into the question by puting forward a "hand-picked" set of candidates.

Joseph Davis, an attorney, of 5741 Maple avenue, representing the Dozier School Parent-Teachers' Association, asserted that asking the city committees to indorse these candidates would furnish supporters of the Heimenz-Chase bill with the argument that the Nonpartisan Committee was not carrying on the fight with clean hands. He urged a vigorous campaign to defeat the bill but thought selection of a ticket should be made independent of the fight entirely. Several school and civic organizations already had planned to put forward candidates not on the ticket named at the meeting, he said.

Voice From the Rear.

Other representatives of the Dozier School association asked why such organizations had not been consulted regarding the proposed ticket, and a voice from the rear of the room announced. "We've heard much talk of party machines here tonight, and now I'm beginning to believe that the Nonpartisan Committee itself has quite a little flivver of its own."

Members of the committee said that the Executive Committee, in whose hands much of the selection of candidates had been left two years ago, when it successfully put over independent candidates, had been working for weeks to bring out a representative ticket because no one else seemed inclined to take the initiative in the matter. The Hiemenz Chase bill, coming up later, had but caused them to realize the necessity for a strong campaign to keep school board nominations a strictly nonpartisan matter.

After Judge Becker, Republican, and former Judge Moses N. Sale, Democrat, had declared that unified action was necessary and that too much delay would be fatal, Judge Becker's motion was passed with only a few dissenting votes.

Principal Speakers.

Principal speakers at the meeting were Judges Becker and Sale and Mrs. Charles Passmore, who has been at Jefferson City watching the bill for the Nonpartisan Committee. Chief arguments advanced against the passage of the bill were that it made it mandatory upon party conventions to name a complete ticket for School Board vacancies, thus making impossible the "gentlemen's agreement" under which the board had been kept nonpartisan, until two years ago, by the Democratic and Republican parties putting forward only half a ticket; that it was so worded as to allow of existing parties, only the Republican and Democratic, to be on the ballots by party designation, and that it handicapped independent candidates by providing that such candidates could not file after the day on which the Democratic and Republican conventions named their tickets.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS —GIVE "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Delicious Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

NEW FIGURES ASKED FOR LOEW THEATER

Building at Eighth and Washington May Be Started Soon.

The long-delayed Loew Theater project at the northeast corner of Eighth street and Washington avenue may be started soon. St. Louis contractors who furnished estimates of the cost of erecting the theater about a year ago have been asked to present new figures based on present costs. Marcus Loew, theater magnate, who operates 300 theaters throughout the country, is expected in St. Louis about the end of this month.

Plans for the theater were announced on February 18, 1920, when it was disclosed that Loew had secured the Eighth and Washington corner through a ninety-nine-year lease for $60,000 annually. At that time it was said the show house would cost about $1,000,000, and, duplicating the Metropolitan Theater of Brooklyn, would seat 4400. In December, 1921, it was announced that the erection of the building was held up by the high costs of construction.

NEW LOEW THEATER OPENING EXPECTED FOR LABOR DAY

The Loew Theater, which will be erected at the northeast corner of Washington avenue and Eighth street, will be opened next Labor Day, unless plans receive an unexpected upset, it was announced today by Thomas W. Lamb, a New York architect, who accompanied Marcus Loew to St. Louis yesterday.

The work of razing the buildings now on the site will begin within ten days, and Loew today is obtaining bids on construction. Steel shapes for the framework have already been made, Lamb said.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

British Man-of-War Fires on American Battle Ship Which Surrenders But War Is Deferred Little Longer by Jefferson.

British Craft Overhauls U. S. Ship.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON
Author of "The Story of Mankind."
(Copyright, 1923.)

EVERY time the American people heard of an American ship beinb stopped upon the high seas, and American citizens being taken off by the British, under the plea that they were British subjects, they grew more angry. When finally the British ships began to patrol our coast, sailing north and south in full view of the populace, stopping and searching all vessels coming in or going out, it was very difficult for President Jefferson to restrain his compatriots from acts which would have led to immediate war.

There was during those years a difference of opinion between English and Americans as to what constituted a British subject. The English said, "Once an Englishman, always an Englishman." The United States, on the other hand, claimed that after a certain period of residence here, and due naturalization ceremonies, a man became an absolute and unqualified citizen of the United States, and should be protected by its laws. The English deserters were quick to profit by this American point of view. The entire crew of many a ship would desert in an American port, quickly provide themselves with forged naturalization papers, and then take service the next day in American ships, where the pay was better and the discipline less severe.

Finally, in the year 1807, something happened which caused as much excitement in the United States as the blowing up of the "Maine" did in 1898. It was reported to the British man-of-war "Leopard" that some English deserters had joined the American battleship "Chesapeake," which had just sailed for the Mediterranean. The "Leopard" followed the "Chesapeake," came alongside and signaled to her to stop, that she had a message to deliver.

Captain Barron of the 'Chesapeake" hove his ship to, and allowed the officer who had rowed over from the "Leopard" in a little boat, to come aboard. The officer handed Captain Barron an order from Admiral Berkeley, of the British Navy, saying that he must surrender any English deserters that happened to be on board. Captain Barron replied that there were no English deserters on board. He had been extremely careful to see to it that none had slipped in among the crew. The British officer returned to the "Leopard" and suddenly a shot came across the "Chesapeake's" bows, followed by a broadside.

The idea that the British would fire at him without a word of warning had never occurred to Captain Barron. The "Chesapeake" was not in fighting trim, and for 15 minutes the "Leopard" kept firing at the defenseless "Chesapeake," killing three men and wounding 18. Then Captain Barron hauled down his colors in token of surrender, and the British came aboard and took off four men. One really was an Englishman, who had joined the ship under an assumed name, but the other three were native-born Americans.

When this affair became known, the people were more anxious than ever for war, but President Jefferson, who was convinced in his own mind that peace was our best policy, managed to put the conflict off a little longer.

Wednesday Evening, 8 P. M.

Alice Levy Berger (Mrs. Milton Berger), soprano; Mrs. Henry I. Cohen, pianist; Virginia Slack, reader.

That St. Louis possesses musical artists of exceptional talent was demonstrated once more to radio listeners last night in the recital given at tSation K S D by Miss Leonore Riemann, soprano; Rowland W. Arnoldy, tenor, and A. Lawton Gordon, pianist. A varied program, beautifully rendered, was presented by these St. Louis artists, and many messages of appreciation, including several long distance calls, came into the studio reception room.

The program was unusual in that there was not a single operatic number on the list, unless the much-loved song, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls," from "The Bohemian Girl," might be classed as an aria. But some of the songs were so dramatic that acting might easily be imagined by those hearing them. Both singers were in perfect voice and were ably assisted by Gordon at the piano.

Two additional features were very interesting in a different way. These were the group of religious poems read by Lee Wilson, a nationally known reader of such poems, and an address by T. L. Gaukel, head of the Mississippi Valley district office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the U. S. Department of Commerce. This bureau has been supplying the world market surveys which have been read each Monday evening from Station K S D.

Gaukel described the establishment of the bureau and the way in which it operates. This bureau, he said, was one for service and not in any sense a regulatory department. Its function is to stimulate an interest in foreign trade among the business men of America, and thus supply with American goods the needs which always are arising in foreign countries. One of the interesting things told by the speaker was that most of the large universities now have departments of instruction in foreign trade.

MAN'S DEATH LAID TO FALL

Louis Oldani Found to Have Suffered Fractured Skull.

A Coroner's inquiry into the death of Louis Oldani, 45 years old, 5111 Pattison avenue, who was found dead on the railroad tracks at 5700 Manchester avenue last Saturday morning, yesterday disclosed that he had died from a fractured skull suffered when he collapsed on a sidewalk near this point.

Witnesses told the Coroner they saw Oldani fall and picked him up. He declined their offers to take him to the city hospital and walked on across the tracks, they said. It is presumed that he again fainted. Oldani was a burner for the Winkle Terra Cotta Co., and was returning home from his night shift at the plant.

Just A Touch Of Ice-Mint. PRESTO'

Corns Wither and Lift Out With Fingers. No Pain.

Corn sufferers gather round; get right up close and listen, here's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it; only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

It just makes a pair of tired, swollen, aching, burning feet glow with cooling comfort.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel right up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high-heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for a few cents' worth of Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

Head off Colds, and escape medicine, this modern way!

New method makes possible complete stamping out of common Cold.

Medical science now knows that the common Cold, as well as Influenza, gains access to the human body in one way only. And that is through the air passages—the nose and the mouth. As a result of this simple fact, the danger of sickness, unpleasant medicine, and the likelihood of infecting others, may be avoided in most cases, by the following direct method:

At the first sign of "catching cold"—sniffling, chilling, uneasiness—at once disinfect the nose, mouth and throat. Head off the breeding sickness right where it starts. And before it has time to develop. Then as some of the germ poison may have entered the system, encourage elimination, and improve diet, to restore the natural resistance to normal.

Daily disinfection of the nose and mouth, now urged by authorities on Hygiene, has become most agreeably simple. Added knowledge of germ life, and as a result, of antiseptics, has enabled the Laboratory to develop Baptisine. A sparkling, inodorous Antiseptic much better suited to personal use.

Baptisine is free from the sting of alcohol and the unpleasant cresols. It combines the pleasant qualities of the toilet requisite with the effectiveness of the germicide. Baptisine not only destroys the germ—the direct cause, and the only cause of Colds—but it at once clears the nose of congestion, imparts added resistance to the membranes, and sweetens the mouth.

Test Baptisine. Depend upon it as a sure first aid. Everyone should be informed on the ordinary communicable diseases, as explained in the circular with each bottle. Ask your nearest druggist for Baptisine. There are three popular sizes. Or send 10c for a liberal trial sample, postpaid. Address

"For two years I had suffered from disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Distressing pain in the back and hips, depression and extreme nervousness. I would have to arise, as the pressure in bladder region was unbearable. My ankles swelled and my skin became dry and harsh. After using Balmwort Tablets I noticed relief and continued taking until now I feel wholly relieved of pain and suffering. I am glad to recommend Balmwort Tablets as a most reliable beneficial medicine."

TWO SISTERS SEEK DIVORCES; ONE TELLS OF 10 SEPARATIONS

They Say They Have Been in Constant Turmoil—One Blames Other for Marriage.

Two sisters, Mrs. Mary G. Andrews, 25, and Mrs. Juliet Nolte, 27, residing with their mother at 5938 North Market street, yesterday sued to divorce their husbands, Peyton Andrews and William C. Nolte, both chauffeurs for a taxicab company.

Both suits charged indignities. Custody of the children, Peyton Andrews J., 4, and William C. Nolte Jr., 5, was requested.

The sisters told a reporter last night that they had been in domestic turmoil since they were married, and when they separated from their husbands, on a Friday and Saturday a month ago, talked it over and decided to get divorces.

Mrs. Nolte said she was married in 1916, and that since then she and her husband had separated 10 times. Mrs. Andrews was married to Andrews after war was declared in April, 1917, divorced last January and remarried in August. The two couples occupied a flat together for a time.

"You told me to do it," Mrs. Andrews accused her sister last night, speaking of her first marriage. "He was on the step, I was in the kitchen and you were in the next room. When I said 'I didn't know,' you hollered in: 'Well, if you love the man, go ahead.'"

"Yes," answered Mrs. Nolte righteously—"but didn't you introduce me to my husband?"

U. S. FORESTRY HEAD URGES STATE TO RESTORE TIMBER

Government Expert Addresses Members of City Club on Growing Shortage in Lumber.

Reforestation to overcome a growing shortage of timber in this country, with reference to Missouri needs, was discussed by W. B. Greely, head of the United States Forestry Service, before members of the City Club at luncheon yesterday. He began by saying he was glad to bring his message to a group of business men, and went on:

"The average business man has been slow in realizing that forestry is an economic problem. We are beginning to realize that forestry is primarily a business man's problem, concerning the industrial stability of this country. The problem has two phases. The first phase is that of timber supply.

"We started out in this country with our forest warehouses filled with the growth of centuries. We have been going blithely on for more than 200 years using this up, and now we are beginning to scrape the bottom of the bin. Transportation is an important part of the problem. Lumber supplies formerly were localized. Following the Civil War the manufacture of lumber became concentrated and the sawmill became the nomad of American industry, moving principally south and west to reach supplies. Now forestry is in full migration across the plains to our one big remaining source, on the Western coast. The great bulk of consumption is in the East and transportation cast has steadily risen.

High Freight Bill.

"It costs the average consumer more today to ship lumber to the point of use than it did to buy the lumber and bring it there 30 years ago, and in some cases now freight costs more than the material. The nation's freight bill for lumber last year was $250,000,000, at an average of $8 or $9 a thousand board feet. The distance lumber cars move their loads has increased 37 per cent since 1914. We face another high level in transportation costs."

The Speaker pointed to a large map on the wall, showing that Missouri users paid $3 to $8 a thousand feet in freight when timber was obtained from the southern part of the State, are paying about $12 for Southern timber now and will pay about $21 for Western timber.

"The second phase of the problem," he continued, "is of equal importance—that of idle land. There are enormous areas of land that has been without crops, not suited for agriculture, that have followed the sawmill. This is slacker land, idler land. We have piled up many millions of acres of that class of land in these older states where population and industry are thick, and by all law of rhyme and reason we ought to have the greatest possible urge for timber production now."

Discusses Remedies.

Greely pictured the passing out of towns, communities and railroads in the East, and pauperizing of counties, by removal of timber industries when the forest lands had been denuded, and went on:

"What is being done to remedy this? The Government, under the leadership of Roosevelt, took the measure of public lands and created a system of national forests of about 156,000,000 acres, chiefly in Western states. Many persons have the idea the national forests are locked up, that conservation means reservation. We now have about 560 to 570 billion feet of merchantable timber; as fast as timber is ready in these forests it is sold. The contracts provide for the preservation of small trees and seed-bearing trees.

"As soon as timber is cut off a new forest follows the old. I can show where much of that land earns for the country today $2 or $3 an acre a year. We limit the cut to what a particular area of land will produce by continuous growth. That means that sawmills, paper mills and other industries that come to these forests are assured of a regular supply, and no abandoned plants will be left in the national forest area.

Important Grazing Areas.

"These forests contain important grazing areas, on which about 9,000,000 sheep and cattle graze part of every year. It is possible to make the grazing helpful instead of detrimental, and for one thing, this helps in fire protection. There are other uses of the national forests—public recreation, the protection of irrigation and the protection of hydro-electric plants."

What Will the Bonds COST the Taxpayers?

ANSWER—An Average of $.026 on the Hundred-Dollar Valuation Per Year During the 30-Year Life of the Bonds

OPPONENT OF BOND ISSUE CONVERTED BY FIGURES ON WHAT IT WILL COST HIM

In Case of Property Assessed at $60,000, It Is Shown Additional Taxation, Will Amount to Only $15.60 a Year.

What will the bonds cost the taxpayer?

The Bond Issue Campaign Committee answered that question today with a statement the cost would be an average of 2.6 cents a $100 valuation a year over the 30-year life of the bond issue program.

The answer was given by the committee in the case of Nicholas M. Bell of 4442 West Pine boulevard, former Excise Commissioner, who submitted a "pocketbook argument" on what his tax increase would be, on his assessed valuation of $60,000, if all of the 20 items affecting taxation, $76,372,500 in all, are approved in the special election Friday. The twenty-first item, $12,000,000 for a new waterworks, does not affect taxation, as the bonds would be retired from the Water Division revenues.

The Bond Committee showed him his additional taxation over the 30 years, if all items are carried, would average $15.60 a year. Col. Bell, a bond issue opponent, then issued a statement declaring he was for the bonds.

He declared his investigation showed him that the bonds were decidedly in favor of his interests, both personally and financially, would be of great benefit to the entire city, and "will save him money."

Figures Based on Experience.

The Bond Committee statement represents the increased cost to the taxpayer. It is based on the fact that the levy for bond retirement and interest payment for the last 10 years has averaged 31 cents a $100 assessed valuation. Estimates on the cost of retiring the new bond-issue program, including outstanding old bonds, over the 30-year period, average 33.6 cents a $100 assessed valuation, an increase of 2.6 cents.

These figures are based on a tax table prepared by Louis P. Aloe, President of the Board of Aldermen, which were certified as correct by A. S. Little, expert bond statistician, and further certified as correct by the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange. The Real Estate Exchange made these figures the basis of an official statement on the cost of the bond issue, in which it was declared any increase in rents due to passage of the bond issue would be unjustified.

Decides to Favor Bonds.

Bell submitted his 1922 tax receipts to the committee in asking for an official statement of the increased cost to him, if the bonds are passed. After receiving the statement of the Bond Committee, he issued this statement:

"I was at first opposed to this Bond Issue, as many of my personal friends know. After I investigated it thoroughly and ascertained the facts, I find that instead of being against my interest, it is decidedly in favor of my interests, both personally and financially, and that it will be a great benefit to the city.

"I predict that if this bond issue passes the population of St. Louis will be more than doubled in the next 25 years. I believe that St. Louis is the coming great city of the American republic and I cannot understand any citizen who would object to paying out three cents more per hundred dollars to make it so through these great improvements. It will save me individually from $500 to $1000 in special assessments and special tax bills.

"For instance, property that I own on Newstead avenue will cost me a little more than $1 a year in taxes by reason of the bond issue. If the bond issue does not pass, and that property must carry all sewer, street, sanitary and other improvements by special assessment, I figure the added cost will be $75 to $80 a year. I own property on Lindell, near Grand. It cost me $500 in special assessments because we had no bond issue for improvements.

A Great Opportunity.

"What are we going to do with the old sewers downtown that are caving in? They must be built anew. The same is true of the other old sewers. The entire city depends on these sewers and if the bond issue fails then all adjacent property will have to rebuild these sewers and pay for them out of special assessment.

"This bond issue is in the interest of every person living in St. Louis, both property owners and those who pay rent.

"I have seen the city grow from two blocks east of Grand boulevard to the present limits and its development today, and I want to say to the people of St. Louis that I have lived long and have observed a great deal, and I regard this bond issue today as the greatest opportunity before the [illegible] since the creation of Forest Committee Letter to Bell.

The Bond Committee sent Bell the following letter, in part, explaining the taxation increase:

"In answering your taxation question, as related to bonds, we first take up the division of your tax bill and you will find that interest and sinking fund requirements for bonds constitute only 8 8-10 per cent of your total taxes.

"In other words, on every $1000 of valuation on which you pay taxes, the division is as follows, condensed from your 1922 bill:

For the State of Missouri	1.30
For public schools	8.80
For the City of St. Louis (This is for all municipal purposes, including the Fire Department, Police Department, parks, streets, etc.)	11.90
For library fund (authorized by votes)	.40
For Zoological Park (authorized by votes)	.20
For Art Museum (authorized by votes)	.20
For interest and sinking funds on bonded indebtedness	2.20
Total	25.00

26 Cents More on $1000.

"You will note in the various items making up the tax rate as a whole that the question of bonds has no relation and does not affect the rate for the State, schools, libraries, zoo, are museum.

"In brief you want to know what your added taxes will be on this one item of bonds and interest charges. It will average 26c per $1000 more in the future than it has in the past, if all the items of the bond issue carry, as we think they should.

"On your aggregate assessed value of $60,000, your average added tax will be $15.60 per year.

How Average Is Figured.

"It is arrived at in the following manner:

"1. That all the bonds will not be issued at once. In fact, it will take at least 10 or 11 years to carry out the improvement program contemplated by this bond issue.

"2. That the bonds to be issued will be 20-year serial refunding bonds, under which a part of the principal will be paid off each year. This type of bond has the indorsement of the financial houses and it is the only type of municipal bond permitted in State Constitutions, where recently amended; serial bonds are provided for in the recommendations adopted by the Committee of the Missouri State Constitution convention, and all recent bond issues of large cities have been serial bonds, repaying a portion annually on the principal and getting away from accumulation of sinking funds, but paying off a part each year of the 20.

"Philadelphia, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Denver, Seattle, Los Angeles and many other cities which have recently issued bonds have done so under the serial plan, in fact, there is no exception known.

Ten-Year Program of Issuance.

"Under this plan, it is doubtful, if at the peak there will be to exceed $50,000,000 of the improvement bonds outstanding. Under a 10-year program of issuance, with 20-year bonds, the bond issue obligation is spread out to 1952.

"In computing future taxes, we must consider the future growth of St. Louis, particularly if the bond issue passes. This future growth will come from new building, new industries, increased business and population. Yet, to show our extreme conservatism, we have calculated this new growth, 1923 to 1952, at no faster rate than our growth in the last 18 years; $21,000,000 annually—exclusive of the 15 per cent increase levied by the State in 1921. Of this, new building alone, taking the total of building permits, has averaged $18,000,000.

Comparison of Figures.

"Using an interest rate of 4½ per cent, the past and future figures show as follows:

"For the years 1913 to 1922, you have paid an average of $3.10 for indebtedness purposes on every $1000 of valuation.

"In future years this average will be $3.36, an average increase of 26 cents per $1000. On your Newstead avenue property, the added increase will average 99 cents per year.

"On each $1000 of assessment required, on the above basis, to pay off the bonds, including provisions for the old ones, will be annually as follows:

1922	$2 20
1923	1 43
1924	1 79
1925	2 20
1926	2 67
1927	3 13
1928	3 63
1929	4 12
1930	4 66
1931	5 18
1932	4 60
1933	4 91
1934	4 82
1936	4 66
1938	4 51
1939	4 44
1940	4 37
1941	4 30
1942	4 24
1943	4 01
1944	3 68
1945	3 31
1946	2 89
1947	2 49
1948	2 04
1949	1 61
1950	1 14
1951	69
1952	19

Average, $3.36 future years.
Average $3.01 past 10 years.
Increase 26 cents per $1000 assessment."

Indorsed by Realty Men.

The Bond Committee, in concluding the letter, referred to the Real Estate Exchange indorsement of the bond issue, in which the statement was made, "Unless the credit of the city is thus employed (through a bond issue) it will mean an immediate increase in the general tax rate. Unless the bond issue passes we will expect an increase of 80 cents per $1000 assessed valuation, the full limit of the municipal rate, and many additional special assessments for improvement purposes."

Why You Should Vote at Bond Issue Election Friday

ST. LOUIS cannot go forward in the next generation unless the fundamentals of the bond proposals are carried in the special election Friday, in which voters will ballot on 21 public improvement items totaling $88,372,500.

The improvements provided for must be made by means of bonds or direct taxation or St. Louis will go backward; the city will fall short in the race for supremacy and will soon be counted among the lesser, unprogressive cities, undesirable for residence or business. The success of the entire bond issue would be a great stroke for St. Louis. Improvements necessary for health, comfort and growth, and improvements greatly enhancing the city's advantages and attractions would be assured.

It will take votes to accomplish this stroke—two-thirds of all the votes cast. If the approval of the bond issue by organizations and individuals means anything, if the support of organizations and individuals is to be effective for good, individual citizens must go to the polls and vote. Every citizen having the welfare and progress of St. Louis at heart and who believes that the bond issue or any part of it is necessary to its welfare and progress should go to the polls and vote. All who have opinions on the bond issue should vote.

The vote on the bonds should be a record vote. Only by a large vote of citizens can the sentiment of citizens be determined and the future of St. Louis assured. Only by a large vote can the bonds or any part of them be authorized. Votes only will decide whether St. Louis will go forward or backward.

EAST ST. LOUIS TAX RATE RAISED FROM $8.21 TO $8.82

Increased in Spite of Decreased Levy for Municipal Purposes—One-Half Valuation.

The taxes for East St. Louis for 1922, to be collected shortly, has been increased from $8.21 per $100 valuation to $8.82, despite the fact that the levy for municipal purposes has been decreased.

The tax rate for 1921 was $8.21, divided as follows: State, 45 cents; county, 93 cents; school, $2.71; East St. Louis, $2.17; city bonds, 14 cents; East Side levee and sanitary district, $1.40; parks, 38 cents; Centerville road bonds, 3 cents. The 1922 levy is $8.82, divided as follows: State, 45 cents; county, 96 cents; schools, $3.40; East St. Louis, $1.98; city bonds, 15 cents; East Side levee and sanitary district, $1.38; parks, 47 cents; Centerville road bonds, 3 cents.

The assessment in East St. Louis is based on one-half of the real value of property.

The East St. Louis City Council yesterday passed a tax levy ordinance for the present year, collectible in 1924, whereby it asks for $398,500 for municipal purposes; $10,000 for collection and disposal of garbage; $25,000 for library expenses; $75,000 for streets, bridges and repair of sewers; $4700 for the police pension fund; $12,000 public benefit fund to pay the city's share of public improvements, and $48,360 for principal and interest in refunding bonds, a total of $573,560.

HUNDRED COMMUNISTS JAILED ON REPORT OF PLOT IN ITALY

Fascisti Government Acts to Stamp Out Agitation for Overthrow Coming From Moscow.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 6.—The Government is taking firm measures to stamp out the communist agitation following publication of the proclamation by the Third Internationale in Moscow inciting the workers of the whole world to unite in fighting the Fascisti. More than 100 arrests have been made in various parts of Italy.

The reopening of the Italian Parliament's sessions today finds tranquility prevailing throughout Italy, although the arrest of individuals accused of subversive tendencies is continuing. Those arrests were ordered in view of information obtained by the Government of a plot by Italian communists in connection with communists in Russia intended to spread terror throughout Italy in the hope of thus being able to bring about an anti-Fascisti revolutionary movement.

CONGRESSMEN GET PROTESTS AGAINST FORD'S SHOALS TERMS

Several Former Cabinet Officers Sign Document Sent to Members of Both the House and Senate.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Protests in opposition to Henry Ford's terms for taking over Muscle Shoals, were sent to every member of both houses of Congress today by the National Committee for Defense of the Federal Water Power Act.

Among its members are former Secretaries Baker, Stimson and Garrison of the War Department; former Secretaries Garfield and Fisher of the Interior, and former Secretaries Houston and Meredith of the Department of Agriculture; Governors Pinchot, Pennsylvania, and Parker, Louisiana; former Governors Allen, Kansas, and Pardee, California; William Allen White, Henry S. Graves, former Chief Forester of the United States; former Senator Dixon of Montana, Herbert Knox, Commissioner of Corporations under President Roosevelt, and many other national figures.

Characterizing the present water power law as "the best embodiment of the ideal of the conservation of natural resources for the public welfare that has been placed on the national statute books with the possible exception of the national forest laws," the committee protested to Senators and Representatives that Ford's terms were "in flagrant violation" of the principles of the law.

An extended argument by Herbert Knox Smith, which accompanied the protest to members of Congress, declared that the water power law was probably the only instance in its conservation policy where the Government had "locked the stable door before the horse was stolen," and characterized the terms of Ford's proposal to take over Muscle Shoals as "the most dangerous" of various assaults upon it.

OPPOSITION TO $56,000,000 FOR RIVERS IN THE SENATE

Senator King of Utah Says Committees Have Ignored Budget Recommendations on the Item.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A fight on the $56,000,000 rivers and harbors item in the armyb ill broke in the Senate today, Senator King, Democrat, Utah, declaring that "both the House and Senate committees had absolutely ignored the budget recommendations on this item."

Those in charge of the measure, Senator King said, ought not object if Senators desired to add amendments specifying that certain amounts be expended from the lump sum appropriation for individual projects.

As reported to the Senate the rivers and harbors appropriation called for $56,589,910, having been increased by the House from the $27,000,000 recommended by the Budget Bureau.

An amendment by Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, setting aside $250,000,000 for improvements on the Missouri River between Sioux City, Ia., and Fort Benton, Mont., was opposed by Chairman Wadsworth of the Military Committee, who declared it constituted "a limitation," contrary to the general policy followed in the last four years.

McCumber asserted there was "nothing to show for the millions already expended in the Missouri projects," adding that he desired to improve navigation on the only stretch of the river where traffic was to be found.

HARDING URGES FORESTRY ACTION

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Harding urged enactment of legislation for the conservation of forests in a letter today to Representative Clarke, New York, a Republican member of the House Agricultural Committee, which has been conducting hearings of the subject.

SAFETY COUNCIL MAKES PLEA FOR PASSAGE OF BONDS

Program Affords Solution for Many Acute Problems, Statement Declares—12 of 21 Items Apply Directly.

"VOTE FOR WELFARE OF YOUR FAMILY"

Dr. Starkloff Tells Meeting River des Peres Is Most Foully Polluted Stream in the Country.

Solution of many of the acute public safety problems of St. Louis rest in passage of the municipal bond issue for public improvements, in the special election Friday, the St. Louis Safety Council declares in a statement issued today.

Twelve of the 21 separate items, representing $65,000,000 of the $88,372,500 bond issue program, directly affect the safety and health of citizens, the Bond Issue Campaign Committee has pointed out.

Adoption of the street widening item of $8,650,000 is urged by the Safety Council as a means of relieving the serious traffic situation. "The streets are our traffic arteries and our transportation system to a large degree controls our destiny," the council states.

If the city is to compete successfully with other large cities in obtaining new industries, it is stated, conditions here must be made to compare favorably with other cities. Rapid increases in the number of automobiles within the city, and use of the streets by thousands of motor vehicles from adjoining territory, make it vitally necessary that larger traffic arteries be provided, it is declared.

Numerous Factors.

Better street lighting, adequate sewers, more and better parks and playgrounds, adequate hospitals and institutions, adequate waterworks, elimination of grade crossings and increased Fire Department efficiency through better equipment, are given as factors directly affecting public safety and welfare.

The River des Peres, receiving the discharge of 61 sewers, forms an area of contagion to which thousands of citizens are exposed daily, it is said. Construction of the River des Peres sewer and storm water channel would reclaim a large area suitable for industrial districts, the council statement adds. Forty-one per cent of the city area is in the river basin, it is said, but only 22 per cent of the city's population lives within that area, illustrating the territorial waste.

The River des Peres was declared "the most foully polluted, filthy, contaminated stream in the country" by Dr. Max C. Starkloff, Health Commissioner, in an address last night before a bond issue meeting at Central High School.

Health standards have been raised in the city and the death rate cut down as a result, but this does not afford security as long as the health menace of the River des Peres and worn-out sewers goes unremedied, Starkloff said.

"When you vote for the bond issue," he said, "you are voting for civic decency, civic pride and the welfare of your home, your family and yourself."

"Forward or Backward."

F. W. A. Vesper declared that success of the bond items depends on those favorable to the program turning out to vote and persuading their associates to vote.

"Two things are at issue Friday—whether the city goes forward or slips backward," he said, "and it is the duty of every citizen to vote."

In reviewing the 21 items he stressed the Memorial Plaza project, stating "a lot of us did a lot of shouting about what we would do for the soldiers when the war was over, but now some of us have forgotten. The man who votes against this item is not a very decent citizen."

Other speakers were Dr. William H. Vogt, president of the St. Louis Medical Society; Paul V. Eunn and Dr. John W. Day.

TELLS HOW CLEVELAND HAS SOLVED ITS CHARITY PROBLEM THROUGH COMMUNITY SYSTEM

Head of Welfare Association There Says in Fourth Annual Campaign Just Closed, There Were 300,000 Donors to Fund.

How Cleveland has solved its charities problem through the medium of a community fund and distributed the service of giving among 300,000 people was told last night by Fred W. Ramsey, president of the Cleveland Welfare Association, at a meeting of representatives of member organizations in the Community Fund of St. Louis at a dinner at Hotel Chase.

The local organization will have a community campaign for charities from Feb. 23 to March 5. Forty St. Louis charities and philanthropies are members of the local Community Fund.

In Cleveland they have just completed their fourth annual Community Fund campaign, in which more than $4,000,000 was raised from more than 300,000 donors, as compared to 7000 donors in 1908.

"I do not believe," Ramsey declared, "that materialism ever again will be as prevalent as it was just preceding those days when this nation was called into the greatest struggle in history. A great spiritual revival took place when our boys went overseas. We yearned for an opportunity to be of service to them.

War Spirit Recalled.

"We cast aside thoughts of the value of money and measured our wealth in terms of service. I think that was the happiest period America ever knew. As an illustration of my point, I recently asked Secretary Hoover what this nation had contributed to various forms of foreign relief. It had occurred to me that we had never accounted for all of the sums we had given, so engrossed were we in the task of rendering service. Mr. Hoover studied a moment and replied:

"'I should think America has sent $2,000,000,000 to the distressed peoples of Europe.'

"In some respects, we are reverting to our pre-war materialistic perspective of things. Yet something of that fine spirit which impelled us in 1917-1918 remains. The Community Fund, which has taken such firm root in Cleveland, is calling men back to unselfish service of our less fortunate brothers and sisters. It is making philanthropy a democratic affair, enlisting more and more givers and distributing the burden more equitably.

Plans Here Approved.

"I was asked to come here and give the men behind the Community Fund of St. Louis the benefit of Cleveland's experience with this new method of financing charities and philanthropies. I find you need but little advice. In my conferences here today I have found that you have improved upon our methods.

"I am amazed at the strength of your enterprise, though this is your first campaign. The men leading your community fund are of the highest type of citizenship. Their enthusiasm is splendid. They are approaching the subject not as though they were driven into it, but because they recognize the soundness of the project and the manifold benefits to be derived from it.

"In Cleveland we have just completed our fourth annual community fund campaign. In each of them we raised in excess of $4,000,000, which was more than we asked for. The quota has not been increased from year to year because our appropriations for foreign relief have diminished and we are enabled to spend more on our charities at home.

Strong Points of System.

"Briefly, there are two strong reasons why the community fund has come to stay in Cleveland, and why it is certain to succeed in St. Louis. First, it is economically sound, and, second, it has a spiritual appeal which is irresistible. Economically, it means a systematic and proportionate giving. It means that instead of the few carrying the burden of alleviating suffering and distress, it is done by the many.

"This does not mean that the wealthy are enabled to shirk their duty. In fact, in Cleveland we have found the rich giving more to the Community Fund than they gave to separate appeals in the past. But more and more persons in moderate circumstances have come to their assistance.

"For example, in 1908 we had a survey of charity made in Cleveland. We found that our 121 charities were receiving support from approxmately 7000 persons. In 1921 we had actually listed on the books of the Community Fund of Cleveland, the names of 156,600 who contributed more than $5 each. Last year, we received contributions from 300,000 men, women and children in Cleveland. Isn't that hepling to distribute the burden?

Results in 1921 Campaign.

"Moreover, our 1921 campaign showed 116,000 persons had contributed a per capita of $5; 40,000 a per capita of $80 and 600 who gave a per capita of $3400.

"Now, then, what is done with this money? The Community Fund has put the business of charity in Cleveland on a uniform, standard, economical basis. We adopted a budget system such as you will employ here. We asked every agency to avail itself of our uniform system of accounting. We insisted that they base their needs for the coming year on actual audited statements of expenditures for two preceding years.

"This has eliminated much of the guess work. It has destroyed the old system of asking for as much as you can get. Deficits which occurred prior to the coming of the Community Fund are a thing of the past. We know now what we need and we govern ourselves accordingly.

"Once each month our agencies submit to the Community Fund a budget review. From these reviews we are able to ascertain the progress of their work. If any agency is falling down on the job we know why and we apply corrective measures. What is infinitely more important we have cut the cost of financing charities and philanthropies from 15 to 60 per cent down to 3½ per cent. This saving alone is sufficient to finance eight or nine agencies.

Religious Lines Erased.

"On the spiritual side, the Community Fund has erased religious lines. All creeds and all races are members. At the opening of our last campaign a Catholic priest, a Jewish rabbi and a Protestant minister spoke from the same rostrum.

"Take the charities from Cleveland's community fund and my city would be a place to flee from. We have got to maintain these agencies and we want to do it in the best way."

W. Frank Carter, general chairman of the Community Fund of St. Louis, presided at the dinner and introduced the speaker. J. L. Johnston, chairman of the Campaign Committee, spoke before Ramsey, outlining in detail the plan to be followed in the campaign from Feb. 23 to March 5. Forty St. Louis charities and philanthropies are members of the community fund.

The Revs. Carl R. Taylor, R. D. S. Putney and John W. Day spoke at Third Baptist Church, Christian Board of Publication and Union M. E. Church, respectively, yesterday morning in behalf of the Community Fund.

PATHE OFFICES IN DUBLIN SET AFIRE BY ARMED MEN

Seven Persons Injured When Members of Staff Flee From Burning Building.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—Four armed men, using gasoline and possibly a mine or a bomb in addition, set fire to the Pathe Freres offices here today. Four girls and one man of the staff were injured by debris from the explosion. Two civilians in the street nearby also were hurt.

Before firing the premises the raiders placed the staff of girls and men in an upstairs room from which they escaped by fleeing downstairs while the building was burning.

2-CENT STATE TAX FOR PURELY LOCAL ROADS PROPOSED

Another Pork Barrel Scheme to Mulct Cities for Benefit of Rural District Embodied in Bill in House.

ST. LOUIS WOULD PAY ABOUT 25 PER CENT

Under One Construction of Measure, City Would Get Nothing in Return; Under Another, Not to Exceed 3 Per Cent.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 6.—Another pork barrel scheme to take from St. Louis and Kansas City vast sums of money to build up the purely local country roads of the interior counties, was presented to the House yesterday. It was introduced by Representative Bales of Newton County and Representative Cary of Carroll County.

Conforming to the customary scheme of rural legislators evidenced in virtually every system of taxation devised, the measure seeks to take the big bulk of the taxes from the larger cities for use in the rural communities without giving to the cities any voice in the manner in which the money is to be expended, much less permitting the cities to obtain any direct return for the funds taken from them.

Purpose of the Bill.

The purpose of the bill is to fix a direct tax of 2 cents on the hundred dollar valuation to provide a road fund to be distributed to the counties of the State in the proportion that their assessed valuation bears to the whole assessed valuation of the State, for the purpose of improving country roads which are not a part of the State highway system, with a provision that no county nor city shall receive more than 3 per cent of the funds derived from the tax.

Under one construction of the measure, St. Louis, which would pay approximately 25 per cent of the total tax, would get back not to exceed 3 per cent, and Jackson County including Kansas City, which would pay approximately 15 per cent, would get back not to exceed 3 per cent. Under another construction St. Louis would get nothing.

While the larger cities would undoubtedly derive an indirect benefit from improved rural roads, in that they would provide better means of getting products from the farms to the markets, the probable effect of the measure would be that many communities would see in it a means to avoid all local taxation, except the 2 cents, for road purposes, and would be content to let the wealthier sections of the State bear the full burden of maintaining the country roads.

Many Dirt Road Advocates.

This is evident from the very large element still found in the Legislature, notwithstanding the good roads sentiment which has been developed during the past few years, which insists upon a dirt road program, even for the State highway system.

With the elimination of St. Louis and Kansas City from benefits under the measure commensurate with the proportion of the fund they would pay, each of the other counties would get back, in road money far larger sums than they would pay into the fund, there being no counties in the State except the City of St. Louis and Jackson County, which have an assessed valuation equal to three per cent of the total assessed valuation of the State.

Although there possibly is some argument for the proposal that those portions of the State in which there is the greater wealth should assist the poorer portions, it is difficult to see the argument that the money should be turned over, pork barrel fashion, to be frittered away by the County Courts under the discredited system under which road moneys were expended for so many years before the creation of the State Highway Department. The measure would mean that the large cities, which could pay the most of the tax, would have no voice in the expenditure of the fund, such as they would have if its expenditure was placed under the control of the State Highway Department.

Estimate of Funds From Tax.

While the bill proposes the creation from the tax of county funds for road construction, it would in effect provide only a maintenance fund to keep the roads in passable shape and would provide little if anything for permanent construction. The total amount available from the tax would be slightly less than one million dollars a year.

READERS' VIEWS ON BOND ISSUE.

Necessity of a Municipal Plant.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN your last Saturday's edition in "Letters From the People" column you published a letter from Mr. Frank Putnam analyzing the bond issue. Among other items, Mr. Putnam recommends the rejection of Proposition 11, "Municipal Electric Power Plant."

If, as Mr. Putnam avers, Proposition 11 were designed to build only an electric power plant, there can be no question as to the propriety of his recommendation. No doubt the Union Electric Light and Power Co. can sell the city energy at least as cheaply as the city could make it in a small plant. However, electricity is only a by-product of the plant to be built. The problem confronting the city is primarily one of heating its buildings, both present and future.

Mr. Putnam argues for the extension of our hospitals. If these extensions carry, the hospital power plant will be unable to furnish enough steam to heat them. Since it would be impossible to enlarge the present plant, it leaves us with but two alternatives:

1. The installation of still another plant in the new buildings, duplicating payrolls and necessitating further purchase of coal in wagon-load lots; or,
2. The erection of the plant contemplated under Proposition 11, supplanting the present plant at the hospital as well as at the city hall, materially reducing payrolls and making possible the purchase of coal in carload lots at $1 less per ton.

Furthermore, the building will contain a garage for all municipal automobiles. The present garage is too small to house all of the city's vehicles; also, it is located about two miles from the center of municipal activities, precluding any possibility of returning the cars to shelter when they are not actually in use.

In all, it has been conservatively estimated that the construction of this building and plant will save the city from $120,000 to $150,000 per year in operating costs. From a purely business point of view, Proposition 11 should appeal to the citizen, since the saving will not only carry its portion of the bond issue, but, in addition thereto, net the citizen a profit of from 4½ per cent to 7½ per cent.

J. A. HOOKE,
Director of Public Utilities.

By Electing Good Officials.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THERE is no doubt but that a majority of the improvements proposed in the bond issue are acutely necessary; and most of the tax payers do not deny their pressing need. But the questions that agitate the tax payer's mind are: How is he to know that the money realized from the issuance of these bonds is to be expended exactly as outlined? What protection is afforded him that the funds will be distributed economically? What guaranty assures him that the money will be dispensed wisely, justly and intelligently?

FALLON A. O'LEARY.

Don't Vote Without Investigating.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. LOUISANS have so scorned to boast that sometimes they have failed to appreciate their city. They are so adverse to splurge and silly expenditure that they are in danger of holding back their city and thus are helping rival cities to pass her.

Those voters who think they are against the bond issue should carefully scan their reasons. They may be only annoyed at being asked to give up habitual conservatism and economy, and their annoyance prevents them from giving real consideration to the proposition. Yet the majority of them are loyal St. Louisans and would willingly accept the slight increase in taxation if they believed the bond issue necessary for St. Louis to keep her position among the Western cities. Such voters should realize that our rival cities have big ideas and vote money generously.

GEORGE D. MARKHAM.

Will Make More Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN everything I have seen on the subject of the bond issue, stress has been laid on the city's need for the improvements, and the resulting benefits to its citizens from the improvements themselves, increased values of property, etc. But so far, all the objections have been on account of "increased taxes," and no one has seemed to notice the enormous opportunities the work will give people to earn the money for better living, as well as the taxes. Not a thing mentioned can be constructed and produced without giving employment to hundreds, from the common laborers to the brainy planners; and it would seem great spiritual blindness to hold back from anything which will not only greatly enhance the beauty and comfort of our city, but give work to the thousands who need it. And in the honest work offered, will it not aid in lessening the crimes of robbery now being committed—in some cases at least by those who really cannot get work they can do.

L. A. WILSON.

OBJECTIONS ANSWERED BY FACTS.

One objection urged by many opponents of the bond issue is the cost to the taxpayers. There is a false impression held by many people concerning the cost of the bonds.

The cost has been thoroughly worked out by experts and the conclusion, which may be relied upon as accurate, is that the tax rate will be raised only 2.6 cents a hundred over the present rate of taxation.

In short, the total cost of the bonds, principal and interest, will not exceed 2.6 cents to the hundred dollars of property valuation. The owner of property worth $100 will pay 2 cents and 6 mills more for the invaluable improvements provided for in the bond issue.

Owners of moderate-priced homes will pay a few dollars a year. On the other hand, the improvements will tend to raise the values of all property in the city and to increase the growth and general prosperity of the city, thus increasing earnings and the worth of property.

The improvements will make the city more healthful and delightful; they will add in many ways to the comfort, convenience and pleasure of citizens. Their contributions to the healthfulness, pleasantness and conveniences of life in St. Louis will far outweigh the cost, wholly apart from material benefits.

Another objection is the untrustworthiness of the administration in the city hall. Without arguing the main point, the expenditure of bond money will be safeguarded by a supervisory committee of citizens of high character and competence. The administration has formally accepted the supervision of the committee and is formally pledged to submit expenditures to the committee's inspection and judgment. The city now has a Bureau of Research which can do useful work in keeping watch on all contracts and expenditures.

We believe that this or any other administration will accept competent supervision, but if the people do not trust the present administration they can have the kind of administration they want. Little money will be expended before the municipal election two years hence. There will be several administrations before the bond money is expended. The voters can vote in a competent, business administration to suit them at the next or any subsequent municipal election. The bond issue will be a strong influence to that end.

Neither objection is valid against the tremendous benefits of the bond issue.

The disposition of the voters of St. Louis to vote for St. Louis will be tested in the bond issue. Two-thirds majority—a vote of 2 to 1—is required to carry the bonds. If there is a large vote and two-thirds vote for the bonds for the welfare of St. Louis the people can be trusted to see that the money is honestly expended.

TICKLING THE RIBS OF CRIMINALS.

A "blue-sky" shark whose operations in St. Louis have cost small investors thousands of dollars in hard-earned savings has been politely escorted from the city a second time, with a slap on the wrist which might almost have been taken for a caress. A fine of $100 and costs was imposed for violation of the State "blue-sky" law, but the fine, on recommendation of the Prosecuting Attorney, was remitted provided the sharper would kindly change the seat of his operations. He is now free to fleece the lambs of some other community and perhaps to return to St. Louis when the gentle displeasure of the St. Louis authorities blows over.

If a "blue-sky" offense which loots innocent and hard-working people of their savings is any offense at all before the law it should be made an offense commensurate with the injury inflicted. If this were to be done those convicted of worthless stock operations would be made to suffer a heavier penalty than common burglars or bank robbers. They are more of a menace to society. They cause more heart-wringing and discouragement. They should not be sent to parts unknown with remitted penalties, but to Jefferson City for a long residence behind steel bars.

MISSOURI FORESTS AND TAXES.

The bill for the creation of a State Forestry Department to lay the foundation of a forest conservation and reproduction policy in Missouri has been favorably reported by the Senate committee to which it was referred. In the House, the friends of the measure are finding formidable opposition in some of the agricultural Representatives, who object to it on the ground of expected cost to the taxpayers.

We are confident that the taxpayers of Missouri would not object to the forestry measure were they in possession of the facts which justify the bill. Wood is an indispensable material of civilization. It is useful to no occupation more than to that of farming. The farmer uses wood for buildings, pens, cribs, sheds, tools, fence posts and fuel. The question of forestry in Missouri is a question of Missouri's wood supply.

The largest factor in the price of lumber today is transportation. The country has been nearly denuded of its great forests east of the Rocky Mountains. Lumber produced in Missouri can be sold at $12 less per 1000 feet than lumber produced on the Pacific Coast. In 1910 35 per cent of the lumber utilized in Missouri came from Missouri sources. Today only 5 per cent is produced in Missouri.

A great deal of the land on which Missouri timber once grew is now idle and a burden to its owners. By scientific reforestation this land can be made productive practically without labor, and besides compensating its owners would result in reducing the cost of wood products in the State.

It is the policy of the Federal Government to cooperate with the states in supplying information and service to encourage forest conservation. But the burden of the work must be undertaken by the states themselves. In this work of self-conservation Missouri lags far behind most of the other wooded states. Twenty-six states have forest protection systems. Many are spending large sums of money to preserve and restore their forests. Pennsylvania, for instance, owns 2,000,000 acres of State forests, spends $500,000 a year to protect her forests and is considering a $25,000,000 bond issue for reforestation purposes.

It pays. It will pay Missouri and Missouri farmers. Authorities claim that the Ozark region, with proper attention, could produce $25,000,000 a year in forest products. With so much taxable property added to the wealth of the State, it is obvious that farm taxation would be relieved. Lumber and fence posts would be cheaper. Rainfall, water supply, soil and climate would be favorably affected.

FOR PUBLIC SHOOTING GROUNDS.

Congressman Anthony's public shooting grounds bill, which will likely come to a vote in the lower house of Congress this week, contemplates perpetuating and making available to the people the sport of shooting migratory game birds. It proposes to do this by taxing hunters $1 a year for a license to take migratory birds, and with this money the twofold object of protecting the game and purchasing waste lands upon which anyone may hunt is to be accomplished. The bill has passed the Senate.

Objection to it in the House, which is made by both the Republican and Democratic floor leaders and may defeat it despite the efforts of far-seeing sportsmanship, chiefly arises from an impression that the bill projects a further encroachment upon the rights of the states as to migratory game birds. As a matter of fact, it does not do so. What it does do is to authorize the Department of Agriculture to make more useful to sportsmen the power already held by the Government over migratory game. It can do that by collecting from the sportsmen money with which both to enforce the laws as to shooting and save for sport lands from which wild fowl will be driven by useless drainage projects unless they are reserved in time. These waste lands are disappearing so fast as to imperil the very highways of migration over which game birds travel. Without some precautionary measure they will before long have disappeared to such an extent that there will be neither places for the game to frequent nor grounds upon which it may be hunted.

Conservation of migratory birds has been carried in America to lengths of usefulness undreamed of anywhere else in the world. It would be a pity to see its value impaired by defeat of the Anthony bill.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"IT has been a little hard for those of us who wanted to join the League of Nations to appreciate our potentially greater usefulness to humankind by staying out, but I think we see it since this potentially greater usefulness came to bat at Lausanne," Mr. Antwine said.

"If you recall the dispatches, the situation fell at last rather nicely into the hands of our unofficial observer. The British, French and Italian delegations had started for the train. The opportunity from our unique coign of vantage had come, and we were into the breach as fast as taxis could get us over to the hotel where the Turkish delegation was packing its maps, briefs and its homilies on self-determination.

"We are not told what the British, French and Italian delegations thought of this. Indeed, we have never enjoyed the entire candor of Europe as to our feeling that we can best serve the objects of the League of Nations by holding ourselves aloof. At any rate, these people continued to their train; and if there was any satire among them about our chance to do something where they had failed, the correspondents have kept it to themselves.

"Thus splendid isolation came to the place where the Turks were packing. It was our turn at last! What had been claimed for freedom from the quarrels of Europe was to prove itself finally! At Lausanne, with peace in extremis, the United States Senate was to be justified, the European policy of Messrs. Hughes and Harding perfume the ill-smelling East with the fragrance of its fruits, and the name of Wilson forever damned.

"The rest is painful, and we will not dwell on it. The train was held a little while in courtesy, and finally a redcap came through the station.

"'The Americans have just telephoned that there is nothing doing!' he cried.

"Did the British, French and Italian delegates laugh? We do not know. We know only that the brakeman cried 'All aboard!'"

Theophile Gautier has left us the best picture of Egypt in the time that Tutankhamen was buried. He sympathized with Cleopatra's insistence upon life amidst death. If Cleopatra went further than some of us liked, let the following from her description of Egypt by Gautier remind us that her provocation was great:

"Menacing and funereal symbols alone meet the eye—the emblem of the pedum, the tau, allegorical globes, coiling serpents and the scales in which souls are weighed—the unknown, death, nothingness. In the place of vegetation only stelae limned with weird characters; instead of avenues of trees, avenues of granite obelisks; in lieu of soil, vast pavements of granite for which whole mountains could furnish each but one slab; in place of a sky, ceilings of granite—eternity made palpable, a bitter and everlasting sarcasm upon the frailty and brevity of life—stairways built only for the limbs of Titans, which the human foot cannot ascend save by the aid of ladders; columns that a hundred arms cannot encircle; labyrinths in which one might travel for years without discovering the termination—the vertigo of enormity, the drunkenness of the gigantic, the reckless efforts of that pride which would at any cost engrave its name deeply upon the face of the world.

"In other lands of the earth corpses are burned and their ashes soon mingle with the soil. Here it is said that the living have no other occupation than that of preserving the dead. Potent balms save them from destruction; the remains endure after the soul has evaporated. Beneath this people lie 20 peoples; each city stands upon 20 layers of necropoli; each generation which passes away leaves a population of mummies to a shadowy city. Beneath the father you find the grandfather and the great-grandfather in their gilded and painted boxes, even as they were during life; and should you dig down forever, forever you would still find the underlying dead.

"When I think upon those bandage-swathed myriads—those multitudes of parched spectres who fill the sepulchral pits, and who have been there for 2000 years face to face in their own silence, which nothing ever breaks, not even the noise which the graveworms make in crawling, and who will be found intact after yet another 2000 years, with their crocodiles, their cats, their ibises, and all things that lived in their lifetime—then terror seizes me and I feel my flesh creep. What do they mutter to each other? For they still have lips, and every ghost would find its body in the same state in which it quitted it, if they should all take the fancy to return.

"Ah, truly Egypt is a sinister kingdom and little suited to me, the laughter-loving and merry one. Everything in it encloses a mummy; that is the heart and the kernel of all things. After a thousand turns you must always end there; the pyramids themselves hide sarcophagi. What nothingness and madness is this! Disembowel the sky with gigantic triangles of stone—you cannot thereby lengthen your corpse an inch. How can one rejoice and live in a land like this?"

And how could one, truly? It took a Cleopatra to do it.

THE WOMAN'S PARTY.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Union.

ONE comparatively small but very noisy group of women have revived the sex distinction. They have organized a party of their own, the National Women's party, and they have sought to convince their voting sisters that an exclusively female political organization is necessary in order to secure to women the rights to which they are entitled. It has professed to be a nonpartisan organization, but in nearly every instance in which it has acted politically its acts have been calculated to aid the candidates of the Democratic party. This may not have been the prime object or aim of the organization, but there has been accumulating evidence that the Woman's party was being used as an auxiliary to the Democratic party. It certainly has not attempted to function as a distinct and separate political party by nominating its own candidates on its own platform, as other political parties do. It does not seem as if its members, or at least the leaders, really wish to be "people" after all but rather to maintain the sex distinction, and to stir up as much trouble as possible, especially for the Republican party.

GERMANY'S YOUTH MOVEMENT.

YOUTH has a new prestige in Germany. PUBLIC WASTE AND TAXES.

From the Chicago News.

NO well-informed citizen doubts that the waste in local government is terrific. Every business man is aware that if he conducted his affairs with anything like the slackness, the overlapping expense, the inflated costs, the lost [illegible] tion and the general inefficiency that are so manifest in many public offices he would be headed straight for bankruptcy. Yet nobody seems to worry very much about this state of things. However, when any wide-awake business man [illegible] a public office and finds that he has a part of the general mismanagement on his conscience he is decidedly unhappy until he does his best to set things to rights. Surely there is nothing [illegible] about waste in public services. While taxes [illegible] year after year money, nevertheless, is [illegible] for necessary public purposes. 'THE WHEEL OF LIFE' REVOLVES ABOUT SEX

Play of India, With Elsie Ferguson, Mixes Buddhist Symbol With Love Triangle.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

AN outcropping of plays situated in British India is upon us. There was "The Green Goddess" of recent memory; next week comes Walker Whiteside in "The Hindu," and last night, at the American, arrived James Bernard Fagan's "The Wheel of Life," with the comely and feminine Miss Elsie Ferguson appearing here in person after an absence of seven years.

All the woes of this play arise from an original cause that was economic. A 19-year-old girl, daughter of an ill-paid official, is driven by the pressure of six younger sisters into marriage with grizzled and well-to-do Col. John Dangan. The union is childless. Nature, interested in finance not at all, but passionately in the continuity of life, intervenes by exciting a furious love between the young wife, Ruth, and Capt. Leslie Yeullat, a sturdy male not of her father's generation, but of her own.

Capt. Yeullat is a gentleman of an honor so rigorous as to resemble indifference; so it is the woman who is compelled to aggression. When he, out of fidelity to his commanding officer, obtains a transfer to a frontier regiment, it is she who leads him to confess his love by an avowal of her own; and who seeks in vain to persuade him to remain.

It is she who pursues him into the hills a year later, but misses meeting him; it is she who, in the following summer, drives a party of tourists, including another woman, into the Himalayas of Bhutan, among fanatical savages, in the hope of encountering her lover.

They meet, but are besieged in the Llakhang, a Buddhist monastery. Ammunition and food run low. A monk brings news that a relief force has been ambushed and cut to pieces. The end is certain within 24 hours. And now it is the woman who, with the man backed into a corner by death, assails him with such tempestuous allurement as to sweep away his scruples.

Next morning the relief force arrives, it having turned out that only an advance party suffered. With the rescuers, of course, is Col. Dangan. A character in the play has remarked earlier that it is a British habit to turn every defeat into a moral victory. Ruth proceeds to convert her escapade into a moral triumph. She will not elope with Yeulatt, as they have planned, but remain with her husband, who has called her "his all, wife and child," and promised her a trip to Europe.

Being an untrue wife, she establishes a virtuous superiority over her husband with the boast that she and Yeulatt are not sufficiently hard and cruel to wrong him. A theological sanction is added by means of recourse to the Buddhist doctrine of the Wheel of Life, to which mankind is bound by illusions such as desire, and which she can escape only by conquering the instinct of love. So the play ends with Ruth in a glow of self-conscious nobility, with Yeulatt agreeing with suspicious readiness to efface himself, and with Col. Dangan's unwitting brows adorned with those invisible bony processes which are so opprobrious to husbands.

Miss Ferguson's Acting.

Owing partly to the play itself and partly also to Miss Ferguson, the passages intended to portray tragic self-sacrifice failed of conviction. The pathos sometimes approached the perilous verge of the ludicrous. But this actress has a flair for vehement abandon; in the temple scene of her lover's seduction, for instance, she exhibited a desperate technique of sex assault. Her contralto drawl was sometimes unintelligible but it was announced before the play that she was suffering from a sore throat.

The drama is faulty in the handling of exits and entrances; someone was always entering or leaving, without particular logical reason, to make opportunity for dialogue between this character and that. The settings are good. The first act shows Col. Dangan's bungalow, at Jagpur, in the plains of India, with the tropical heat suggested by a punkah waving from the ceiling, latticed doors and the white garb of the officers, with their crimson sashes and patent leather pumps equipped with spurs.

The second act, in the monastery, has a great altar of Buddha, with a towering image of the divinity scowling down, and a painting of the Wheel of Life. Six genuine Indians are in the cast, to represent a butler, an ayah, two monks and two Ghurkas.

There is an acceptable supporting company, including Frederick Worlock as Capt. Yeullat and C. T. Davis as Col. Dangan. In George Faraker, played by Eric Cowley, there is an effort to satirize members of Parliament who sally forth to reform India without knowing anything about it. The Monday night audience was large, smart and applausive.

An out-of-town wedding of interest to St. Louisans is that of Miss Harriot Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Evans of Delaware, O., and John J. O'Fallon, son of Mrs. William S. McChesney of 4406 McPherson avenue. The ceremony will take place quietly today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evans, and because of their ill health, there will be no guests except the members of the families and a few relatives.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Melville L. Wilkinson, and has visited here on several occasions. Mrs. Wilkinson, her daughter, Mrs. Frank Mayfield, Mrs. McChesney and another son, William Glasgow O'Fallon, will attend the wedding.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. O'Fallon and his bride will make their home at 5142 Waterman avenue, St. Louis.

The bridge is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University. Mr. O'Fallon attended Smith Academy and was graduated at Yale University. He is a member of the St. Louis, Noonday and Bellerive Country clubs and the Missouri Athletic Association. Mr. O'Fallon is a nephew of Mrs. Joseph Gilman Miller and Charles Pope O'Fallon.

Mrs. Stewart McDonald of 24 Washington terrace is a guest at the Plaza Hotel in New York. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald have abandoned their winter plans, which included a several weeks' stay in Palm Beach, and have given up their cottage at that place.

Miss Adele Kimball of the Buckingham Hotel will depart Wednesday for Chicago to spend a few days.

Miss Gloria Geisinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Geisinger of 15 Kingsbury place, returned last Friday morning from Pass Christian, Miss., where she joined Miss Lucy Dillard of Memphis, Tenn., for a three weeks' visit.

Mrs. Henry C. Weber and Mrs. Frederick A. Kamp of 4472 Lindell boulevard will entertain a party of friends at a bridge luncheon at the Glen Echo Country Club Monday afternoon, Feb. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Meverell Locke Good will depart tomorrow for Kansas City to reside. They will be at home at the Carlton Hotel. Mrs. Good was, before her marriage in the spring, Miss Dorothy Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alcee Stewart of 6249 Waterman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bond Fouke of 20 Westmoreland place are the guests in Washington, D. C., of Mrs. Fouke's brother, Chaplain Truman Post Riddle, and Mrs. Riddle. When they will return home has not been decided.

Miss Sue Fritsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Fritsch of 5475 Cabanne avenue, will spend the late winter in Miami, Fla., as the guest of Mrs. Watkins of St. Louis, formerly Miss Ruth Holliday.

Miss Elinor Maxwell of 5922 Clemens avenue returned last night from a week's visit in New York.

Mrs. Arthur Hilmer of 91 Arundel place and her two children are in Schenectady, N. Y., where they are visiting Mrs. Hilmer's mother. They will remain away six weeks. Mr. Hilmer returned to St. Louis yesterday.

Miss Elizabeth Grayson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grayson of 4357 McPherson avenue, will depart today for the East. She will be accompanied as far as Boston by Miss Mary Scudder Bond, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. Wheeler Bond of Vandeventer place. Miss Grayson will visit in Boston friends she met at the Finch School in New York and Miss Bond will attend the Dartmouth "prom" and will visit at the Bennett School in New York.

Invitations have been received for the marriage of Miss Aimee Elise Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer of the St. Regis Apartments, and Dr. George A. Clipner, Monday, Feb. 19, at 8 o'clock, at the Church of the Unity.

The vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Webster Groves will give an informal reception for their rector and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Courtney Jones, on Feb. 9, from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening, at the rectory. All the parishioners, the Episcopal clergy of St. Louis and the pastors of all the other churches in Webster Groves and their wives have been included in the guest list.

The American Federation of Arts, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., has announced the dates of their annual convention. It will be held this year in St. Louis, May 23, 24 and 25, at the Hotel Chase. The chairmanship of the St. Louis Invitation Committee has been given to Mrs. Mary B. Pollard 24 Kingsbury place. The American Federation of Arts was formed in 1909. Robert W. de Forest has been president of the organization for the past 10 years.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Graul of 3557 Sidney street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Juanita Graul, to Sergt. Henry Alt Jacoby, United States Marine Corps, Jan. 26, at Christ Church in Washington. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Frederic Wenchel and was witnessed by the bride's mother and a few close friends. The bride was unattended. Corp. Ernest G. Eppler of Bridgeport, Conn., was best man.

The date of the wedding, originally set for May 9, was advanced, as Sergt. Jacoby has been ordered to Port au Prince, Haiti, and sailed Monday. Mrs. Jacoby is the guest of her parents and will join her husband later. She is a musician, having studied both in St. Louis and in the East.

Daughter Gets Taylor Estate.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 6.—An order that the estate of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, who was murdered in his apartment a little more than a year ago, be distributed to his only child, Ethel Daisy Taylor, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was issued in the probate department of the Superior Court yesterday. The estate is valued at $18,733.

Author to Be Lincoln Day Speaker.

Frederick Landis, speaker and writer, probably most widely known for his novel, "The Copperhead," will speak on "Lincoln" before the St. Louis Traffic Club at a dinner to be given at Hotel Statler at 6:30 p. m. on Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday. The dinner is to be for the members of the organization and their wives.

CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA DOES SOCIAL SERVICE

Conductor Goes Far Out of Routine Path—Expects to Reach 40,000 Persons.

Deems Taylor, the distinguished music critic of the New York World, is on a tour of the middle section of the country, at the suggestion of the Post-Dispatch, to hear the symphony orchestras in the principal cities and write of their performances, comparing their work with that of the orchestras in New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Herewith is the second article on the Cleveland orchestra, the first having been printed yesterday. His tour will bring him to St. Louis for a study of our orchestra later.

By DEEMS TAYLOR.
Music Critic of the New York World.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 6.—If the Cleveland Orchestra were only one-half an good as it actually is, the splendid program of social service that it is carrying out still would make it one of the most interesting organizations of its kind in the country. I talked a long time with Nikolai Sokoloff, its conductor, and was tremendously impressed not only with his ability and enthusiasm but with the ideals, civic as well as musical, that animate his work. He wants to do things for himself, of course. But he seems honestly to desire much more to do things for music and for Cleveland.

First of all I want briefly to describe what he has done with his orchestra in four years. He was born in Russia but has been in this country since childhood. He studied here and with D'Indy in Paris, and started out as a violinist with the Boston and Russian Symphony Orchestras, later serving a considerable apprenticeship as first violin of a quartet in San Francisco. In the latter city he had his first try at conducting, leading a short lived Philharmonic municipal orchestra. During the war he played several months for the French wounded and on his return to America was asked to organize an orchestra for Cleveland.

Modest Beginning.

He received the bulk of his organization in Cleveland itself, engaging about 50 local players, among them several former members of the Cincinnati and Minneapolis orchestras. The first desk players—about 10 of them—he got from other cities. "We could not afford," he said, "to hire any expensive and well-known players—our first season's guarantee was only $30,000—so I went the rounds of the Orchestras, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, looking for young second string men with talent and ambition. These first 10 were engaged for a 17 week season. All the rest were hired from concert to concert, playing in theaters and motion picture houses when they weren't busy with the orchestra."

The new orchestra gave its first concert Dec. 11, 1918, and played only 20 times in public during its first season. The guarantors were so pleased that they decided to have a real salaried orchestra. For the second season, consequently, 75 men were engaged for a full season of 28 weeks and gave 63 concerts, 36 in Cleveland and 27 in neighboring cities. The orchestra today numbers 92 regular players of whom four, both harps, a viola and the second flutist, are women.

Wants to Reach All.

But this is not telling Sokoloff's idea. "I always wanted," he says, "to see an American orchestra become a real factor in the life of as many persons as possible in its community. Many of our good orchestras are heard in their home towns by not more than 4000 persons who subscribe every year. The rest of the population never gets a chance to hear the orchestra at all."

So he began to widen the scope of his orchestra's activities as fast as its skill and finances would permit—10 of the first season's concerts were nonsubscription Sunday "pops." This year the Cleveland Orchestra, besides playing road engagements that take it to New York, Toronto and all the principal cities of Northern Ohio, is giving five separate series of concerts in Cleveland, everyone appealing to a different kind of audience.

First there are the regular 16 pairs of subscription concerts Thursday nights and Saturday afternoons. At these the orchestra plays the usual symphonic programs, assisted, on occasion, by soloists.

The second series is given for those who live on the outskirts of the city, the orchestra playing in various high school auditoriums around the city.

After the Business Men.

The third is a series of 12 Sunday afternoon "pop" concerts. The fourth series, just beginning, consists of "informal" concerts Tuesday evenings for the self-styled, hard-headed business men, the type of citizen who sends his guarantee check to the orchestra every year under the pitiless eye of his wife and daughter, but who refuses to be dragged into the concert hall because he doesn't want to be bored by all this highbrow nonsense. Sokoloff is after him. He persuaded a reluctant group of bank presidents and other executives to track down other victims and has brought them twice to Masonic Hall, where he played short popular programs interspersed with brief talks.

The fifth is a series of eight concerts for the children of the public, private and parochial schools.

If the orchestra were following the routine concert path, about 5000 persons would be a large estimate of the number reached. Thanks to the varied series of concerts it is giving, its directors estimate that it will reach about 40,000 persons in Cleveland this year—one out of every 25. If New York's three orchestras do as well they should reach about 720,000 people. Do they? I wonder.

NEW JAPANESE AMBASSADOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO WARREN

Both Are Guests at Luncheon in Honolulu, on Their Way to United States.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, Feb. 6.—The cordiality of relations between the United States and Japan were emphasized at a luncheon given yesterday in honor of Charles B. Warren, retiring American Ambassador to Tokio, and Masano Hanihara, newly appointed Ambassador to Washington, who stopped over here on their way to the United States.

Hanihara declared Warren had "succeeded in bringing about a broader and better understanding between the two peoples. The difference between the atmosphere when Mr. Warren arrived and the present is so great it is noticeable."

Warren said that when he went to Japan distrust and suspicions made the relations between the United States and that nation almost dangerous. "But this has disappeared," he said.

Referring to the four-Power pact, Warren said: "The United States did not like the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The new arrangment terminates that alliance. The four-Power treaty stabilizes the great Far East and serves as a bill of right for China."

Warren and Hanihara both denied that Japan had any intention at present of reopening negotiations on the immigration question with the United States.

BULK OF MRS. C. M. BOLAND'S ESTATE LEFT TO CHILDREN

Valued at $1,000,000—Filed for Probate at Clayton—Son One of Executors.

The will of Mrs. Catharine M. Boland, 73 years old, of 7200 Wydown avenue, widow of John L. Boland, wealthy business man and land owner, and who died at her home Jan. 25, was filed for probate at Clayton yesterday. Boland died in 1905. The family owned "Claverach," a large estate on the Clayton road, near the city, in a region now being turned into subdivisions.

Mrs. Boland's will distributed her estate, understood to be valued at about $1,000,000, as follows, after allowing for certain other provisions: One-fifth to each of her sons, John L. Jr. and Joseph Maurice; one-fifth in trust to each of her daughters, Miss Julia Eleanor Boland and Mme. Marie Antoinette, a Sacred Heart nun in St. Louis; $50,000 of the remaining fifth in trust for another daughter, Mrs. Katherine T. Clemens, the remainder of this share to go to Mrs. Clemens direct.

Other provisions are: $1000 to an old friend and employe, Mary J. Fitzsimmons, and creation of a trust fund sufficient to net her $100 a month; $500 to the Catholic archdiocese of St. Louis, for needy priests, to say masses for the repose of Mrs. Boland's soul; $500 to the Society of Jesus at St. Louis University for similar masses; one share of the Claverach Realty and Investment Co. in trust for the benefit of the St. Louis University Theological Seminary; $5000 in trust for Mary S. McQuaid after whose death this fund shall constitute an endowment for a local Catholic institute for the blind.

John L. Boland Jr. and a trust company were named executors and trustees. The will was dated May 15, 1920.

Prohibition Agent Beaten by Mob.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 6.—Two riot calls for police were sounded last night, when James Dowrick, a prohibition agent from Washington, was severely beaten and robbed of his valuables, and an attempt made to set on fire an automobile truck laden with confiscated liquor by a mob which became angered after prohibition agents raided a saloon.

90% Now Own Motor Cars—They Want Facts on the Next Car They Buy!

There will be a far different audience at the automobile show in 1923!—More critical, more cautious, more anxious to get down to bed rock regarding the actual quality and mileage built into the car they buy.

90% of this year's motor car buyers have owned one or more cars—they are motor-wise! They are going to insist upon knowing, in advance, just what the car they buy will deliver in the way of satisfying and continuous mileage!

As positive proof to buyers of the in-built dependability and long life of its motor car, Oakland is about to make one of the most revolutionary announcements in the history of the industry!

Oakland—a permanent division of General Motors—is going to tell the buying public in advance just how many actual miles of service, free from repairs or adjustment, the Oakland owner can logically expect.

Just a year ago Oakland placed upon its car a written 15,000 mile performance guarantee—and in the year that is past it cost Oakland only a fraction of a cent per car to make good this guarantee.

Today—Oakland, with years of marked success behind its car is enabled to give you more definite facts on the mileage its car will deliver.

It knows, for instance, how long its engine will run in ordinary service before its valves need grinding.

And it is going to tell you!

Oakland knows how far its main crankshaft and connecting rod bearings will function perfectly before requiring attention—and Oakland will tell you this—in advance!

There are no glittering generalities in Oakland's story. Oakland will give you facts upon which you can accurately estimate the mileage to be obtained from the high quality built into the Oakland Six.

Watch the Show Number of this newspaper for Oakland's complete announcement!

Apply Oakland's new "mileage-basis" method to the cars you see at the show—and only a car with Oakland quality (which will be way above Oakland's price) will satisfy you.

PASTOR QUITS IN ROW OVER NEAR EAST RELIEF

President of Board of Belleville Church Terms Plea for Subscriptions "a Holdup."

The Rev. Otto Pessel, pastor of St. Paul's Free Protestant Church at Belleville for the last 17 years, tendered his resignation to the congregation Sunday when E. P. Leuschner, president of the church board, objected to a collection for Near East relief and called it "a holdup."

Leuschner's criticism and the pastor's resignation were the culmination of friction which has existed for some time between the pastor and three members of the board, Leuschner, Anthony Peters and John Bleicker.

Bleicker, who is secretary, read a report at the recent annual meeting, in which he gave credit to all except the pastor and his wife for excellent work during the last church year. Mrs. Pessel then resigned as choir leader and organist.

Preceding the Sunday morning service the Rev. Pessel permitted a representative of the Near East Relief organizaton to make a brief address requesting subscriptions. In concluding, the man distributed cards on which he asked the members to pledge monthly contributions., Leuschner objected to this. Most of the members present were women and he contended that they should have an opportunity to discuss the amount of their contributions with their husbands. Asking them to sign on the spot, he said, was "a holdup."

The pastor told him to talk to the Near East man, which Leuschner did, and the Near East Relief representative departed without collecting his cards.

The service proceeded and the pastor preached his sermon. In closing he offered his resignation, saying that on account of the opposition of Leuschner, Peters and Bleichner he could not do effective work.

A number of women wept and after the congregation was dismissed there was excited discussion. The resignation will be voted on at a special meeting of the congregaton Feb. 18.

PROF. SEE FIGURES QUAKE WAS NEAR SOCIETY ISLANDS

Government Astronomer Says a Submarine Mountain Range Is Forming in South Pacific.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Prof. T. J. J. See, Government astronomer at Mare Island, in a statement here today said he calculated from a study of press reports that the great earthquake of last Saturday was in the South Pacific Ocean, near the Society Islands. Prof. See said no other location of the disturbance was possible at a distance of approximtaely 8000 miles from Manila, 3000 miles from Honolulu, 4400 miles from Chicago, 5000 miles from Washington and 4200 miles from Berkeley, these being distances deduced from seismograph records of the tremor.

Prof. See said his studies led him to the conclusion that a submarine mountain range was forming near the Society Islands. All mountain ranges are formed by the sea, through leakage of the earth's crust and movement of the lava beneath, he said.

Frankly Speaking, We Expect the Red Sox to Have Their Chance, During the Coming Campaign

Kearns, Dempsey's Adviser, Calls Off Title Fight Plans

Muldoon's Hostile Attitude Ends Million-Dollar Blah-Blah of Promoters.

O'ROURKE'S CLUB QUITS

Veteran Boxing Impresario Sees No Chance With Muldoon at the Helm.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Another heavyweight battalion withdrew from the siege of Fort Muldoon yesterday and decided to rest on its arms.

The Republic Athletic Club, headed by John O'Conner and Tom O'Rourke and holding a license to conduct boxing bouts in the Polo Grounds, has withdrawn from active competition with other clubs, for the time being at least, giving as a reason the stand taken by William Muldoon with regard to heavyweight championship bouts in this State.

Their last gun was fired and spiked when Tom O'Rourke, calling on Jack Kearns with his sealed bid for a heavyweight bout for Jack Dempsey, was told by Dempsey's manager that he would not consider any more bids for the champion's services at this time.

O'Rourke carried with him a certified check to bind any bargain, but Kearns declared it was useless to urge the matter, with the head of the State Athletic Commission apparently prepared to prohibit any heavyweight championship in New York State in the near future.

O'Rourke went back to his club headquarters and there John O'Conner, talking to the scribes, said that the Republic A. C. would cease to function as long as Muldoon remained as head of the Boxing Board in this State.

Greb Easily Outpoints, But Fails to Stop Reed.

Harry Greb of Pittsburg, light-heavyweight champion, outpointed Pal Reed of Boston in a 12-round bout at the Broad A. C. in Newark last night. Newspaper men gave the decision to Greb. The champion weighed 166¾ pounds and his opponent 157½.

It was Greb's bout from the first round. The champion started with a rush and hammered the Boston fighter with a succession of right and left hooks, jabs and uppercuts. Reed's punches were scattered and did not bother Greb except in the twelfth round.

Reed's best rounds were the sixth and twelfth. In the last round he succeeded in landing several hard lefts which jarred Greb.

In the tenth Greb had Reed groggy, but was unable to put over the finishing blow. In the early rounds the champion beat a tattoo on Reeds face, using a right uppercut effectively. In the later rounds he played more often for the body, jarring the challenger with vicious rights.

Floyd Johnson, Booed, Knocks Out His Foe.

Floyd Johnson added to his knockout record last night by putting Mike Nestor to sleep in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout at the Staten Island Coliseum.

It was a poor bout, while it lasted, the crowd booing the men for their lack of action, despite the fact that Johnson had dropped his man twice in the second round.

Nestor was outpointing Johnson when he was dropped for the third time in the fourth round. Another punch to the jaw brought Nestor down for good and he was counted out.

JACK BENTLEY.

Bentley, one of the stars of the Baltimore club, was bought for $65,000 by New York Nationals. He has notified all concerned he will not report unless paid a share of the purchase money. Bentley, like Sisler, is a great pitcher, a great first baseman and a wonderful hitter.

Arden Will Play Scullins, Feb. 18

National Soccer Semifinal to Be Held on St. Louis Field.

The Arden Football Club of Arden, Pa., will appear here against the Scullins of St. Louis in the Western Division final of the national soccer championship competition. Arden earned the right to play in the Western final when it defeated the Jeanette (Pa.) club Sunday.

The match probably will be played here Sunday, Feb. 18. If weather conditions interfere, the contest will be postponed one week, according to Winton Barker, vice president of the United States Football Association.

CALIFORNIA AND IOWA SHORTSTOP STARS SIGNED BY CARDINAL MANAGER

Two young college baseball stars have been signed by the Cardinals as shortstop prospects, it was announced by Secretary Lloyd today. They are Harold Makin of California University and Roscoe Holm of Iowa University.

Both are right-hand hitters. Makin, a brother of George Makin, who has been tried out by the Cardinals and sent to Syracuse, is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. Holm is 10 pounds heavier.

Rickey's observers have placed the stamp of approval upon Makin. He is said to be a much better player than his older brother and is conceded a chance of making good in spite of the fact that he has had no minor league experience. Holm has played semi-pro ball.

Frank Wetzel, who was one of the brightest outfield prospects on the Browns' roster two seasons ago, was in St. Louis yesterday, en route to Oakland, Cal. He has been traded by the New Orleans club to Oakland.

Business Manager Bob Quinn yesterday received the signed contracts of Pat Collins and Hank Severeid, catchers. Billings and Schulte, the other members of the catching staff, have been signed for more than a week and Fohl's receiving department is thus entirely taken care of.

BOXER WHO COLLAPSED IN RING IS DEAD, DUE TO BRAIN CONCUSSION

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Antonio Perrainoa, known as Andy Thomas, East Side welterweight boxer, died today from injuries in a 12-round bout last night with Johnny Clinton at the Broadway Exhibition Association.

Thomas, weakened by training down to 136 pounds to meet Clinton's weight, took a severe beating but was not knocked down.

He was practically out on his feet at the end of the eleventh, but his seconds let him go up for the final period.

Before a blow was struck he collapsed to the canvas.

He was taken to a hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and never regained consciousness.

No arrests have been made so far.

Murchison Again Shows His Heels To Bob McAllister

St. Louis Sprinter for Third Time Demonstrates He Is Flying Cop's Master.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Walter Higgins and Columbia defeated Willie Goodwin and the New York A. C. in the fight for the relay title at the senior metropolitan A. A. U. championships at Madison Square Garden last night. It was the last race of a rather dull meet and about the only real thrill for the small crowd which witnessed.

Eleven other title events had been decided previous to the relay race. Bob McAllister, the "flying cop," won the 60-yard title, but was beaten in the special 60-yard sprint by Loren Murchison, the speed boy from St. Louis.

McAllister won the first title of the night when he scampered home in front of Jackson V. Scholz, who, like Murchison, is a St. Louisan. The flying cop sprinted the distance in 6 2-5 seconds. The third man was Larry Rawlings of the Long Island A. C.

Murchison Outpoints McAllister.

About a half hour after winning the title, McAllister competed in a special 60-yard dash against Loren Murchison, Scholz and Rawlings. Murchison, as usual, got away to a fine start and gained a slight lead. McAllister was going at full speed at the end, but could not quite reach the greyhound from St. Louis. It was Murchison's third defeat of McAllister this year at this distance. Murchison's time was 6 2-5 seconds, the same time as McAllister's in the championship sprint. Scholz was third. Murchison holds the world's record, 6 1-5 seconds, at this distance.

Sellers using his head as well as his legs, won the 1000-yard title without much trouble, while Plant wriggled home in front in the mile. Marian McCartie, world's record holder at 60 yards, for women, and a member of the famous Valcour relay team, is the first girl to ever win a metropolitan A. A. U. title. The little black haired miss from the Bronx won the 50-yard event in an exciting finish. Quick to get away from her mark, she finished a scant inch or two in front of Rose Fisher, the anchor girl on the Valcour club.

Best Time 6½ Seconds.

Miss McCarthie's time in the final heat was 6 6-10 seconds. She won her heat, however, in 6 5-10 seconds. As this is the first 50-yard A. A. U. sprint for girls, her time for the heat will stand as a record.

The Bronx girl became the holder of another title when the Valcour club won the 440-yard relay race, with the Millrose A. A. second and the Prudential Insurance Co. A. A. third.

BRANNIGAN SUSPENDED FOR HITTING SPECTATOR AT SUNDAY SOCCER GAME

President Winton E. Barker of the St. Louis Soccer League today announced that he had suspended for one week James "Dike" Brannigan, inside left of the national champion Scullins, as a result of an altercation Brannigan had with a spectator in Sunday's game with the Vespers.

Barker explained that according to information furnished him by the referees, Brannigan stepped over the side line in the second half of the game and punched a spectator who had been deriding the Scullin player. Brannigan was not put out of the game by either referee, Paul Murphy or John Amman.

The incident may result in barring spectators from the side lines. Manager Brady of the Scullins has protested to President Barker relative to the conduct of the roofers along the side lines and steps may be taken to keep spectators in the stands. The reason that watchers have been permitted on the lines is the fact that the stands, built for baseball, are too remote from the playing field.

Londos Working Hard for Match With Dan Koloff

Greek Champion Will Be Conceding Over 20 Pounds to Bulgarian Foe.

If Dan Koloff, the Bulgarian heavyweight who wrestles Jimmy Londos, Greek champion, in the main event of the show to be held at the Coliseum Thursday night is a winner he will be entitled to full credit as from all indications Londos will be in perfect condition virtually. The Greek grappler arrived in St. Louis Sunday and yesterday devoted several hours in earnest training. In the morning he walked from a downtown hotel to Forest Park and then jogged through the park before returning to the city. In the afternoon Jim went to Rock Springs Turner Hall and worked on the mat with Kozak Sanosian, a 190-pound Armenian, who meets Boris Demetroff in the opening event of Thursday's card.

Londos says that he is apparently down to the right weight, at the present time, being around 195 pounds. He states that he would like to enter the ring at 192 pounds, and expects to scale between 190 and 194 pounds. As Koloff will weigh between 210 and 215, the Bulgarian will have about 20 pounds' advantage.

Last Night's Fights

New Orleans—Edward McKenna, New York, knocked out Bill Kennedy in the eighth of a 10-round bout. Charlie Feraci beat Frankie Demary in 10 rounds.

Newark, N. J.—Harry Greb of Pittsburg, American lightweight champion, outpointed Pal Reed of Boston in a 12-round boxing contest.

New York—Floyd Johnson of Iowa knocked out Mike Nestor, in the fourth round of a 12-round match and advanced a step nearer a championship match with Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight title holder.

Chicago—Sailor Freedman, Chicago, defeated Joe Jawson of Milwaukee, Wis., in a 10-round match at East Chicago, Ind.

Jersey City—Terry Martin, Providence, R. I., got popular decision over Jack Wolfe, Cleveland, 12 rounds; Willie Spencer, New York, won popular decision over Mickey Delmont, Newark, 10 rounds.

Zanesville, O.—Billy Britton, Columbus, Kan., won from Harry Krohn, Akron, O., 12 rounds.

Louisville, Ky.—Hugh Ross, Louisville, middleweight, outpointed Joe Packo, Toledo, 12 rounds; Bobby Bridges, Indianapolis, knocked out Jack Shea, Columbus, O., in the eighth.

Washington Wins From Oklahoma

NORMAN, Ok., Feb. 6.—Washington handed Oklahoma a 25 to 17 defeat in one of the most drab basketball games ever witnessed on the Sooner court from the standpoint of the Sooner spectator, and but little brighter from the standpoint of the visitors. The Sooners trailed all the way, with the first period ending 16 to 9.

Frequently punctuated with personal fouls from both sides, the game was all that a basketball game should not be in the form of team work, technique and goal shooting, but instead was a demonstration of fumbling, wild shots and dullness, without a shining spot in the whole performance.

A. A. U. OFFICIALS PLAN 11 BOXING EVENTS FOR FOREST PARK A. C. SHOW

Amateur Athletic Union officials have tried their hand at matchmaking and the result will be on view at the First Regiment Armory tomorrow night, at the amateur boxing entertainment of the Forest Park Athletic Club.

In an effort to arrange bouts between evenly matched opponents, A. A. U. authorities have experienced considerable difficulty.

However, several good events should be forthcoming from the 11 contests announced, as follows:

Specials.

Heavyweight—Urban Groebl vs. Paul Kessler.
Bantamweight—Leo Bacott vs. Al Vasquez.
Lightweight—Hurly Parker vs. Mike Sullivan.
Welterweight—Russell Kinder vs. Oliver Mohaka.
Featherweight—Ted Pearline vs. Frank Wurtz.

Other Bouts.

112 pounds—Nat Pearline vs. Walter Cantrell.
130 pounds—Abe Blitz vs. Gus Lorber.
125 pounds—Frank Gunther vs. Stanley de Main.
130 pounds—Private Figerio vs. Private Freel.
100 pounds—Degnan vs. Goldberg.
90 pounds—Sam Zirgler vs. Bruno Kleaser.

PADDOCK AND FIVE OTHER CALIFORNIANS TO RUN IN PENN GAMES

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 6.—Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, is one of the six University of Southern California runners to be entered in the open relays of Franklin Field, Pennsylvania, April 27 and 28, according to Coach Dean Cromwell.

GARRITY WILL ACCEPT WAKE FOREST PLACE

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 6.—Harry Garrity will resign his position as assistant football and head baseball coach at the University of Missouri here, effective Sept. 1, to accept an offer recently received from Wake Forest College, Raleigh, N. C., to become head coach and athletic director at that institution, he announced this morning.

Garrity will remain here during the spring and will coach the 1923 Tiger baseball team. He will take up his duties at Raleigh in the fall.

SECOND RACE—Mary Maxim, Port Light, Fair Lassie, Deer Trail.
FOURTH RACE—Valentine D'Or, Kitty Cheatham.
SIXTH RACE—Walk-Up, Salvo.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Look Out Mr. Man!

THEY'RE on the mark, for the 60-yard dash. Only two starters crouch over, awaiting the pistol shot that is to send them away.

One, we'll say, is the slim, blond world's champion sprinter, Loren Murchison, the fastest man in getting away from the mark that ever beat the gun.

The other is Miss Marian McCartie, who holds the woman's world's record for the 60 yards. It is at this distance that Murchison recently set a world's record for men.

The pistol rings out, the runners leap from the marks; they fly toward the finish. * * *

Can you visualize such a seeming impossibility? Something like it will be a reality, in a few years.

* * *

Today, in such a contest, we all know who would win. What most of us do NOT know is how far Murchison would beat the girl. What none of us knows and can hardly conjecture is, how long will it be ere woman will take her place beside a man champion, with an even chance of beating him.

* * *

Call for Mr. Darwin!

IF Murchison and Miss McCartie raced today, we know from their records that Murchison ought to win by one and two-fifths seconds, in 60 yards.

That is to say his feminine contender would be something like 35 feet back of Murchison at the finish. If the race were prolonged to 100 yards, she would be between 60 and 70 feet behind.

* * *

Hopeless task to close such a gap, the average man will say. But not so hopeless with time and evolution. Woman, immured in all ages and climes, but recently emancipated from sedentary life, and coming into her athletic own now, for the first time in history may develop into something different, after a generation or two of intensive physical training.

* * *

The recent venture of woman into competitive sports was as inevitable as her enfranchisement or her entry into business competition.

It seems equally inevitable that, with time she will rise to near equality with men physically.

* * *

Nothing Strange.

BASEBALL men everywhere are marveling at Branch Rickey's five-year contract with the Cardinals. Usually club owners are loath to tie themselves to long-term agreements with a leader who may in one month become so unpopular in a community as to wreck both himself and his club.

With Rickey the situation is different.

Rickey, for one thing, is rather heavily interested in the ownership of the club. With Sam Breadon he controls a majority of its stock and its policy.

In addition Rickey has proved himself, since he performed the club miracles that have caused much marveling. His feat of leading a down-and-out misfit aggregation, in debt to its eyeballs, and under collective ownership conditions, through war-time despondency into financial freedom and a 10 per cent dividend, in four years, is probably unparalleled in baseball annals.

He also engineered this outfit into a position where it ran in first place for quite a while and gave New York a rip-roaring race for a time.

Lewis Offers to Bet $25,000 Dempsey Can't Kayo Him in 4 Rounds

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 6.

A NEW version of the proposed mixed match between World's Ring Champion Dempsey and World's Mat Champion Lewis developed as the result of the following telegram wired last night by Lewis' manager to Jack Kearns:

> Jack Kearns, 1465 Broadway, New York: If you don't want to go through with the mixed match between Lewis and Dempsey, will meet you in a combination match. Will bet $25,000 that Dempsey can not stop Lewis in four rounds. Also will bet the same amount that Lewis can throw Dempsey twice in 20 minutes, both matches to be on the same night. Toss coin to decide which bout goes on first.
> BILLY SANDOW.

In the bout originally proposed Dempsey was to have boxed and Lewis was to have wrestled, neither being permitted to employ the other's style. The idea was to test the merits of the two forms of attack.

For this first style match four offers, ranging from $75,000 to $300,000, were received, Sandow states. Dempsey thus far has failed to accept either offer.

He has built up the personnel and exchequer of the club in a manner to win the entire confidence of his associates, whatever may be the flings and taunts shot at him by scribes and professional baseball men.

If Rickey can show just a little advance over his record with the team thus far, he will make his associates wealthy and give the city a pennant winner.

* * *

Solid Is Right.

MULDOON, New York Athletic Commissioner, is a "solid man" all right; but there are those who hint that the solidity is from the neck up.

Muldoon's autocratic handling of the championship fight situation has not pleased the fans, nor yet the pie-cutting politicians.

But if he can stop the blather of words and the blah blah emanating from the promoters and managers he will confer a favor on the reading public.

* * *

A Bad Reputation.

SUCH is the state of wrestling's public health that no match is made but that fans begin to sneer and question. Everywhere one hears voiced the suspicion that no matter what the event, the principals are hippodroming.

Fans seem to be convinced that matches are prolonged unnecessarily.

This week St. Louis has what appears a good match between Londos, the Greek champion, and Dan Koloff of Bulgaria.

It is impossible to guarantee the efforts of these or any other man on the mat.

It may be said with reasonable certainty, however, that if Londos and Koloff disappoint the public the game might as well be wiped off the map here.

Michigan Alumi Meet.

George Sisler, Branch Rickey and Dr. John Lavan will be guests of honor at a meeting of the Michigan Alumni in St. Louis at the American Hotel Friday evening.

Steps will be taken at that time to arrange for the award of the Michigan basketball cup to the team which wins the local interscholastic championship.

"ANGEL OF SIBERIA" LANDS IN NEW YORK

Miss Elsa Brandstrom, Swedish Woman, Surprised to Hear She Is Nobel Prize Candidate.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Miss Elsa Brandstrom, known in Europe as "The Angel of Siberia," because of relief work among war prisoners in Russia as a representative of the Swedish Red Cross, arrived here yesterday on the new S. S. Turingia of the Hamburg-American Line. She expressed surprise at reports that she was being considered as a candidate for the 1923 Nobel Peace Prize.

"I am astonished," she said; "so much so that I cannot talk about it. I had never heard that my name was mentioned for such a high honor."

Miss Brandstrom is a daughter of the late Gen. Edward Brandstrom, who was Swedish Ambassador at Petrograd. She began her relief work in Russian prison camps in 1914 and remained in Russia when other relief workers were ordered out by the Bolsheviki.

She smiled happily as she told of work for which she has been decorated 16 times. She said the Bolsheviki interfered with her only once, when she sought to return to Sweden in 1919 to see her father, who was ill. She was "detained" but not imprisoned.

Sketching her six years in Russia, during which she traveled from hamlet to hamlet between Omsk and Vladivostok, ministering to thousands, she pictured horrors of prison camps as beyond belief. She said she often ate horse and dog meat, and braved cold and heat, famine and pestilence. She told of contracting spotted cholera and of being saved by an American doctor and nurse.

Although there are no more war prisoners in Russia, she said, she wished to continue her work for those who had gone home disabled and for widows and children of men who died in Russian prisons. She has bought two large estates in South Germany which will be used as sanitariums. She is in America seeking funds for this work. She will lecture here and in other large cities.

Miss Brandstrom was accompanied by Countess Ellen Douglas, a young Swedish woman interested in charities. They were met by the Swedish Consul-General.

IDENTIFY BENEFACTOR BY RIBBON

Scotch Girl Immigrants Sent Bit of Plaid to Friend in U. S.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Staking their hopes of a home and happiness in America on a bit of Scotch plaid ribbon, Winifred and Kathleen Coyne, 20 and 18, whose parents died some months ago in Glasgow, Scotland, sailed for this country with no other means of identifying the one man they knew in all the United States.

Michael Conboy of New York, a friend of the girls' father, had sent for them. They accepted and sent him a piece of ribbon. He wore it in his lapel yesterday when he met the steamship Columbia from Glasgow. Winifred saw him first, and, with a similar ribbon fluttering from her waist, flung her arms about his neck. Kathleen followed suit, and the three drove away together.

ROBBERS FRIGHTENED AWAY FROM BANK

Negro Watchman's Approach Scares Men Who Had Sawed Way Into Bank of Wellston.

An attempt by burglars to loot the State Bank of Wellston, 6200 Easton avenue, at 5 a. m. today, was thwarted by the negro watchman, Joseph Williams, whose approach frightened the burglars away a few minutes after they had entered the bank, and were attempting to force open a vaulted room containing a safe in which was $50,000.

The burglars got into the bank by sawing two steel bars from a rear window on the east side of the building. Williams, who has living quarters in the basement, was awakened by footsteps overhead as the burglars moved about in the office of Julius Kessler, the bank's president.

Unarmed, Williams started up the steps from the basement and the burglars, hearing him, crawled through the window they had forced and ran through a gangway to Easton avenue.

Williams got an automatic pistol from a drawer in a teller's cage and, running to the gangway, fired several shots in the air to attract policemen. He did not see the burglars, but trailed their footprints in the snow from the bank window to a point about a half block west on Easton avenue, where they evidently entered an automobile, as the tracks in the snow indicated.

A light tan overcoat and the saw used in cutting the window bars were left in the bank by the burglars.

DISCORD AMONG WOMEN ON MEASURE FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 6.—That all is not harmony among the women of the State interested in legislation connected with the granting of equal rights to women in political affairs was evidenced yesterday when a delegation of women from the Democratic Women's State Committee appeared before the Senate Committee on Elections. The occasion was a public hearing on a bill to give the women equal representation with men on political party committees.

Mrs. W. E. Ewing of Odessa, chairman of the Democratic women's State organization, said she and her associates did not recognize the right of Miss Marie Ames, legislative representative of the League of Women Voters at the 1921 Legislature and now representing St. Louis women's political organizations, to have any voice in the bill.

"This is a Democratic women's bill," she said. "When we got here we were surprised to learn that we were about as welcome to you men as an epidemic of influenza would be. You have been talked to death on it and we don't wonder you are tired of it. We were surprised to learn that the bill has become known here as the Miss Ames bill. I repeat it is a Democratic bill and nobody has a right even to be known as nurse maid to it."

Miss Ames is a Republican.

MUST ISSUE RADIO PERMIT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Existing law reposes no discretion in the Secretary of Commerce in the licensing of persons and corporations to operate radio stations provided they come within legal requirements, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals held yesterday in dismissing an appeal by Secretary Hoover from a mandamus requiring him to issue a license to the Intercity Radio Co., New York.

The operating permit was refused, the court was told, because the station interfered iwth the transmission of Government messages.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

SHARP GAINS IN ACTIVE DAY ON STOCK MARKET

Sales Approximately 1,400,000 Shares With Railroad Issues Strong—Bonds Active and Higher — Exchange Market Quieter.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb 6.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"With anxieties over the foreign situation diminished or pushed into the background, the upward movement in stocks was resumed today with vigor. Sales ran up to approximately 1,400,000 bales, public interest manifestly was greater and profit-taking was well absorbed Rails continued to be features for strength with more of the standard issues conspicuous, but industrials generally made substantial gains. The opening started the market on its upward course and barring a slackening around the noon hour, the trend was steadily upwards. At the close gains of from 1 to 3 points were numerous throughout the list. Bonds also were active and higher, foreign and speculative descriptions leading. Call money opened at 4¾ per cent and was reduced to 4½ per cent toward the close of the fourth hour.

Exchange Market Quieter.

"A decided slackening of activity and interest followed yesterday's recoovery in the foreign exchange market. Sterling continued to show a firm tone and advanced another half cent to $4.68. Most of the other continentals moved similarly, Belgian and French francs being something of an exception. French currency reacted in London after yetserday's strength, falling to a basis of equivalent to 6.31 cents. On this side of the water early buying brought a rally to 6.42 cents. When demand flattened out the price sagged back to 6.33½ cents, at which the net loss on the day amounted to 8½ points. German marks, meanwhile, recovered 3 points at .0027 of a cent. The discount on the Canadian dollar widened ⅛ of a cent to 1 3-16 cents.

Building a Fortune

THERE is no royal road to riches. But there is a sure path to comfortable fortune and financial independence, through systematic investment. If you —

—lay by regularly a fixed portion of your income;

—invest these accumulations at a good rate of interest; and —make sure that your investments are really safe;

— then you can accumulate a competence that will educate your children, provide for a trip abroad, or take care of you in old age or illness. Straus Bonds are an ideal permanent investment for such a purpose. They are safe beyond question —as proved by our record of 41 years without loss to any investor. They yield the attractive return of 6% and 6½%. And they come in convenient amounts—$1,000, $500, and $100. Write today for literature describing these safe bonds. Ask for

Worthington Apartment Structure

St. Louis, Mo.

$450,000

Value of property $704,325

First Mortgage Serial 6½% Gold Bonds

Price: Par and Accrued interest yielding 6½%

THE Worthington Apartment Structure, mortgaged as security for this bond issue, will be erected at once at Belt and Waterman Avenues, in one of the best residential districts of St. Louis. It will contain apartments of five and six rooms, thereby meeting the urgent need for apartments of this size. Estimated net earnings, after making liberal allowance for possible vacancies, are $58,005, which is substantially twice the largest amount of bond interest due in any year. These estimated earnings and the valuation of the property, $704,325, are based upon appraisals of independent real estate dealers, architects and builders.

The Bonds:

Dated: January 1, 1923.

Maturities: Annual, 2 to 15 years.

Interest Payable: January 1 and July 1.

Personal Endorsement. Each bond is personally and unconditionally guaranteed, as to principal and interest, by E. M. Worthington, President, and A. D. Gates, Secretary and Treasurer of the Worth Investment Company, owner of the property.

Callable: At 102, but not before January 1, 1928.

Denominations: $100, $500, $1000

ADDITIONAL FACTS

Letters of appraisal from impartial sources, description and illustration of the property, and facts regarding St. Louis as a business center, are contained in our circular describing this bond issue. With this information the investor can form an intelligent opinion of the security and desirability of the bonds. A copy of this informative circular will be furnished to anyone requesting it, either by mail or on personal call at our office.

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Today's stock market was the most active and altogether the broadest of the year so far. Nearly every group on the list figured at one time or another in the advance and the greater part of the gain was maintained at the end. In fact Studebaker made the high price of the day just at the end, and so did Southern Pacific among the rails.

* * *

The Bond Market.

Reconsideration of the Eastern European situation with the possibility that this, after all may be adjusted so as to avoid war, helped the foreign group of bonds today, which were all stronger and in some cases showed an appreciation of from 8 to nearly 10 points over the low prices of last week. The market values of listed foreign bonds has appreciated nearly $50,000,000 in the past six days. Our own Governments were weaker, as the buying which forced them up nearly a point suddenly seemed to have disappeared. The fourth 4¼s were about half point lower than Monday's best price.

The sentiment respecting all railroad securities has gone from indifference to quite pronounced enthusiasm in some cases. Obviously the earnings for December and the promise of equally good ones for January could not help in the end, but influence investors. The same sort of good buying that is evidenced in stocks like Union Pacific, Atchison, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway and Lehigh Valley, is responsible for gains in the more speculative bond issues which return very nearly as much as do stocks, and if earnings are to go on as they have been the equities behind these bonds will enlarge. The number of new issues today was larger than for a week or more, totaling about $35,000,000.

COTTON PRICES HIGHER ON THE NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The reported better prospects for an early settlement of the Near Eastern questions led to a sharp advance in the cotton market at Liverpool this morning and the opening here was firm at an advance of 24 to 35 points on the better cable news. There was active covering or buying by recent sellers which sent the price of May contracts up to 28.55c and October to 25.53c during the early trading, or 28 to 35 points net higher. Private cables reported covering in Liverpool on the more favorable political news, but complained of a poor trade demand and there was some scattered southern selling on the early advance in the local market. Weather conditions in the South were generally commented upon as favorable and traders were hopeful that the low temperatures might reduce the activity of the boll weevil.

There was enough realizing and scattered selling, for Southern, local and Wall street account, to check the advance around 28.55c for May to cause reactions of some 10 to 15 points from the best during the middle of the morning. Trading became less active on this setback, but offerings showed a tendency to increase on the bulges and the market was within a point or two of the lowest around midday. May sold off to 28.45c and October to 25.40c. The Liverpool market closed steady at a net advance of 28 to 34 points. Manchester reported yarns firm and cloth quiet.

The reaction extended to 28.38 for May during the early afternoon, but there was a little more covering or trade buying at this level and prices were several points up from the lowest around 2 o'clock on reports of a good inquiry for cotton goods. May sold around 28.53 at 2 o'clock when the general market was about 22 to 33 points net higher.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Spot cotton steady; middling, 28.65c.

St. Louis Spot Cotton.

Spot cotton advanced 25 points in St. Louis today. Quotations: Good ordinary, 26c; low middling, 27.75c; middling, 28.50c; good middling, 29c; middling fair, 29.75c.

GRAIN PRICES DOWN ON LOCAL MARKET

May wheat and May corn had lower range of more than a cent on the Merchants' Exchange today, other futures also being on lower basis. Liverpool closed ¼d to ⅜d higher.

In the local cash grain market wheat was unchanged, with offerings small and with limited shipping demand. Shippers bought hard wheat. Cash corn was steady to 1½c lower and dull. Cash oats were steady to ½c lower and slow.

More favorable tone of dispatches from Near East, increase in visible supplies and snow in Southwest were bearish influences in the early market. Corn followed the trend of wheat. There was increase in corn visible, while on the other hand there was unfavorable Argentine report. Liverpool opened ¼d to ⅜d higher and later came ¼d to ⅜d higher.

The visible supply of American grains shows the following changes for the past week: Wheat increased 1,271,000 bushels, corn increased 964,000 bushels, oats decreased 142,000, rye increased 572,000, barley decreased 119,000.

Local wheat receipts, which were 78,000 bushels, compared with 289,200 a week ago and 58,800 last year, included 32 cars local and 33 through. Corn receipts, which were 89,700 bushels, compared with 297,700 a week ago and 91,000 last year, included 33 cars local and 36 through. Oats receipts, which were 66,000 bushels, compared with 25,200 a week ago and 60,000 last year, included 11 cars local and 22 through. Hay receipts were 234 tons local and 110 through.

GRAIN FUTURES LOWER ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 6.—Wheat acted stubborn throughout the morning session but a sinking spell developed a few minutes before the noon hour. The increase of 1,272,000 bushels in the visible supply induced selling but when the market failed to break the bull side gained many converts. There was heavy realizing around $1.20 for May and the effect of this was felt in the later trading. Primary receipts dropped to below the total of a year ago. Milling demand for wheat was said to be fair. There was little evidence of any foreign buying of wheat at the seaboard. The condition of the new winter wheat crop was considerably improved by general snows over Oklahoma and there also was some snow in Western Kansas.

Local cash sales were 45,000 bushels wheat, 81,000 bushels corn, including 30,000 bushels to exporters; 100,000 bushels oats and 111,000 bushels barley. Seaboard reported sales of 50,000 bushels wheat to France, the price being 4 cents to 5 cents below cost of replacement. A local cash house bought 750,000 bushels corn to arrive today in addition to 320,000 bushels bought Monday.

There was important pressure on the corn market at the opening, which was felt in the later trading. Cash houses reported heavy acceptances of overnight bids by the country and purchases were estimated as high as 1,000,000 bu. Hedges were put out against these purchases and this gave May a heavy tone all session, declining to a further discount under the deferred futures despite support by bull leaders. There were crop damage reports from Argentina and Broomhall had an estimate of 85 to 100 million bu. exportable surplus for that country. Actual exports last year were a little over 112,000,000 bu. Shipping demand for corn was light.

Oats were easy in tone. There was some hedging and realizing early while support was not so good as yesterday.

Provisions were firm early on good outside buying. Packers sold on the upturn.

Lard closed 7½c to 10c higher and ribs 2½c lower.

HOG RECEIPTS ARE LARGE AND PRICE TREND LOWER

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill., Feb. 6.—Receipts today estimated: Cattle and calves, 4000; hogs, 20,000; sheep, 1000; horses and mules, 500.

CATTLE—Except for some of the better grades of light yearlings, values for which ruled strong to possibly 15c to 25c higher in some favored cases, the cattle market in general here today barely held its own with Monday's 25c advance. Beef steers, butcher cows and bulls reflected a lower undertone in many quarters. Canner and cutter cows and stocker and feeder steers were unchanged. Veal calves, top $12.50, and bulk $12 to $12.25, ruled steady to possibly 25c higher.

Quotations—Beef steers, bulk $7.25@8.75; butcher yearlings, bulk $5@8; butcher cows, bulk $4@5.75; cutter cows, bulk $3@3.50; canner cows, bulk $2.50@2.75; beef and bologna bulls, bulk $4@5; stocker and feeder steers, bulk $4.50@7.

HOGS—The market today received a large run of hogs, the estimate calling for 20,000 head. The quality was about on the average but the trade was slow, the large supply here and elsewhere making the buyers indifferent. The demand at the opening came principally from the order buyers, although one packer was operating for lights on the early market. Butcher weight hogs were slow early with practically nothing doing on the medium and heavy weight kinds. There were a few sales of hogs weighing from 190 to 215 pounds early at $8.65 to $8.75. The general trend of the market was lower on all classes. Shipping hogs opened about 5c to 10c lower, selling early at $8.70 to $8.85 but after the opening trade slowed down with buyers bidding $8.70 and $8.75 in most cases. Pigs with some weight, from 100 to 130 pounds, sold steady to strong. Early sales of this class ranged from $8 to $8.50. Pee wees were generally steady at $6.75 to $7.50. Packing sows moved largely at $7 to $7.25, showing little change and stags mostly at $5.75 to $6.25.

SHEEP—Just a moderate supply of sheep and lambs arrived and the market was active with prices strong. Best lambs found ready sale at $14.75@15, but choice ones would have brought $15.25, medium grades sold at $13.75@14.50, plain ones $12.50@13.50, culls $10@11, yearlings up to $14.35, mutton sheep $7.25@7.75, wethers, $9, choppers and bucks, $4.50@5.50, and canners $2@3.

HORSES AND MULES—Markets, under reduced receipts from the previous week due to bad weather, opened about steady here Monday. Early trade today was generally on the same basis.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope

L. P.—List of property owners' names can be seen at the city hall.

A. B. C.—There is no official "round-table" connected with the New York Stock Exchange.

M. B.—Religious qualifications are not included in choosing the President of the United States.

OLD READER.—The Veteran's Bureau Headquarters located at 6801 Delmar will give you the desired information.

L. L.—The headquarters of the Near East Relief, 1422 Chemical Building, will give you the desired information.

R. S. P. T.—We have no knowledge of the process for making batik. Inquire among the art shops for the information.

M. E. P.—Following are the values of the half dollars: 1813, 1821, 1834, 1825, 1822, 1829 and 1826 are worth 50 to 55 cents each; 1836 letter edge is worth 50c to 55c, milled edge $1 to $3.

ACCOUNTANCY.—"Accrued reserve for depreciation" is carried as a liability because it is charged off pro rata until the item is extinguished and the money to take care of it must consequently be carried as a liability because it is set aside for that purpose only.

MR. WHITE.—Cubans are of a mixed race. Whether the girl is white or not will depend upon her family history. The native Cuban was Indian, later these intermarried with people of the Spanish race. The negro was introduced into the country and mixed with the Cubans so that the Cuban of today is almost entirely a mixture of other races.

INDUSTRIOUS.—When making the linen handkerchiefs to insure success in drawing through the colored threads, first draw through a strand of very fine silk by means of the linen thread you pull, making a tiny flat knot between the linen and silk threads. The silk thread in this way slips through almost by itself, after which using it to attach the heavier floss to, you will have no further difficulty.

CASSIE.—Camp Jackson was located in 1861 in Lindell Grove which was near the intersection of Olive street and Grand avenue. The camp was established May 6, 1861, under Gen. David Frost and captured May 9 by Gen. Nathaniel Lyon. Write the Missouri Historical Society, Jefferson Memorial, for further information.

JESS.—"Pigs in blankets" is a popular dish of oysters and bacon and is made as follows: Dry fine large oysters, and fasten a slice of thin bacon around each one of them with a toothpick. Crisp on both sides in a very hot frying pan; lay two or three on each slice of toast, and pour a little of the pan sauce over them, serving at once.

ANXIOUS.—The half dollar dated 1846 is worth 50c to 55c. The O indicates the coin was made in New Orleans Mint. United States coins were issued at six different mints: Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco, Carson City, Dahonega and Charlotte. There are now four mints in operation: Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco and Denver.

M. S.—America was named after the Italian navigator Americus Vespucci. Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492, and Pinzon accompanied by Vespucci discovered Central America in 1497. The successful voyages of Columbus increased Vespucci's desire to take a part in the discoveries on the Western Continent. Vespucci was not responsible for the fact that his name and not that of Columbus was given the new world. The fact was due to the narratives of the voyages of Vespucci being more widely circulated than were those of Columbus and the first map makers used his name.

L. M.—Having known the gentleman such a short time it would not be proper for you to give him a birthday gift. (2) A good bedbug destroyer is benzine, pure and simple, or mixed with a little oil of mirbane. It evaporates quickly and leaves no stain. The use of benzine is dangerous because of its inflammability. Try the following preparation: To half a gallon of kerosene oil add a quart of spirit of turpentine and an ounce of oil of pennyroyal. This mixture is far less dangerous than benzine. The pennyroyal as well as the turpentine are not only poisonous, but exceedingly distasteful to insects of all kinds. Where the wall paper and woodwork of a room have become invaded the usual remedy is burning sulphur. Sulphur candles may be obtained with inclosed instructions at any drug store.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

GEORGE.—Write the Prohibition Enforcement Office, Kansas City, Mo., for this information.

R. D. B.—It would not be legal to make search of this person without a warrant.

ST. W.—You should file claims to the machine before a Justice of the Peace to enforce lien for storage.

PRINCIPAL AND HONESTY.—The verbal contract is as binding as the written one, the bonus can therefore be collected.

MRS. S.—To find out your right age write the Recorder of Deeds of the county where you were born. The lodge will make no trouble.

SUBSCRIBER.—If you have bought the home, you have the right to notify the present tenants to move, unless they have a lease.

HARD ON QUACKS.—You could hold the company for damages if they guaranteed to get employment for you.

DISAPPOINTED.—It will not be necessary for this woman to obtain a divorce, but she should have the marriage annulled before she remarries.

THE VICTIM.—You probably did not pay all the assessments on the property. Every purchaser who wants a title examined must pay for the services.

E. J. M.—Trustees' charges in Massachusetts depend on too many circumstances to answer in this column. Real estate agents' collections depend on the contract.

BUSINESS AMATEUR.—For full information regarding the regulations of this business see the Foreign and Domestic Commerce Bureau, 506 Olive street.

MOTHER.—You can have your husband prosecuted for child abandonment and make him support the children. See the Prosecuting Attorney.

ST. C.—Some county offices are on a salary basis and some on a fee basis. Collectors and assessors are on a fee basis. The higher the taxes the larger the collector's fees.

DONEE.—You can have your wife appointed executrix in your will. This will not involve any difficulties on her part. Your wife with the aid of an attorney can take care of the estate.

W. P.—If the husband left no will, the title can be passed by the widow and all heirs signing the deed, if the heirs are of age. The purchaser will require proof that no debts exist against the husband.

C. J. Z.—Practically all business companies are required to get permits. Failure to comply with the Blue Sky Law is punishable by a fine of $100 to $5000 or imprisonment.

MEN WANTED.
The Torrington Co. has a proposition that needs no disguise to lure you in if you are really the type of man we want. Your past or present occupation is immaterial. It's you that counts, and what you can do for us and what we can help you to do. We can't hire experienced field managers and managers, and would not if we could unless they were big enough to start as you must, actually selling the Torrington electric cleaner. If you don't believe in yourself just a little, and are not really interested in the future, save our time and yours. If you are, do both of us a big favor and drop in at 1124 Locust. Ask for Mr. Lynch.

Splendid Values for February Sales

We have just closed the BEST January in both NEW and USED CAR SALES in the history of the company.

There Is a Reason

We are offering for February sales a SPLENDID line of RECONDITIONED CARS which includes most of the standard makes handled in St. Louis.

We sold all of our USED CARS that we were not willing to spend money enough on to MAKE THEM MECHANICALLY RIGHT AT AUCTION to the HIGHEST BIDDER.

We now have a line of USED CARS that should give the SERVICE YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO EXPECT. We have them in Touring Cars, Roadsters, Coupes and Sedans. They are painted in BEAUTIFUL COLORS and are MECHANICALLY RIGHT.

Let one of our salesmen show YOU these cars, without obligation on YOUR PART. They are STILL MARKED at MIDWINTER PRICES.

SPRING will SOON BE HERE. BUY NOW and SAVE MONEY. We will arrange TERMS and DELIVERY DATE to PLEASE YOU.

A DAILY DOUBLE PA

Is It Wise to Share Your Best Beau With Your Best Friend?

What to Do When She "Vamps" Him

By BETTY VINCENT

"ALL is fair in love and war," runs the old saying, and so Anna-Belle frequently cuts in for Mary-Jane's best beau.

"What am I to do?" writes many a Mary-Jane. "My best girl chum has vamped my beau. Dear Miss Vincent, p-l-e-a-s-e tell me how I can win him back. He was the kindest, best young man who ever came into my life, and because I trusted my chum I frequently praised him to her. The result was that she won him away from me. I don't blame him, and while I don't want to appear to run after him, isn't there some way I can get him back?"

There they are—Anna-Belle and Mary-Jane.

Anna-Belle feels quite certain that she really didn't vamp Frank. He first fell head over heels in love with her, and what was she to do? Mary-Jane knows very well that if she hadn't had Anna-Belle at her home half the time Frank would still be calling with a bunch of violets and a box of chocolates under his arm.

After all, who is to blame?

Let's eliminate Frank in the beginning.

In the first place, Mary-Jane made a mistake in having Anna-Belle constantly at her heels. There is a certain type of girl who can't exist without her best girl chum. She shares her love letters and her last chocolate drop with this girl. And when poor Frank comes in for a quiet evening he finds a second girl whom he must play up to or tote around to a show or dance.

If Anna-Belle hasn't an escort of her own it's quite natural for her to fall in love with Mary-Jane's. "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," and Frank is so handy! You can't expect her to see how kind and sweet he is to Mary-Jane without wishing she had an escort just like him. And if he begins to turn his attention to her you can't blame her for reciprocating!

That's all Mary-Jane's fault, then. And when she writes me asking how she can win Frank back, all I can tell her is to play the game of "watchful waiting." He may tire of Anna-Belle and come back of his own free will. If he doesn't she can only blame her innocent little self for not being clever enough to know that Anna-Belle needed an escort and was a natural-born baby-vamp.

But there is also the girl who just likes to steal her chum's best beau to show what she can do. She may have five or six young escorts all as interesting as Frank, but she dotes on adding another heart to her love-chain as much as the American Indian prided himself upon his scalps. This girl is not looking for an escort, a suitor or a husband. She is looking for a wild flirtation. And Mary-Janes need have no fear of her.

Poor Frank usually falls for her at the first bat of her eyelash. He quits calling on Mary-Jane and sometimes even sends back all her love letters. He is a slave to his new-found love. But in less than two weeks he comes back to Mary-Jane a sadder and a wiser man. That is, provided Mary-Jane didn't send back his letters or write him appealing love-sick letters to come back to her. But if she played that same "watchful waiting" game, some night when she is playing "Home, Sweet Home" on the piano, there will be an old familiar ring at the bell and she will open the door to find Frank with the same sweet-scented violets and the same brand of chocolates.

So whether your charm is a vamp or a flirt, girls; if she runs off with your best beau—wait! Don't write to him or try to coax him back. Nine chances out of 10 he'll tire of the vamp. And in 10 chances out of 10 he'll get over his infatuation for the flirt.

Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote Quarrel

By Thornton W. Burgess

Pray, never make a foolish claim
And then on others put the blame.
—Old Mother Nature.

PETER RABBIT had been quite right in thinking that Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote would start out hunting as soon as the storm was over. They did. Old Man Coyote left his home in the Old Pasture and started out just as soon as he was sure that the storm really was over. He started very shortly after Peter and Mrs. Peter had started for home in the dear Old Briar Patch. It was their good fortune that at first he looked about in another part of the Old Pasture. Finally he turned toward that part where Peter and Mrs. Peter had been. And so it was that he came upon their tracks in the newly fallen snow.

Old Man Coyote's eyes brightened at the sight of those tracks. He guessed right away whose tracks they were. He knew that the only Rabbit living in the Old Pasture was Old Jed Thumper. Here were the tracks of two Rabbits!

"Peter and Mrs. Peter must have been up here for a visit," muttered Old Man Coyote. "I wonder if they are still here? They can't be very far ahead of me, because these tracks were made since the storm."

He began to run swiftly. He didn't have to depend upon his nose, for those tracks were plain for all to see. Occasionally he did put his nose down to them just to get that fresh Rabbit scent. Each time it made him hungrier. And each time he ran a little faster. Down along the cowpaths the tracks led him to the edge of the Old Pasture. He suspected then that Peter and Mrs. Peter had started for the dear Old Briar Patch, and he knew that he would have to run his fastest to catch them before they could get there.

Just before reaching the edge of the Old Pasture new tracks joined those of Peter and Mrs. Peter. At sight of them Old Man Coyote growled. He knew those tracks. They were the tracks of Reddy Fox! It was clear that Reddy had only just discovered those Rabbit tracks, for the scent of Fox in Reddy's footprints was very strong, indeed. The hair on Old Man Coyote's shoulders and neck began to rise a little, a way it has of doing when he is angry. He ran around a clump of bushes and there, just ahead of him, sure enough, was Reddy Fox.

Reddy was running, but not fast. It was clear that Reddy thought that Peter and Mrs. Peter might be just ahead of him. And as he approached each clump of bushes he slowed down, so as to make sure that Peter and Mrs. Peter were not hiding in them. In the soft snow Old Man Coyote made no sound. Reddy was so intent on looking ahead that he didn't once think of looking behind. So it was that he knew nothing of Old Man Coyote until an ugly snarl right at his heels made him jump.

"Those Rabbits are mine!" snarled Old Man Coyote.

"It is no such thing! They are mine! I found their tracks first!" snarled Reddy.

"Those Rabbits are mine!" snarled Old Man Coyote.

Old Man Coyote showed all his teeth and sprang at Reddy. Reddy dodged, and in his turn showed all his teeth. Then they faced each other, snarling and growling, each looking as ugly as he knew how. They called each other names. They called each other thief and robber and a lot of other bad names. Again Old Man Coyote sprang at Reddy, and this time Reddy ran, for he knew that he was no match for Old Man Coyote. Old Man Coyote chased him a short distance, then turned back and once more took up the trail of Peter and Mrs. Peter.

CASTILIAN EGG TOAST

MELT two tablespoons butter, add one and a half teaspoons flour and stir until well blended. Add slowly (stirring all the time) three-quarters cup of stewed tomatoes to which a small pinch of soda has been added. To this mixture, when it reaches the boiling point, add a quarter cup milk and the finely chopped white of hard-boiled eggs. Salt and pepper to taste. Pour over hot toast on a warm platter and garnish with the yolks of the hard-boiled eggs and sprigs of parsley or celery as preferred. The egg yolks should be ground or finely chopped. If you have a lagging appetite for breakfast, one serving of this will call it back with double vigor.

THE GIRL IN THE CORNER APARTMENT

By MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1922, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

XXV.—PAYING SCORES.

THE CHARACTERS.

CYNTHIA BRANT, country girl living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.

RUBY ALLISON, her gay and frivolous friend.

ALEC KERR, Ruby's fiance.

QUENTIN GRAY, an artist friend of Ruby's.

AUNT ELLEN, who keeps house for Cynthia.

MURRAY STEWART, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.

MRS. WAKELAND, friend and rich client of Stewart's, who takes a fancy to Cynthia.

VIOLET JERROLD, friend of Murray's.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

"MURRAY!" Violet leaned forward and spoke in a clear, carrying tone. "Excuse my interrupting your conversation, but I want your good advice on something. Will you give it to me?"

MAY CHRISTIE

The young man turned. There was an impudent challenge on Miss Violet's face which made him feel a little awkward. And he was rather vexed that she had broken into his tete-a-tete with Cynthia just when the girl was warming to a pet subject of his—the books of a certain well-known author. Cynthia had read those books, and had formed her own opinions on them, which were concise and interesting—and he wanted to hear more.

But it behooved him to be nice to all of Mrs. Wakeland's guests.

"I'll give my advice if I can, Miss Jerrold." Vaguely he wished that she wouldn't call him by his Christian name. It presupposed an intimacy that did not exist. "Whether it's good advice or not remains to be seen."

He tried to speak in a light, half-bantering tone, but he felt somehow irritated with this kittenish, forward damsel.

"I want a job." Violet pursed up her lips in a manner that had always proved successful. "I want to be one of the busy bees — the world's workers—capital W, please. And can you recommend how I should set about it?"

One of the guests in the room tittered. Even Mrs. Wakeland raised her brows.

But Miss Violet held her ground. She was the center of conversation once again, and that gave her confidence.

"I'm in earnest. I'm tired of staying at home. There, I have all the odd jobs to do, without any of the rewards."

This was a fib, or, at any rate, a great exaggeration. The young woman's life at home was one of leisure and of comfort. She was very badly spoiled.

And her natural indolence in domestic matters was fostered by an adoring mother.

"What did you think of doing, Miss Jerrold?" Murray Stewart put the question.

"I'd rather like to become a private secretary. Were you in need of one." This pertly.

"I'm already suited, thank you." Involuntarily, Murray glanced at Cynthia. That fleeting look told Violet what she wished to know. This young girl was indeed the "interloper" she had suspected.

"H'm. D'you know of anyone who wants a secretary?"

"I'm afraid I don't."

The young man felt uncomfortable. He wondered vaguely what Miss Jerrold meant.

She spoke again.

"Of course my people would be furious. Mother would consider that I was going down in the social scale. Poor dear, she's behind the times, isn't she?" Despite the last remark, it seemed as though Miss Violet herself concurred in the sentiment that she attributed to her doting parent. She gave Cynthia a shrewd survey. "And it's quite the general idea nowadays to look on typists and secretaries as 'love-pirates,' isn't it? What's the other name for them? Oh, yes—'husband-snatchers.'" She laughed lightly, though — to Cynthia's hot ears—there was malice in the laugh.

"Love-pirates? Husband-snatchers? What on earth do you mean, my dear?" Margaret Wakeland's sweet voice contained a gently rebuking note.

"Just what I say." The girl held her ground in a bantering fashion. She would get even with the pretty young woman who was sitting on the other side of Murray Stewart, with a vexed look in her dark eyes. Violet envied her those eyes, and wished she could exchange her own green orbs for those "pools of darkness."

"I'm afraid you don't know very much about it," said the woman she had previously snubbed on the church-going question.

"Oh yes, I do. One has only to read the daily papers for the confirmation of what I'm saying. Divorce cases, and that sort of thing. Besides, it's a well-known fact that girls go into city offices in nine cases out of ten to get a husband."

"So that's why you want to go, too?" sweetly inquired the snubbed one. This was a chance she couldn't possibly resist. And the usually nimble-witted Violet had really "asked for it."

Before she could reply a diversion was caused by Cynthia rising up to take her departure.

Not that she was afraid of Violet's tongue. But she felt vexed for Mrs. Wakeland's sake. The trend of conversation was evidently worrying that lady.

"I've stayed such a long time—hours and hours—and I really must get home now," she said brightly, crossing the floor to her hostess and holding out a very friendly hand. "It was so nice of you to ask me today, and I have enjoyed myself so much."

To the surprise of everybody, Murray Stewart rose also.

"I think we go in the same direction, Miss Brant? I'll have to be moving, too. During our pleasant chat, I didn't realize the flight of time."

In a few moments the pair of them had gone.

Oh, Violet, you bad girl, how could you say such a thing about girls in offices? 'Love-pirates' and 'husband-snatchers,' indeed! Didn't you know that Cynthia Brant is Murray Stewart's secretary?" Mrs. Wakeland spoke reproachfully.

"Of course I didn't know," fibbed Violet, not a scrap abashed, and very pleased her shaft had told.

"Gertie," the woman she had previously snubbed, spoke up.

"If by 'love-pirate' you mean that Miss Brant has stolen her employer's affections, you were perfectly correct," said she, perkly, "for I've never seen a man more thoroughly smitten. Why, he had no eyes for anyone else in the room! And I don't blame him, for she's sweetly pretty—and so modest!" She emphasized the last word, meaningly. "It's clear as daylight that he's head over heels in love with her."

She heaved a complacent sigh, knowing that the "score" was paid in full.

French Dressing Recipe

A GOOD French dressing is made with 3 tablespoons of olive oil, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, a dash of paprika and a little pepper.

Put all the ingredients in a bottle, put stopper in tightly and shake until thoroughly blended, when it will be thick and creamy. This can be beaten with an egg beater in a small receptacle, but the bottle is better. Amounts can be increased in proportion for a greater quantity.

"Lots of Work and Fresh Air," the Beauty Recipe of "England's Most Beautiful Woman," Who Eats Sweets or Anything She Likes and Sleeps Eight or Nine Hours Each Day.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

"WHAT is your recipe for beauty?" I asked Gladys Cooper, who has been called the most beautiful woman in England.

"Lots of work and fresh air," she retorted, as briskly, her mouth, a true cupid's bow, curving in a slow, lovely smile, her big dark blue eyes, set in a frame of golden brown hair, opening wide.

She had just breakfasted and was still reclining against her pillows in the bedroom of her suite at the Ritz-Carlton. In the few days since her arrival this well-known English actress and even better known beauty has been hunting high and low for an American play to take back with her, and when I saw her she was resting from what, so far, had been a vain search. She really is the perfect type of blonde British beauty, with its lilylike skin, deep blue eyes, light brown hair dusted with gold, long classic nose and perfectly coordinated features.

One believes, after seeing her, a story of the English clergyman who was to lecture to an audience of soldiers on "The Trojan Wars." He wished to make an arresting start, so challenged them with the rhetorical question: "Who is the most beautiful woman the world has ever known?"

He expected them to answer, of course, "Helen of Troy." What they actually shouted was: "Gladys Cooper!"

The distinguished artist, Sir Philip Burne-Jones, declares that she is the perfect living type of golden-haired, Anglo-Saxon loveliness.

So it was that I asked Miss Cooper to analyze beauty, how it is made and kept. And this, in a paragraph, is her theory about it:

"Beauty," she said, thoughtfully, "like a glorious voice or a talent for painting, is partly born, partly made. To be beautiful a woman must be born with a certain harmonious physical structure, certain possibilities in the matter of coloring. But it depends on herself, whether these natural qualifications for beauty are perfected—or wasted. Just as the girl who does everything she can with the voice given her may sing more beautifuly than the girl with a better natural organ, but one which she has allowed to deteriorate, so the woman who adds to her physical equipment of beauty such charm as perfect health, keen intelligence, happiness and kindness will be far lovelier than she who may have come into the world with a more classic profile, but who is sickly or stupid."

"Don't you think," I suggested, "that to be really beautiful a woman must always be really well and strong?"

"Yes, indeed," exclaimed Miss Cooper. Then she told how she takes care of the purely physical aspects of her loveliness.

"I live in the country, when I am home," she explained, "and run into London daily for my work. Whenever I am not on the stage or asleep I am outdoors. I love sports. I ride horseback, I play tennis, I play golf, I row and swim when I get a chance. For two hours or more every day I am exercising outdoors."

Doesn't Have to Diet.

Perhaps that is the reason why, of all the beauties I have ever met, Miss Cooper alone confesses that she doesn't have to diet.

"I eat anything I like," she admitted cheerfully. "Yes, sweets, too—all I want of them. Of course I do not eat so dreadfully much. I have the Continental breakfast of rolls and coffee; then my lunch, and my supper, after the theater, is my only other meal. I never eat dinner, because I must go on the stage so soon after it. Instead, I have what in England we call a high tea—one hearty dish, with my tea and bread-and-butter. But I don't diet at all—I never have.

"Next to exercise, sleep seems to me most valuable in keeping such looks as one has. I sleep eight or nine hours a night, and whenever I can I try to sleep for an hour every afternoon. I don't always get time for my nap, but I consider it a great freshener.

"Except on the stage, I never use cosmetics of any kind.

"Everybody who wants to be beautiful must work. I've worked for three years and a half, without a single holiday until this little 10-day trip I'm making over here. I should die of boredom if I had nothing to do except to go to teas and parties. Work gives you an interest in life; it puts a sparkle in your eyes and keeps your mouth from falling into the lines of ennui and weariness."

Happiness an Aid to Beauty.

"The days that make us happy make us wise," sang John Masefield, the poet. To which Miss Cooper adds, "The days that make us happy make us beautiful."

"Happiness," she elaborated, "is a tremendously important element in beauty. So is kindness. The person who can smile over her own good fortune and who cheerfully ministers to the good fortune of others, isn't going to get wrinkles in a hurry—the marks, usually, of unhappiness and disagreeableness.

"Clothes," she conceded, "have a lot to do with the impression of beauty which a woman conveys, and so does what is behind her face—the mind.

I was saying the other night that I'd far rather have a good figure and a smart frock than a mere pretty face. That by itself is so ineffective! I know a really beautiful woman and she's so stupid that one can't spend 10 minutes pleasurably in her company. This type may win the admiration of men, but hold it.

My Hobby.

FOR 47 weary years I've wandered near and far, all up and down this vale of tears, from Perth to Zanzibar. I've seen a heap of splendid sights in Greece and Italy; I've stared amazed at Northern Lights above the Arctic Sea. But all along I planned it so some day I'd settle down and build a nifty bungalow right here in my home town. Yes, even as I've gazed with joy upon St. Peter's dome, I've whispered to myself: "Oh, boy, some day you'll have a home!" I've lain awake through happy nights to plan the cellar door; I've picked the fixtures for the lights a thousand times or more. The windows and the attic stairs I've built a score of ways; I mapped out cozy dens and lairs to pass my dreamy days. My hobby means as much to me as shekels do to some, and as I've roved by land or sea I've always thought of home. Not just a place to sleep and eat, a point from which to start; but some secure and calm retreat to soothe the weary heart. A place for folks to sit and chat, where friends would love to come, a fireside for the drowsing cat, a sense of rest—that's home.

HAM LOAF

USE leftovers of boiled or roasted ham, grind two and one-half cups ham, add a little minced onion, one beaten egg, one-quarter cup cracker or bread crumbs, one cup milk, one teaspoon prepared mustard and a dash of pepper. Mold in loaf and bake for 30 or 40 minutes in oven. Bake potatoes at same time.

RAISIN-NUT GEMS

SIFT together two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three-quarters teaspoon salt and two tablespoons sugar. Add a half [illegible] raisins and a half cup walnut or [illegible] meats chopped fine. Add a well beaten egg and two tablespoons melted butter, lastly adding enough sweet milk to make a medium dough. Pour into gem pans and bake 30 to 35 minutes in a moderate oven. This will make 12 gems.

HEROINES OF HISTORY
Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

Why Sarah Siddons Is England's Most Famous Actress

ONE of the pictures esteemed as among the finest in the world was painted by Sir Joshua Reynolds. This is "The Tragic Muse." It is a portrait of England's greatest actress, Mrs. Siddons, who was born in 1755.

On the edge of the portrait is inscribed the name of the great Dr. Johnson, who wrote it there at Mrs. Siddons' request. He said, as he leaned over to write:

"I would not lose this opportunity afforded me for my name going down to posterity on the hem of your garment."

To such fame did a little girl, born of poor traveling players stranded in a Welsh village inn—"The Shoulder of Mutton"—rise.

It was only natural for Sarah Kemble, who was this baby, to become an actress when she grew to girlhood. And she continued to travel around the country in her parents' company of players until her father discovered that she was in love with an actor of their company, Henry Siddons.

Without delay, Sarah was dispatched to Warwickshire, where she earned her living as a lady's maid.

But the young actor, Siddons, did not allow her to do this work very long. He hastened to her. They were married in 1773, much to her father's disgust.

For some time the pair went up and down England barnstorming. Siddons was only a mediocre actor, but Sarah soon showed herself to be an exceptional artist.

Her art was recognized the year following her marriage, when she played in Cheltenham.

The play was "Venice Restored," Mrs. Siddons played the part of Belvidera.

All the gentry—the "people of quality"—of the surrounding countryside had come to see this company of obscure actors to laugh and jeer at them. But, to their surprise, Mrs. Siddons' acting was so fine they were all moved to tears.

So great was the impression she made that some of the distinguished audience wrote to Garrick, telling him of her unusual performance. And in that day to act for Garrick at Drury Lane Theater was the ambition of every person of the stage.

Mrs. Siddons was engaged to act for the salary of $15 a week. She was a dismal failure. She was cast to play comedy. Neither she nor Garrick realized that her powers lay in tragedy. She tried to play Portia in "The Merchant of Venice," but her portrayal of the part was so unsatisfactory that she was informed her services would not longer be required.

This was a sad blow to the ambitious young actress, but she turned toward the provinces, and worked hard on what actors now call "one-night stands."

Opportunity came again—this time in the form of another offer from Drury Lane. She was asked to play Southern's "Isabella."

It was Mrs. Siddons' great chance. She was so nervous that her voice left her entirely for several days before the premiere. She sent for her father to sustain her and comfort her before her "trial," as she called it.

Fortunately, her voice returned the day of the performance, and never in the history of the English stage was there such a triumph as her opening night.

From then on Sarah Siddons' fortune was made. She was the rage, the pride, the idol of her country.

Success followed success. Her Lady Macbeth is said to have been so real that many actors who played with her were almost overcome by the intensity of her acting, and by her piercing eyes. She played as if she really were doing the actual deeds and not acting them.

This beautiful and talented woman lived to be 76. Her name is honored by all who know the English drama.

ORANGE MARMALADE

(Three-Day Method.)

WASH the fruit and cut it very thin through pulp and rind, discarding all the seeds. Weigh the fruit and to each part add three parts of water. Let stand over night. Next day boil 30 minutes. Let it stand for 24 hours. At the end of this period measure or weigh the fruit. For each pound or portion of fruit juice add one pound or portion of sugar. Bring to a boil and cook until it reaches the jellying point, stirring to keep it from burning. Place in glasses or jars while still hot, allow it to cool, and then cover the containers with paraffin.

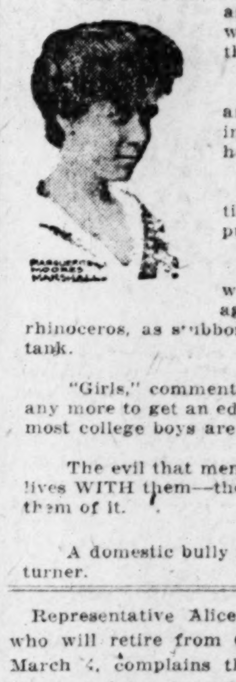
UNDER the smoke-screen of illusion Love brings up his reserve of sentiment and passion, until the best-defended heart capitulates in unconditional surrender.

When an accomplished Lothario makes a woman wonder if he "meant anything," she is safe in concluding he meant just that—to make her wonder!

This freedom for women will remain an iridescent dream as long as any husband feels justified in turning on his wife—who votes oftener than he and earns as much—with the stern demand: "When was that piano dusted last?"



Add female inconsistency: A girl knows that slim ankles are a point of beauty, yet she goes around wearing (1) white spats, or (2) unbuckled goloshes, thereby holding the magnifying glass up to nature.

Vanity is the English sparrow of a man's emotions; its natural greed is equaled only by its natural pugnacity.

If there is any sentimental idea that has been overworked, it is the sensitiveness of the young. The average person between 12 and 20 is as thick-skinned as a rhinoceros, as stubborn as an army mule and as "sensitive" as an army tank.

"Girls," commented the youthful cynic from Yale, "don't go to college any more to get an education—they go to get a line." But instead of a line, most college boys are satisfied if they can get a single "letter."

The evil that men do may live after them, but the fool play they make lives WITH them—they can't get away from it or from people who remind them of it.

A domestic bully is a person who has to live with a professional cheek-turner.

Representative Alice Robertson, who will retire from Congress on March 4, complains that "there is no place for a lady Representative to powder her nose in the House."

Old Dutch keeps kitchens tidy

Old Dutch is a tidy housekeeper.

Indeed this thrifty modern helper ranks high among the labor savers that help good housekeepers get their work done quickly, easily, thoroughly and at less cost.

The secret of this lies in its character. It is a natural cleanser, mined from the earth. Its very fine particles, due to their flat shape, make complete contact with the surface. They therefore cover more of it and do more cleaning, with less material.

It contains no hard, jagged grit which touches the surface only on its sharp corners and scratches and grinds in the dirt, making cleaning difficult and requiring more frequent cleaning. Old Dutch removes the dirt—not the surface.

Let Old Dutch have the run of the house.

MURDERERS WILL OUT.

THE curfew tolls the knell of parting day.
The gunman oils his trusty little "gat."
The workman homeward totes his weekly pay

The workman thinks he has a chance in flight,
Whereat the gunman promptly shoots him dead.

The gunman is arrested, bye and bye,
And tells just how he did the cruel deed;
Then afterwards prepares an alibi
And in a day or so is promptly freed.

HE HADN'T HAD TIME TO LEARN YET.

A NEW office boy went to work for the New York Sun. He was a West Indian youth, just arrived, who spoke with the broadest of English accents.

The boy had been on the job for about a week when one night a reporter handed in a batch of copy in which he mentioned a professor somebody who was quoted as an authority on something or other. The name was a strange one to George Mallon, then city editor, and he decided to look the professor up in a standard work of reference.

"Boy!" he called.

The young West Indian came to his desk.

"Who's Who in America!" snapped Mallon without looking up.

"Really," said the boy, "I carn't say, sir."
